The CLP is a business-led, multi-stakeholder forum that operates with the ILO's International Programme on the Elimination of Child Labour and the UN Global Compact as its Secretariat, under the auspices of the UN Global Compact Human Rights and Labour Working Group. The CLP is co-chaired by the International Organization of Employers (IOE) and the International Trade Union Confederation (ITUC).

Company approaches to addressing child labour in the workplace and supply chains have evolved significantly over the past decade. The CLP is a forum for sharing experience and catalysing collective action. It helps companies identify obstacles in implementing the ILO and Global Compact child labour principles in supply chains and surrounding communities and advises on practical ways of overcoming them.

During the meeting, a member company will share its experience on integrating labour rights into business operations, followed by an in-depth discussion. Participants will also discuss practical challenges to addressing child labour deeper in supply chains, with a focus on selected sectors and real world cases.

The CLP will include break-out sessions on key themes of interest, to share learning and approaches to applying due diligence to identify risks and to remediate child labour in supply chains.

The meeting is open to companies interested in learning about state-of-the-art approaches to due diligence around child labour. Join us and find out about the latest thinking and opportunities for engagement in an area that is critical to business sustainability.
