(b) by a certified copy of some entry in the official log-book to the effect that he has left the ship; or

(c) by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect; or

(d) by such other evidence as the Court, in its absolute discretion, considers sufficient to show satisfactorily that the seaman has ceased to be entitled to the wages out of which the allotment is to be paid.

33. A payment under an allotment note shall begin at the expiration of one month from the date of the agreement with the crew, and shall be paid at the expiration of every subsequent month after the first month, and shall be paid only in respect of wages earned before the date of payment.

Rights of Seamen in respect of Wages

34. The right of a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship to wages and provisions shall be taken to begin either at the time at which he commences work, or at the time specified in the agreement for his commencement of work or presence on board, whichever first happens.
35. — (1) A seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship shall not by any agreement forfeit his lien on the ship, or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages, to which, in the absence of the agreement, he would be entitled, and shall not by any agreement abandon his right to wages in case of the loss of the ship, or abandon any right that he has or obtains in the nature of salvage; and every stipulation in any agreement inconsistent with any provision of this Law shall be void.

(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to a stipulation made by the seaman belonging to any Cyprus ship which, according to the terms of the agreement, is to be employed on salvage service with respect to the remuneration to be paid to them for salvage services to be rendered by that ship to any other ship.

36. — (1) The right of a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship to wages shall not depend on the earning of freight.

(2) Every seaman and apprentice who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages if the ship in which he has served had earned freight shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to demand and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned.

(3) In all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that the seaman has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, shall bar his claim to wages.

(4) Where a seaman or apprentice who would, but for his death, be entitled by virtue of this section to demand and recover any wages, dies before the wages are paid, they shall be paid and applied in the manner provided by this Part with respect to the wages of a seaman who dies during a voyage.

37. — (1) When the service of a seaman employed on a Cyprus ship terminates before the date contemplated in the agreement, by reason of the wreck, loss or sale at public auction of a ship, he shall be entitled, in respect of each day on which he is in fact unemployed during a period of two months from the date of the termination of the service, to receive wages at the rate to which he was entitled at that date.

(2) A seaman shall not be entitled to receive wages under this section if the owner show that the unemployment was not due to the wreck, loss or sale by auction of the ship, and shall not be entitled to receive wages under this section in respect of any day if the owner shows that the seaman was able to obtain suitable employment on that day.
(3) In this section, “seaman” includes every person employed or engaged in any capacity on board any ship, but, in the case of a ship which does not exceed fifty tons burden, does not include any person who is entitled to be remunerated only by a share in the profits or the gross earnings of the operation of the vessel.

38. — (1) Where the service of a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship terminates before the date contemplated in his agreement by reason of his being left on shore at any place not in Cyprus under a certificate granted in the manner provided in the Code, of his unfitness or inability to proceed on the voyage, he shall be entitled to wages up to the time of such termination, but not for any longer period.

(2) The master of a Cyprus ship shall not leave a seaman behind at any place outside the Republic ashore or at sea (except where the seaman is discharged under the provisions of this Law) unless he previously obtains endorsed on the agreement with the crew the certificate of the customs or port authorities of the place stating the cause of the seaman being left behind whether the cause be illness or inability to proceed to sea, desertion or otherwise.

39. Where a seaman belonging to a Cyprus ship is, by reason of illness, incapable of performing his duty, and it is proved that the illness has been caused by his own willful act or default, he shall not be entitled to wages for the time during which he is by reason of the illness incapable of performing his duty.

40. A seaman or apprentice belonging to a Cyprus ship shall not be entitled to wages for any time during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work, when required, whether before or after the time fixed by the agreement for his commencement of such work, nor unless the Court hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

41. Whenever in any proceeding relating to a seaman’s wages, it is shown that a seaman or apprentice belonging to a Cyprus ship, has in the course of the voyage, been convicted of an offence by a competent tribunal and rightfully punished for that offence by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct any part of the wages due to the seaman, not exceeding one month’s wages, to be applied in reimbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring the conviction and punishment.

42. If a seaman, having signed an agreement to serve in a Cyprus ship, is discharged otherwise than in accordance with the terms of this Law before the commencement of the voyage, or before one month’s wages are earned, without fault on his part justifying that discharge, and without his consent, he shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages which he has earned, due compensation for the damage caused to him by the discharge, not exceeding if the discharge takes place in the Republic one month’s wages, and if the discharge takes place elsewhere, two months’ wages, and may recover that compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

43. — (1) As respects wages due or accruing to a seaman or apprentice belonging to a Cyprus ship -

(a) they shall not be subject to attachment from any Court in the Republic;

(b) an assignment or sale thereof made prior to the accruing thereof shall not bind the person making the same;

(c) a power of attorney or authority for the receipt thereof shall not be irrevocable; and

(d) a payment of wages to the seaman or apprentice shall be valid in law notwithstanding any previous sale or assignment of those wages, or any attachment, encumbrance or arrestment thereof.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of this Part with respect to allotment notes.

Mode of recovering Wages

44. — (1) A seaman or apprentice, or a person duly authorized on his behalf, may, as soon as any wages, due to him, and not exceeding one hundred pounds become payable, sue for the same in a summary manner to be provided by Rules of Court, before any competent Court in the Republic, and the order of the Court in the manner shall be final.

(2) Nothing in this Part shall be construed as limiting the jurisdiction of a Court to refuse to entertain an action for wages by the master or a member of the crew of a ship if the ship is not a Cyprus ship.

(3) The master of a ship shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of his wages as a seaman has under this Law.

(4) The master of a ship, and every person lawfully acting as master of a ship by reason of the decease or incapacity from illness of the master of the ship, shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of disbursements or liabilities properly made or incurred by him on account of the ship as a master has for the recovery of his wages.

45. In any action or other legal proceeding by the master of a ship for the recovery of any sum due to him on account of wages, the Court may, if it appears to it that the payment of the sum due has been delayed otherwise than owing to the act or default of the master, or to any reasonable dispute as to liability, or to any other cause not being the wrongful act or default of the person liable to make the payment, order that person to pay, in addition to any sum due on account of wages, such sum as it thinks just as damages in respect of the delay, without prejudice to any claim which may be made by the master on that account.

PART VII - POWERS OF COURTS TO RESCIND CONTRACTS

46. — (1) Where a proceeding is instituted in or before any Court in relation to any dispute between an owner or master of a ship and a seaman or apprentice, arising out of or incidental to their relation as such, or is instituted for the purpose of this section, the Court, if having regard to all the circumstances of the case it thinks fit, may rescind any contract between the owner or master and the seaman or apprentice, or any contract of apprenticeship, upon such terms as the Court thinks just.

(2) This power shall be in addition to any other jurisdiction which the Court can exercise independently of this section.

PART VIII - PROPERTY OF DECEASED SEAMAN

47. — (1) If any seaman or apprentice belonging to a Cyprus ship, the crew of which are to be discharged in, or the final port of destination of which is in the Republic, dies during a voyage, the master of the ship shall take charge of any money or effects belonging to the seaman or apprentice which are on board the ship.

(5) The above-mentioned money, effects and balance of wages are in this Part referred to as the property of the seaman or apprentice.

Dealing with and account of property of seaman who dies during voyage.

48. — (1) Where a seaman or apprentice dies as aforesaid, the master shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his port of destination in the Republic deliver and pay the property to the Port Officer at that port.

(2) In all cases where a seaman or apprentice dies during the progress of a voyage or engagement, the master shall give to the Port Officer such account as, and in such form as, he requires of the property of the deceased.

(3) A deduction claimed by the master in such account shall not be allowed unless verified, if an official log-book is required to be kept, by an entry in that book made and attested as required by this Law, and also by such other vouchers, if any, as are reasonably required by the Port Officer.

(4) The Port Officer shall grant to the master, upon due compliance with such provision of this section relating to acts to be done at the port of destination, a certificate to that effect and shall forthwith notify the Probate Registrar.

Penalty for non-compliance with provisions as to property of deceased

(2) If any such property is not duly paid, delivered or accounted for by the master, the owner of the ship shall pay, deliver and account for the same, and such property shall be recoverable from him accordingly, and if he fails to account for and deliver or pay the same, he shall, in addition to his liability for the same be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine of triple the value of the property not accounted for, delivered or paid over, or, if such value is not ascertained, of five hundred pounds (£500) 22.

(3) The property may be recovered in the same Court and manner in which the wages of seamen may be recovered under this Law.

50. — (1) Where a seaman or apprentice belonging to a ship to which section 47 refers is lost with the ship to which he belongs, the Port Officer at the port of destination in the Republic may recover the wages due to him from the owner of the ship in the same Court and in the same manner in which seamen’s wages are recoverable, and shall deal with those wages in the same manner as with the wages of other deceased seamen and apprentices under this Part.

(2) In any proceeding for the recovery of the wages, if it is shown by some official return produced out of the custody of the Port Officer, or by other evidence, that the ship has twelve months or upwards before

(3) Any duplicate agreement made out, or statement of a change of the crew delivered, under this Part, or under the Code, at the time of the last departure of the ship from the Republic or a certificate purporting to be a certificate from a consular or other public officer at any port outside the Republic, stating that certain seamen and apprentices were shipped in the ship from the said port, shall, if produced out of the custody of the Port Officer, be in the absence of proof to the contrary, sufficient proof that the seamen and apprentices therein named as belonging to the ship were on board at the time of loss.

(2) If such officer, or the person making the examination, finds that the provisions or water are of bad quality and unfit for use, or deficient in quantity, he shall signify it in writing to the master of the ship, and if the master of the ship does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water in lieu of any so signified to be of bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any provisions or water so signified to be deficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water so signified to be of bad quality and unfit for use, he shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding seven hundred and fifty pounds (£750)\(^{24}\).

(3) Such officer, or the person making the examination shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the official log-book of the ship, and shall send a report thereof to the Port Officer, and that report shall be admissible in evidence in the manner provided by this Law.

(4) If such officer, or the person making the examination certifies in the statement entered in the official log-book that there were no reasonable grounds for the complaint, each of the complainants shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding one week’s wages.

54. — (1) An inspecting officer may inspect, either on board the ship or before shipment any provisions (other than provisions provided by the crew themselves) or water intended for the use of the crew of any Cyprus ship which is going from any port in the Republic and for which an agreement with the crew is required under this Law, and, if he finds that the provisions or water are in any respect deficient in quality, the ship shall be detained until the defects are remedied to his satisfaction:

Provided that any inspection of provisions or water under this section shall be made before shipment whenever practicable; and, if the owner, agent or master of a ship gives notice to the inspecting officer that any provisions or water for the ship are ready for inspection, the inspecting officer shall not have power to inspect any such provisions or water under this section, if they are at a convenient place for inspection, except within forty-eight hours after the notice is given, without prejudice to the power of the inspecting officer to inspect any which have been inspected on shore or specified in a notice as being the provisions or water for the ship, or otherwise.

(2) Where any provisions or water are found deficient in quality under this section, the master of the ship shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand pounds (£1,000)\(^25\), unless the Court before which the case is tried thinks that the finding of the inspecting officer was not justified; but, if responsibility for the defects in the provisions or water rests either with the owner of the ship, or any agent of the owner of the ship, or with the person who has supplied the provisions or water, that owner, agent or person shall be liable to conviction for the offence instead of the master, and the master shall be exempt.

by an inspecting officer are found on board any ship within such time as may be prescribed as the time for which the seals are to hold good, no fee shall be charged for the verification of the seals.

(5) The Minister may appoint officers for the purposes of any inspection under this section, and the expression “inspecting officer”,
