

Acknowledgements

The KILM 5th Edition was prepared by the ILO's Employment Trends team, under the direction of Lawrence Jeff Johnson. The team consists of Philippe Blet, Sara Elder, Isabelle Guillet, Julia Lee, Ina Pietschmann, Dorothea Schmidt, Marie-Claire Sodergren, Theodor Sparreboom and Alan Wittrup. Additional assistance during the production period was provided by Taro Boel, Huanxiu Guo, Debel Gutta and Yekaterina Spassova. This edition was updated and edited by Marie-Claire Sodergren. Alan Wittrup was responsible for the database maintenance and development of the interactive software.

Manuscripts and data on indicators were updated by the team, except for KILM 17 (Hourly compensation costs), which was prepared by Erin Lett of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, and KILM 18 (Labour productivity and unit labour costs), which was produced in collaboration with Bart van Ark and Gerard Ypma of the University of Groningen. The manuscript benefited greatly from the comments and suggestions of ILO Employment Sector management, including José Manuel Salazar-Xirinachs and Duncan Campbell, as well as from colleagues from other units, namely Stephen Pursey and Sylvester Young.

The KILM would not have been possible without the continuing collaboration of the ILO Bureau of Statistics (STAT). Throughout the development of the KILM, STAT members have provided invaluable access to the statistics and methodological information from the ILO Yearbook of Labour Statistics (LABORSTA) and October Inquiry datasets and assisted in clarifying various elements and shared in improving the technical accuracy of the information.

The team has continued to benefit from collaboration with ILO Regional Offices, Subregional Offices and projects, providing access to a variety of information from national and regional statistical sources through the Labour Market Indicators Library (LMIL) Network. Special mention goes to Lawrence Egulu and Hans Hofmeijer (ILO Regional Office Africa,), Steven Kapsos and Georgy Sziraczki (ILO Regional Office for Asia), Monica Castillo (ILO Regional Office for Latin America and the Caribbean) and Tariq Haq (ILO Regional Office for the Arab States, Beirut) as well as Bolívar Pino (ILO SIAL project, Panama). Isabelle Guillet coordinated the LMIL Network on behalf of the Trends team.

The KILM is an accumulation of information on the global labour market. A good deal of the information published is made available through the continued cooperation and support of the following organizations: the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the United Nations Statistical Division, the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), the World Bank and the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). It is with deep gratitude that we thank our contacts in the various organizations for taking the time to share their data with us.

The preparation and finalization of this publication owe a great deal to the staff of the Document and Publications Production, Printing and Distribution Branch for their assistance and professional work on formatting and printing the manuscript. Finally, members of the KILM team wish to express their deep appreciation to any organization or individual not listed here who assisted or provided guidance during the development and implementation of the project.