Part 1 Primary carer leave

Part 1 heading: amended, on 1 April 2016, by section 15 of the Parental Leave and Employment Protection Amendment Act 2016 (2016 No 8).

7 Meaning of primary carer

- (1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, primary carer means—
 - (a) a female (the biological mother) who is pregnant or has given birth to a child;
 - (b) the spouse or partner of the biological mother, only if—
 - (i) the spouse or partner has succeeded under section 72B to all or part of the biological mother's entitlement to a parental leave payment; or
 - (ii) the biological mother has transferred all or part of her entitlement to a parental leave payment to that spouse or partner under section 71E (in which case the spouse or partner is the primary carer for the period of time in relation to which the entitlement is transferred); or

- (iii) neither subparagraph (i) nor (ii) applies and all of the following are true:
 - (A) the child is under 1 year of age; and
 - (B) the spouse or partner, because of the death of the biological mother or for any other reason, has taken permanent primary responsibility for the care, development, and upbringing of the child to the exclusion of the biological mother; and
 - (C) at the time the spouse or partner took that permanent primary responsibility, the biological mother either had not applied for, or did not qualify to apply for, a parental leave payment:
- (c) a person, other than the biological mother or her spouse or partner, who takes permanent primary responsibility for the care, development, and upbringing of a child who is under the age of 6 years (and if there is more than 1 such person, the person nominated in accordance with subsection (2)).

Examples

If a child under the age of 6 years goes to live with their aunt, who intends to raise the child in place of the child's biological parents, the aunt is the child's primary carer.

If a couple formally adopt a child under the age of 6 years, or undertake to care for the child permanently, the member of the couple that is nominated under subsection (2) is the child's primary carer.

If a child under the age of 6 is temporarily placed with a foster parent, that person is not a primary carer because the placement is not permanent.

If a child's grandmother minds the child every day while his or her parents are at work, the grandmother is not a primary carer, because the child's parents still have primary responsibility for the child's upbringing.

- (2) If 2 or more persons meet the criterion in subsection (1)(c),—
 - (a) those persons must jointly nominate which one of them is to be the primary carer; and
 - (b) only the nominated person is entitled to primary carer leave and parental leave payments under this Act.
- (3) Subsection (2)(b) does not limit sections 71E and 71EA (both of which relate to the transfer of entitlements to parental leave payments to a spouse or partner) or section 72B (which relates to succession to entitlements by a spouse or partner).

- (2) If a female employee begins her primary carer leave—
 - (a) on a date specified, pursuant to section 13(1), in a certificate; or
 - (b) on a date appointed, pursuant to section 14, by her employer,—the female employee shall be entitled to take at least 20 weeks of her primary carer leave after the expected date of delivery and, if necessary for that purpose, to extend the duration of her primary carer leave.
- (3) A period of primary carer leave in excess of 26 weeks taken by a female employee under subsection (2) is to be treated as primary carer leave for the purposes of this Act, but must not be taken into account in assessing under section 26 any period of extended leave to which the female employee or her spouse or partner may be entitled under this Act.

Rights and obligations after commencement of parental leave

40 Presumption that employee's position can be kept open in the case of first period of parental leave not exceeding 4 weeks

- (1) Where an employee takes a continuous period of parental leave—
- (a) that does not exceed 4 weeks (inclusive of any public or statutory holiday falling within the period); and
 - (b) that is the first period of parental leave taken by the employee in respect of the child; and
 - (c) of which the employee's employer has had no less notice than the period of notice required by section 31(3) or section 33, as the case may be,—
- the employer shall be presumed, in any proceedings under this Act, to be able to keep open for the employee, until the end of that period of parental leave, the employee's position in the employment of the employer unless the employer proves that the employee's position cannot be kept open because of the occurrence of a redundancy situation.
- (2) For the purposes of determining under subsection (1) whether an employer has had no less notice of a period of parental leave than the period of notice required by section 31(3) or section 33, as the case may be, it shall be sufficient if the employer had notice that a period of parental leave not exceeding 4 weeks would be taken by the employee, notwithstanding that the employer did not have the requisite notice of the exact date on which the period of parental leave would commence, and the exact date on which it would cease.
- (3) The reference in subsection (1) to the employee's position in the employment of the employer shall be a reference to the position ordinarily held by the employee, and shall not include any position to which the employee was temporarily transferred under section 16.

41 Presumption that employee's position can be kept open in the case of other periods of parental leave

- (a) because a temporary replacement is not reasonably practicable due to the key position occupied within the employer's enterprise by the employee; or
 - (b) because of the occurrence of a redundancy situation.

- (2) In determining whether or not a position is a key position for the purposes of subsection (1)(a), regard may be had, among other things, to—

 - (b) the training period or skills required in the job.
- (3) The reference in subsection (1) to the employee's position in the employment of the employer shall be a reference to the position ordinarily held by the employee, and shall not include any position to which the employee was temporarily transferred under section 16.

 - (b) a period of preference in obtaining employment; or
 - (c) the period of 12 months commencing with the date on which the employee returns to work after a period of parental leave under this Act or a period of preference in obtaining employment,—the employee is, despite anything in section 21 of the Holidays Act 2003, entitled to holiday pay for that holiday only at the rate of the employee's average weekly earnings (as defined in section 5(1) of the Holidays Act 2003) for the 12 months immediately before the end of the last pay period before the annual holiday is taken or paid out.
