SECTION 6. Suggested Formula in Determining the Equivalent Monthly Statutory Minimum Wage Rates. — Without prejudice to existing company practices, agreements or policies, the following formula may be used as guides in determining the equivalent monthly statutory minimum wage rates:

a) For those who are required to work everyday including Sundays or rest days, special days and regular holidays:

Equivalent Applicable daily wage rate (ADR) x 390.90 days

Monthly = -----

Rate (EMR) 12

Where 390.90 days =

302 days Ordinary working days

20 days 10 regular holidays x 200%

66.30 days 51 rest days x 130%

2.60 days 2 special days x 130%

390.90 days Total equivalent number of days.

b) For those who do not work but considered paid on rest days, special days and regular holidays:

ADR x 365 days

EMR = -----

12

Where 365 days =

302 days Ordinary working days

51 days Rest days

10 days Regular holidays

2 days Special days

365 days Total equivalent number of days

c) For those who do not work and are not considered paid on Sundays or rest days:

ADR x 314 days

12

Where 314 days =

302 days Ordinary working days

10 days Regular holidays

2 days Special days (If considered

paid; If actually worked,

this is equivalent to 2.6 days)

314 days Total equivalent number of days

d) For those who do not work and are not considered paid on Saturdays or rest days:

ADR x 262 days

12

Where 262 days =

250 days Ordinary working days

10 days Regular holidays

2 days Special days (If considered paid; If actually worked, this is equivalent to 2.6 days)

262 days Total equivalent number of days

Note: For workers whose rest days fall on Sundays, the number of rest days in a year is reduced from 52 to 51 days, the last Sunday of August being a regular holiday under Executive Order No. 201. For purposes of computation, said holiday, although still a rest day for them, is included in the ten regular holidays. For workers whose rest days do not fall on Sundays, the number of rest days is 52 days, as there are 52 weeks in a year.

Nothing herein shall be considered as authorizing the reduction of benefits granted under existing agreements or employer practices/policies.

The adjusted minimum wage rates for workers paid by results shall be computed in accordance with the following steps:

- 1) Amount of increase in AMW - Previous AMW x 100 = % Increase;
- 2) Existing rate/piece x % increase = increase in rate/piece;

3) Existing rate/piece + increase in rate/piece = Adjusted rate/piece.

Where AMW is the applicable minimum wage rate.

The NLRC shall conduct continuous hearings and decide any dispute arising from wage distortions within twenty calendar days from the time said dispute is formally submitted to it for arbitration. However, no certification election may be held within one year from the date of issuance of a final certification election result. Neither may a representation question be entertained if, before the filing of a petition for certification election, a bargaining deadlock to which an incumbent or certified bargaining agent is a party had been submitted to conciliation or arbitration or had become the subject of a valid notice of strike or lockout.

The Med-Arbiter, upon receipt of the assigned petition, shall have twenty (20) working days from submission of the case for resolution within which to dismiss or grant the petition.

The twenty-five percent (25%) requirement shall be satisfied upon the filing of the petition, otherwise the petition shall

The filing of the appeal from the decision of the Med-Arbitrator stays the holding of any certification election. The decision of the secretary shall be final and unappealable.

SECTION 11. Execution pending appeal. — The execution of the order of the Med-Arbitrator shall be stayed pending appeal.

RULE VI Election

SECTION 1. Conduct of an election. — The Regional Division shall cause the necessary posting of notices at least five (5) working days before the actual date of election in two most conspicuous places in the company premises. SECTION 4. Protest to be decided in twenty (20) working days. — When the protest is formalized before the Med-Arbitrator within five (5) days after the close of the election proceedings, the Med-Arbitrator shall decide the same within twenty (20) working days from the date of its formalization. If not formalized within the prescribed period, the protest shall be deemed dropped. The decision may be appealed to the Bureau in the same manner and on the same grounds as provided under Rule V.

SECTION 5. Motion to postpone does not stay election. — The filing of a motion to postpone shall not stay the holding of the election.

The parties shall be given opportunity to witness the inspection proceedings. After the examination of the ballot box, the Representation Officer shall lock it with three keys one of which he shall keep and the rest forthwith given one each to the employer's representative and the representative of the labor organization. If more than one union is involved, the holder of the third key shall be determined by drawing of lots. The key shall remain in the possession of the Representation Officer and the parties during the proceedings and thereafter until all the controversies concerning the conduct of the election shall have been definitely resolved.

SECTION 7. Preparation of ballots. — Ballots shall be prepared in Filipino and English along with a translation in the local dialect, if any, for the guidance of worker-voters.

SECTION 8. Marking and canvassing of votes. — (a) The voter must write a cross (x) or a check (/) in the square opposite the union of his choice. If only one union is involved, the voter shall make his cross or check in the square indicating "Yes" or "No".

(c) As soon as the polls close, the votes cast shall be counted and tabulated by the Representation Officer in the presence of the representatives of the parties. Upon completion of the canvassing, the Representation Officer shall give each representative a certification of the result of the election and minutes of the concluded election.

(d) The ballots, tally sheets, and certification of the results, together with the minutes of the election, shall be sealed in an envelope and signed outside by the Representation Officer and by representatives of the contending parties. These envelopes shall remain sealed under the custody of the Representation Officer until after the Med-Arbiter has finally certified the winner.

(e) The Med-Arbiter, upon receipt of the results of the election and no protest having been filed, shall certify the winner.

(f) The union which obtained a majority of the valid votes cast by the eligible voters shall be certified as the sole and exclusive bargaining agent of all the workers in the appropriate unit. However, in order to have a valid election, at least a majority of all eligible voters in the bargaining unit must have cast their votes.

RULE VII Challenges and Run-Offs

SECTION 1. Challenging of votes. — (a) Any vote may be challenged for a valid cause by any observer before the voter has deposited his vote in the ballot box.

(b) If a ballot is challenged on valid grounds, the Representation Officer shall segregate it from the unchallenged ballots and seal it in an envelope. The Representation Officer shall indicate on the envelope the name of the challenger and the ground of the challenge.

SECTION 2. Run-off election. — When an election which provides for three (3) or more choices results in no choice receiving a majority of the valid votes cast, and no objections or challenges have been presented which if sustained might change the results, the representation officer shall motu proprio conduct a run-off election within five (5) calendar days from the close of the election between the labor unions receiving the two highest number of votes; Provided, that the total number of votes for all contending unions is at least fifty (50%) percent of the number of votes cast.

In addition to the above requirement, the petition must show on its face that the administrative remedies provided for in the constitution and by-laws have been exhausted or such remedies are not readily available to the complaining members through no fault of their own. In cases of bargaining deadlocks, the notice shall, as far as practicable, further state the unresolved issues in the bargaining negotiations and be accompanied by the written proposals of the union, the counter-proposals of the employer and the proof of a request for conference to settle the differences. In cases of unfair labor practices, the notice shall, as far as practicable, state the acts complained of and the efforts taken to resolve the dispute amicably.

Any notice which does not conform with the requirements of this and the foregoing sections shall be deemed as not having been filed and the party concerned shall be so informed by the regional branch of the Board.

SECTION 5. Disclosure of information. — In collective bargaining, the parties shall, at the request of either of them, make available such up-to-date financial information on the economic situation of the undertaking, which is normally submitted to relevant government agencies, as is material and necessary for meaningful negotiations. The information to be made available may be agreed upon between the parties to collective bargaining.

SECTION 6. Conciliation. — Upon receipt of the notice, the regional branch of the Board shall exert all efforts at mediation and conciliation to enable the parties to settle the dispute amicably. During the proceedings, the parties shall not do any act which may disrupt or impede the early settlement of the dispute. They are obliged, as part of their duty to bargain collectively in good faith, to participate fully and promptly in the conciliation meetings called by the regional branch of the Board. The regional branch of the Board shall have the power to issue subpoenas requiring the attendance of the parties to the meetings.

Information and statements given at conciliation proceedings shall be treated as privileged communications. Conciliators and similar officials shall not testify in any court or body regarding any matter taken up at conciliation proceedings conducted by them.

SECTION 9. Hiring of replacements. — The mere participation of a worker in a lawful strike shall not constitute sufficient ground for termination of his employment even if a replacement had been hired by the employer during such lawful strike. But any union officer who knowingly participates in an illegal strike and any worker or union officer who knowingly participates in the commission of illegal acts during a strike may be declared to have lost his employment status.

SECTION 10. Prohibition regarding the employment of replacements. — No public official employee, including officers and personnel of the Armed Forces of the Philippines or the Integrated National Police, or any armed person shall —

Where the parties are not residents of Manila, the Labor Arbiter shall conduct hearings in such places as he may determine to be accessible to the parties and their witnesses.

ARTICLE 279. Security of tenure. — In case of regular employment, the employer shall not terminate the services of an employee except for a just cause or when authorized by this Title. An employee who is unjustly dismissed from work shall be entitled to reinstatement without loss of seniority rights and to his backwages computed from the time his compensation was withheld from him up to the time of his reinstatement.

ARTICLE 280. Regular and casual employment. — The provisions of written agreement to the contrary notwithstanding and regardless of the oral agreements of the parties, an employment shall be deemed to be regular where the employee has been engaged to perform activities which are usually necessary or desirable in the usual business or trade of the employer except where the employment has been fixed for a specific project or undertaking, the completion or termination of which has been determined at the time of the engagement of the employee or where the work or service to be performed is seasonal in nature and the employment is for the duration of the season.

An employment shall be deemed to be casual if it is not covered by the preceding paragraph: Provided, That any employee who has rendered at least one year of service, where the position no longer exists at the time of reinstatement for reasons not attributable to the fault of the employer, the employee shall be entitled to separation pay equivalent to at least one-month salary or to one-month salary for every year of service, whichever is higher, a fraction of at least six months being considered as one whole year. (Articles 278 to 280 and then Section 5, these are what appeared in the official version)

SECTION 5. Regular and casual employment. — (a) The provisions of written agreements to the contrary notwithstanding and regardless of the oral agreements of the parties, an employment shall be considered to be regular employment for purposes of Book VI of the Labor Code where the employee has been engaged to perform activities which are usually necessary or desirable in the usual business or trade of the employer except where the employment has been fixed for a specific project or undertaking the completion or termination of which has been determined at the time of the engagement of the employee or where the work or service to be performed is seasonal in nature and the employment is for the duration of the season.

(b) Employment shall be deemed as casual in nature if it is not covered by the preceding paragraph; Provided, That any employee who has rendered at least one year of service, whether such service is continuous or not, shall be considered a regular employee with respect to the activity in which he is employed and his employment shall continue while such activity exists.

(c) An employee who is allowed to work after a probationary period shall be considered a regular employee.

SECTION 6. Probationary employment. — (a) Where the work for which an employee has been engaged is learnable or apprenticeable in accordance with the standards prescribed by the Department of Labor, the probationary employment period of the employee shall be limited to the authorized learnership or apprenticeship period, whichever is applicable.

(c) The services of an employee who has been engaged on probationary basis may be terminated only for a just cause or when authorized by existing laws, or when he fails to qualify as a regular employee in accordance with reasonable standards prescribed by the employer.

(d) In all cases involving employees engaged on probationary basis, the employer shall make known to the employee the standards under which he will qualify as a regular employee at the time of his engagement.

SECTION 7. Termination of employment by employer. — The just causes for terminating the services of an employee shall be those provided in Article 283 of the Code. The separation from work of an employee for a just cause does not entitle him to the termination pay

SECTION 8. Disease as a ground for dismissal. — Where the employee suffers from a disease and his continued employment is prohibited by law or prejudicial to his health or to the health of his co-employees, the employer shall not terminate his employment unless there is a certification by competent public health authority that the disease is of such nature of at such a stage that it cannot be cured within a period of six (6) months even with proper medical treatment. If the disease or ailment can be cured within the period, the employer shall not terminate the employee but shall ask the employee to take a leave of absence. The employer shall reinstate such employee to his former position immediately upon the restoration of his normal health.

SECTION 9. Termination pay. — (a) An employee shall be entitled to termination pay equivalent to at least one month's salary for every year of service a fraction of at least six (6) months being considered as one whole year, in case of termination of his employment due to the installation of labor-saving devices or redundancy.

(b) Where the termination of employment is due to retrenchment to prevent losses and in case of closure or cessation of operations of establishment or undertaking not due to serious business losses or financial reverses, or where the employment is prohibited by law or is prejudicial to his health or to the health of his co-employees, the employee shall be entitled to termination pay equivalent to at least one-half month's pay for every year of service, a fraction of at least six months being considered as one whole year.

(c) The termination pay provided in the Section shall in no case be less than the employee's one month pay.

SECTION 10. SECTION 12. Suspension of relationship. — The employer-employee relationship shall be deemed suspended in case of suspension of operation of the business or undertaking of the employer for a period not exceeding six (6) months, unless the suspension is for the purpose of defeating the rights of the employees under the Code, and in case of mandatory fulfillment by the employee of a military or civic duty. The payment of wages of the employee as well as the grant of other benefits and privileges while he is on a military or civic duty shall be subject to special laws and decrees and to the applicable individual or collective bargaining agreement and voluntary employer practice or policy.

SECTION 13. Retirement. — In the absence of any collective bargaining agreement or other applicable agreement concerning terms and conditions of employment which provides for retirement at an older age, an employee may be retired upon reaching the age of sixty (60) years.

(b) Where both the employer and the employee contribute to the retirement plan, agreement or policy, the employer's total contribution thereto shall not be less than the total termination pay to which the employee would have been entitled had there been no such retirement fund. In case the employer's contribution is less than the termination pay the employee is entitled to receive, the employer shall pay the deficiency upon the retirement of the employee.
