

Feedback from Policy Course IT002 in Turin, Italy: 8-12 April 2002

★ I liked the interactions among the participants, sharing knowledge and the simulation exercises which gave more reality and helped to keep track of what we were learning.

★ I enjoyed every minute and especially the facilitators' understanding that each participant has to make SOLVE his or her own to work within country, cultural and corporate contexts. The strength of this programme lies in its flexibility and adaptability.

★ I liked the approach to the psychosocial problems and the great work from the SOLVE staff. The contacts and the group atmosphere were very good, and with the real "interrelations" a very important, essential goal was achieved.

★ I liked the mix of theoretical input, group exercises and rounding up which altogether caused better internalization of the topics.
