Reader's note

The Information document on ratifications and standards-related activities (Report III (Part 2)) provides an overview of developments in international labour standards during 2007. It supplements the information contained in the report of the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations (Report III) (Part 1A). Part I provides general information on recent developments concerning international labour standards, constitutional and other procedures in relation to the supervision of standards, and technical assistance in the field of standards. Part II provides information on the ratification of individual Conventions and Protocols in table format. Part III contains “country profiles” which bring together information on the ratification and application of Conventions and on the submission of instruments adopted by the International Labour Conference to the competent authorities in a table format by country.

Recent developments

A. Standards policy

1. Improvements to standards-related activities

1. This section reviews the situation following the adoption by the Governing Body at its 294th Session (November 2005) of a strategic orientation for standards and for implementing standards-related policies and procedures.<sup>1</sup> In March and November 2007, the Governing Body had before it an important paper on the implementation of the four components of this standards strategy (Standards policy, supervisory bodies, standards and technical cooperation and visibility of standards system). These documents gave rise to a wide-ranging debate<sup>2</sup> that led to the Governing Body's agreement of elements of an interim action plan proposed by the Office that are detailed hereunder.

2. In the framework of the first component concerning the implementation of the standards policy, the paper contained proposals on: the organization of tripartite consultations in light of the Conference's upcoming discussion in June 2008; the promotion and follow-up of the conclusions of the Cartier Working Party, focusing on terms of thematic priorities on priority Conventions – in particular the Conventions relating to labour inspection and tripartite consultations – and on recently adopted Conventions and the related Recommendations; and the discussion on the status of Convention No. 158 and Recommendation No. 166 concerning termination of employment.

3. The second component relating to the supervisory system focused on streamlining the submission of information and reports under article 22 of the ILO Constitution. The aim is to preserve and improve the quality of the information on the application of ratified Conventions so that the most efficient use can be made of this information by constituents and by the Organization. In this context, in March 2007, two possible approaches were put forward. These were:

- The traditional approach, adopted in earlier reforms, involves the adoption of specific measures relating to certain aspects of the procedure for the submission and processing of information and reports. The proposed measures were as follows:

- (a) lengthening the reporting cycle for reports due on fundamental and priority Conventions from two to three years, with the five-year cycle for the other Conventions remaining unchanged;
    - (b) reviewing existing report forms to take into account the requests regularly made by governments and following up on the discussions of the Committee of Experts with a view to helping governments identify the most important issues raised in the comments;
    - (c) sustaining and enhancing training activities, in close cooperation with the International Training Centre of the ILO in Turin, to increase the substantive participation of employers' and workers' organizations in the supervision of the application of ratified Conventions.
  - The global approach consists of integrating a country-based approach into the supervision of the application of ratified Conventions with a view to achieving a lasting improvement in the effectiveness of the article 22 supervisory procedure and ensuring the systematic integration of international labour standards and the work of the supervisory bodies into the ILO's activities. The document provided an outline of this approach and the principal advantages expected, taking into account the discussions of the Committee of Experts and the issues raised by constituents. The discussions in the Governing Body showed that the value of a global combination approach had been broadly understood. The Governing Body nevertheless ruled out the option of integrating a country-based approach into the supervision of the application of ratified Conventions and requested the Office to propose alternatives, such as the examination of an intensified thematic approach to non-fundamental and non-priority Conventions.
4. With respect to streamlining the submission and examination of information and reports due under article 22 of the Constitution, the Office proposed that additional options for a global approach to streamlining be submitted to the Governing Body at its 303rd Session (November 2008) after the Conference discussion in June 2008, together with an evaluation of the current grouping of Conventions by subject matter. The proposals also included measures to review report forms and to enable governments to focus on urgent issues raised by the supervisory bodies. An overview of the dynamics of the supervisory system would be submitted to the Governing Body at its 301st Session (March 2008).
5. With regard to enhancing the impact of the standards system through technical cooperation (third component), the paper proposed a plan of action for 2008 focusing on three specific types of intervention: the mainstreaming of standards-related priorities in the context of the ILO's broader technical cooperation activities and other major development initiatives; specific interventions to address thematic priorities; and specific interventions to address country-level priorities in the context of Decent Work Country Programmes (DWCPs). The conclusions of the Cartier Working Party and the comments of the supervisory bodies would serve as a basis for the identification of these priorities. A large-scale medium-term pilot programme covering a number of priority themes and pilot countries would be designed and implemented.
6. In the context of the fourth component, to enhance access to, and the visibility of, the standards system, the following steps were suggested: a proposal for an online reporting system would be submitted to the Governing Body at its 301st Session (March 2008) and certain electronic reporting facilities would be made available for the 2008 reporting cycle; the databases on international labour standards and national legislation, as well as the new country profiles portal, would be managed and upgraded, with appropriate funding; and cooperation with the Turin Centre would continue and a review would be carried out of existing arrangements between the ILO and other international organizations for collaboration on standards-related matters, with a view to improving the visibility of international labour standards among the ILO's tripartite constituents, the broader public and throughout the international system.

2. Action plan to achieve rapid and widespread ratification and effective implementation of the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006

7. In accordance with the guidance provided by the Governing Body following the adoption of the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006, the Office has developed and published a comprehensive five-year action plan that is designed to achieve rapid and widespread ratification and effective implementation of the Convention. The action plan, which the Governing Body approved in March 2007, aims to achieve within five years the required number of ratifications (30 Members representing at least 33 per cent of the world's gross tonnage of ships) for the Convention to enter into force. The action plan will focus initially on global and regional events to promote the ratification of the Convention and to contribute to the establishment of international and regional cooperation for its application. Furthermore, the development of guidelines for port State control and for flag State inspections constitutes another important aspect of the action plan. Both of these issues were covered by Conference resolutions, which called for the guidelines on port State control to receive priority attention.

8. In this context, the Office will be submitting, to the tripartite experts' meeting that should meet in September 2008, draft international guidelines for port State control inspections and also for flag State inspections. For this purpose, the Office is also kept informed of the discussions on the guidelines for port State control that have been organized at government level in the context of the regional memoranda of understanding on the port State control of ships. It is, in addition, being assisted in the preparation of the draft for flag State inspection guidelines by an informal tripartite working group.

9. To date the Convention has been ratified by Liberia (in June 2006), the second largest of the world's flag States, and by the Marshall Islands (September 2007). Other countries, including Members of the European Union, Bahamas, Brazil, Canada, Panama, Philippines and the Russian Federation, are known to have taken significant steps towards ratification. As provided for in the action plan, in order to promote ratification of the Convention, high-level tripartite missions have already taken place in several countries:

- Panama (February 2007): During this mission, an action plan was adopted with the aim of identifying the administrative, legal and operational measures that will enable Panama to ratify and implement the Convention. Exchanges between the Office and the Government are ongoing in this respect with a follow-up mission planned for February 2008.
- Philippines (November 2006): The mission noted that the Government and the social partners supported the ratification of the Convention, subject to the resolution of certain specific issues. The mission has made a number of proposals with a view to follow-up action and to enable the Government and the social partners to have a constructive dialogue. Exchanges between the Office and the Government are ongoing in this respect.

- Russian Federation (February 2007): The mission noted that there was a clear political will to ratify the Convention and that concrete steps with a view to ratification and effective implementation had already been taken. Furthermore, the State Duma adopted recommendations to that effect in March 2007.

10. The following other promotional activities have been carried out within the framework of the action plan to achieve rapid and widespread ratification and effective implementation of the Convention:

- tripartite seminar for the countries of South America (Buenos Aires, February 2007);
- technical mission (Indonesia, August 2007);
- Subregional Conference on the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006 (Nigeria, August 2007);
- National Seminar on the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006 (China, October 2007);
- Regional Tripartite Seminar for African Countries of Portuguese Official Language on the Promotion of the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006 (Angola, December 2007); and
- Tripartite Seminar on International Labour Standards in Three Sectors: Maritime, Fishing and Ports (Madagascar, December 2007).

11. In the various activities, such as those indicated above, that have so far been carried out in the implementation of the action plan, a significant role has been played by governments as well as shipowners and seafarers organizations, which are providing assistance on a tripartite or an individual basis.

3. Other matters

12. The 1997 Instrument of Amendment to the ILO Constitution, the aim of which is to allow the Conference to abrogate obsolete Conventions, will enter into force when it has been ratified or accepted by two-thirds of the Members of the Organization (121/181). A campaign for the ratification of the instrument has been launched to promote the entry into force of the amendment, for which 102 ratifications or acceptations have been received to date. The most recent ratification, from Samoa, was registered on 26 October 2007.<sup>3</sup> At its 300th Session (November 2007), the Governing Body requested the Office to redouble its efforts and called on all governments that have not yet ratified or accepted the 1997 Instrument of Amendment to do so without delay.

B. New standards considered by the International Labour Conference, 96th Session (May–June 2007)

1. Committee on the Fishing Sector – Standard setting, single discussion, with a view to the adoption of a Work in Fishing Convention and a Work in Fishing Recommendation

13. One year after the adoption of the landmark Maritime Labour Convention, 2006, the International Labour Conference adopted the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188). The new Convention revises and updates a number of earlier ILO instruments concerning the working and living conditions of fishers. The Convention aims to provide decent work for fishers and contribute to a sustainable fishing industry. Together with the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006, it stands as a prominent example of the International Labour Organization's continued effort to develop consolidated, flexible and easily ratifiable labour standards.

14. The Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188), proposes a comprehensive set of standards concerning the living and working conditions for an estimated 30 million fishers around the world. It applies to all commercial fishing, with the exception of subsistence and recreational fishing, to all vessels regardless of size, and to all fishers, including those who are paid on the basis of a share of the catch. For the first time for fishers and fishing there is an international standard that provides for sector-specific protection in the fields of social security, occupational safety and health and hours of rest. With regard to compliance and enforcement, the Convention incorporates port State control provisions modelled on those applicable in the shipping industry. It also includes a "substantial equivalence" clause to ensure flexibility in applying accommodation standards.

15. The new Convention for the fishing sector marks many improvements compared to existing standards and breaks new ground in several respects. For instance, it raises the minimum age for work on board a fishing vessel to 16 years, instead of 15 years under Convention No. 112 (persons of the age of 15 may exceptionally be authorized to perform activities on board fishing vessels on condition that they are no longer subject to compulsory schooling and are engaged in vocational training). It also fixes the maximum period of validity of a medical certificate to two years (no specific limit was set under Convention No. 113 except for young fishers under 21 years of age). In addition, the Convention requires the adoption of national laws and regulations regarding the minimum level of crewing for the safe navigation of fishing vessels and defines minimum periods of daily and weekly rest for vessels remaining at sea for more than three days. Moreover, the Convention makes the maintenance of a crew list on board obligatory, rather than leaving it to the national authorities, as it was under Convention No. 114. The new Convention establishes the entitlement of fishers to repatriation at the cost of the fishing vessel owner and sets out the principle of the regular payment of wages for those fishers who are paid a cash wage and requires that fishers be given the means to transmit all or part of their remuneration to their families at no cost. The new Convention further requires an appropriate legal framework for the operation of private recruitment and placement services for fishers. Detailed standards are set in the new Convention concerning the medical care to be provided on board fishing vessels and a series of measures are envisaged aimed at the prevention of occupational accidents and occupational diseases, including risk evaluation and management, training and on-board instruction of fishers. The Convention calls for national laws ensuring comprehensive social security protection for fishers and also for guarantees that fishers are not discriminated against in their social security coverage as compared to other workers. Finally, the Convention recognizes the right of fishers to receive appropriate medical care and the corresponding compensation in the event of injury due to occupational accident or disease and, more broadly, the Convention calls for measures to ensure the protection of fishers in the case of work-related sickness, injury or death.

2. Committee on Strengthening the ILO's Capacity – General discussion

16. At its 96th Session (May–June 2007), the International Labour Conference held a general discussion on Strengthening the ILO's capacity to assist its Members' efforts to reach its objectives in the context of globalization.<sup>4</sup> The conclusions of the Committee on Strengthening the ILO's Capacity, which were adopted in June 2007, envisage the possible adoption of an authoritative document reflecting the commitment of its Members to the Organization's objectives and encouraging them to pursue those objectives in an integrated manner consistent with the Decent Work Agenda, with the ILO's support. An essential element in supporting this commitment would be the possibility of establishing cyclical reports relating to the strategic objectives. The reports would be discussed each year by the Conference and would thus become a recurring item on the Conference agenda.

17. The conclusions indicate that the cyclical reports could be a means of providing to constituents as well as to the general public a regularly updated overview of trends and policies relating to the strategic objectives and could also serve to strengthen the knowledge base and analytical capacity of the Office. Regarding trends in law and practice, such an overview would be based, among other things, on the general surveys which are in turn based on the reports submitted under articles 19 and 22 of the Constitution. A tripartite discussion every year in the International Labour Conference could help develop a more direct link between the needs of the constituents and the selection of priorities for future action, including standard setting.

18. The expected positive effects of such a project on the standards system relate not only to standards policy (the Conference agenda, keeping the body of standards up to date and the promotion of standards), but also to the integration of standards and technical cooperation with a view to the effective promotion of the strategic objectives and information, in particular, by making better use of the reports submitted under article 19 of the Constitution.

19. At its 300th Session (November 2007), the Governing Body placed on the agenda of the 97th Session (June 2008) of the Conference an item with a view to the continuation of this discussion and the possible examination of a draft authoritative document.<sup>5</sup>

3. Committee on Sustainable Enterprises – General discussion

20. The conclusions of the Committee on Sustainable Enterprises reaffirmed that sustainable enterprises are a principal source of growth, wealth creation, employment and decent work. The promotion of sustainable enterprises is therefore a major tool for achieving decent work, sustainable development and innovation that improves standards of living and social conditions over time. In this respect, an enabling environment for sustainable enterprises was essential. While noting that such an environment comprised a large array of factors, the Committee considered that certain basic conditions were essential. They included: peace and political stability, good governance and the rule of law, social dialogue, respect for universal human rights and international labour standards, an entrepreneurial culture, sound and stable macroeconomic policy, fair competition and access to financial services, physical and information and communications technology infrastructures, education and training, social justice and social protection, and responsible stewardship of the environment.

21. At the enterprise level, the Committee emphasized the importance of responsible and sustainable practices and enumerated a number of principles applicable to all enterprises, with particular reference to social dialogue and good industrial relations, human resource development, conditions of work, productivity, wages and shared benefits, corporate social responsibility and corporate governance.

22. Lastly, the Committee also outlined a number of aspects regarding the respective roles of governments, the social partners and the ILO in this area.

23. The Conference invited the Governing Body to give due consideration to these conclusions when planning future action on the promotion of sustainable enterprises centred on the Decent Work Agenda and to request the Director-General to take them into account both when implementing the Programme and Budget for the 2010–11 biennium and when allocating such other resources as may be available during the 2008–09 biennium.

C. Standard-setting item on the agenda of the International Labour Conference

24. The agenda of the 98th Session (2009) of the Conference will contain an item on the preparation of a recommendation on HIV/AIDS in the world of work (double-discussion procedure).<sup>6</sup>

Constitutional and other procedures

A. Measures taken under article 33 of the ILO Constitution: The question of the observance by the Government of Myanmar of the Forced Labour Convention, 1930 (No. 29)

25. Following a complaint filed pursuant to article 26 of the Constitution, alleging the non-observance by Myanmar of the Forced Labour Convention, 1930 (No. 29), the Governing Body decided to set up a Commission of Inquiry. The Commission concluded, in its report published in 1998, that the obligation under Article 1, paragraph 1, of the Convention to suppress the use of forced or compulsory labour was being violated in Myanmar both in national legislation and in practice in a widespread and systematic manner, and it made a series of recommendations.

26. As the Government failed to take the necessary steps to implement the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry, the International Labour Conference adopted at its 87th Session (June 1999) a resolution on the widespread use of forced labour, according to which Myanmar should cease to benefit from any technical cooperation or assistance from the ILO, except for the purpose of direct assistance to implement immediately the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry. The following year, at its 88th Session, the International Labour Conference adopted a new resolution, under article 33 of the Constitution, inviting the Organization's constituents to review their relations with Myanmar and take appropriate measures to ensure that Myanmar cannot take advantage of such relations to perpetuate or extend the system of forced or compulsory labour referred to by the Commission of Inquiry.

27. Several technical missions visited Myanmar in 2000 and 2001 and an Understanding on an objective assessment by the ILO was signed in May 2001 between the Organization and the Government of Myanmar. Under this Understanding, the Government agreed to receive a high-level team appointed to assess, with full independence and freedom of movement, the realities of the forced labour situation. The Government also accepted the appointment of an ILO Liaison Officer in Myanmar, whose role covers all activities relevant to ensuring the prompt and effective elimination of forced labour. The post of Liaison Officer has been in existence since October 2002.

28. In May 2003, the Government and the ILO agreed on a joint plan of action on the elimination of forced labour practices in Myanmar, which could not be implemented in view of events that occurred at the national level. In November 2004, the Governing Body requested that a very high-level team be sent to the country to evaluate the attitude of the authorities in Myanmar and their willingness to continue to cooperate with the ILO.

29. In February 2005, the very high-level mission considered that the conditions were not conducive to the effective discharge of its mandate and it submitted to the authorities, before leaving the country, an aide-memoire outlining the measures that should be taken to improve the situation. In October 2005, consultations were held between a representative of the Director-General and the Liaison Officer, on the one hand, and the Minister of Labour, on the other. On this occasion, the authorities indicated that Myanmar did not wish to engage in any debate on the measures recommended by the very high-level mission or on the joint plan of action in so far as the only acceptable mechanism for dealing with complaints of forced labour was the actual presence of the ILO in the country. At the 294th Session of the Governing Body (November 2005), many Members expressed their deep concern about the deteriorating situation in Myanmar and a number of them indicated that, under the circumstances, the only possible solution for the Organization was to entrust to the Conference itself the task of reviewing the measures adopted, under article 33 of the Constitution, in the Conference's resolution of 2000.

30. Accordingly, the Governing Body placed the following item on the agenda of the 95th Session of the International Labour Conference (May–June 2006): “Review of possible further action by the ILO in accordance with its Constitution in order: (i) to effectively secure Myanmar's compliance with the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry; and (ii) to ensure that no action is taken against complainants or their representatives.” At that session, the Conference examined the various options that it might consider adopting to ensure compliance with the Convention, including the possibility of the ILO seeking an advisory opinion from the International Court of Justice.

31. At its 297th Session (November 2006), the Governing Body expressed great frustration that the Myanmar authorities had not been able to agree on a mechanism to deal with complaints of forced labour. It concluded that the Myanmar authorities should, as a matter of utmost urgency and in good faith, conclude with the Office an agreement on a mechanism to deal with complaints of forced labour. The Governing Body indicated that a specific item would be placed on the agenda of its March 2007 session, to enable it to move on legal options, including, as appropriate, referral to the International Court of Justice.

32. On 26 February 2007, the ILO and the Government of Myanmar signed a Supplementary Understanding to establish a complaints mechanism, aimed at giving victims of forced labour the opportunity to channel their complaints through the services of the Liaison Officer to the competent authorities with a view to seeking redress. In March 2007, the Governing Body welcomed the fact that the mechanism had become operational and underlined the importance of the mechanism continuing to function effectively in the context of a very serious forced labour situation. In this regard, as foreseen in the Supplementary Understanding, both the Governing Body and the International Labour Conference, at its 96th Session (May–June 2007) emphasized that it was vital to ensure that the Liaison Officer had the necessary staff resources to discharge adequately the responsibilities that the position entailed. The International Labour Conference underscored that this mechanism should be assessed in the light of the ultimate objective of eradicating forced labour.

33. In November 2007, at its 300th Session, the Governing Body called on the Government of Myanmar to make at the highest level an unambiguous public statement that all forms of forced labour are prohibited throughout the country and will be duly punished. The Governing Body also called on the Government to ensure: that the mechanism provided by the Supplementary Understanding remains fully functional at the national level; that forced labour victims are able to access the complaints mechanism easily; and that there are no further detentions or acts of harassment against complainants, facilitators or others. The Governing Body instructed the Office to undertake a comprehensive review of the operation of the Understanding, for submission to the Governing Body at its March 2008 session.

B. Representation submitted under article 24 of the ILO Constitution

34. Representations may be filed under article 24 of the Constitution by industrial associations of employers or workers, alleging that a member State that has ratified a Convention has failed to secure within its jurisdiction the effective observance of that Convention. Once declared receivable, representations are examined by a tripartite committee established by the Governing Body. Their findings are followed up by the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations. The table below indicates developments concerning representations in 2007.

C. Complaints submitted under article 26 of the ILO Constitution

35. Complaints may be filed under article 26 of the Constitution alleging that a member State that has ratified a Convention is not securing its effective observance. Complaints may be filed by another member State that has ratified the same Convention. The Governing Body may initiate the procedure either of its own motion or upon receipt of a complaint from a delegate to the International Labour Conference. The Governing Body may appoint a Commission of Inquiry to consider the complaint. Findings of the Commission of Inquiry are followed up by the Committee of Experts or the Committee on Freedom of Association.

Complaint against Belarus

36. At its 288th Session (November 2003), the Governing Body established a Commission of Inquiry to examine the implementation by Belarus of the Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87), and the Right to Organise and Collective Bargaining Convention, 1949 (No. 98). The report of the Commission was submitted to the 291st Session of the Governing Body (November 2004). The Conference Committee on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations, during its examination of the application of these Conventions in June 2007, welcomed the Government's statement that it had invited a high-level ILO mission immediately following the Conference and expressed the firm hope that significant progress in ensuring full respect for freedom of association would be made without any further delay. In order to appropriately monitor developments in this regard, the Committee recommended that the Governing Body reconsider this matter in November 2007. The high-level Office mission took place in June 2007 and reported to the Governing Body at its 300th Session at which time it welcomed the Government's stated intention to reach agreement between all parties concerned on the question of trade union legislation and indicated that, while expecting significant progress towards satisfactory solutions, it would review in an appropriate way the developments at its March 2008 session.

Complaint against the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela

37. At its 291st Session (November 2004), the Governing Body was informed of a complaint submitted under article 26 of the Constitution concerning the non-observance by the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela of the Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87), and the Right to Organise and Collective Bargaining Convention, 1949 (No. 98). The Governing Body transmitted the complaint to the Committee on Freedom of Association to help it to decide whether the complaint should be forwarded to a Commission of Inquiry. In November 2005, the Committee on Freedom of Association examined the complaint and recommended to the Governing Body that it send a direct contacts mission to the country before deciding on the action to be taken in respect of the complaint. The Committee on Freedom of Association has repeated this request to the Government in its March, June and November 2007 reports.

D. Special procedures concerning freedom of association

38. At each of its last meetings (March, June and November 2007), the Committee on Freedom of Association had before it more than 191 cases concerning some 60 countries from all parts of the world, for which it presented interim or final conclusions, or for which the examination was adjourned pending the arrival of information from governments (344th, 345th, 346th, 347th and 348th Reports). Many of these cases have been before the Committee on Freedom of Association several times. Moreover, more than 94 new cases have been submitted to it since the December 2006 meeting of the Committee of Experts. The Committee on Freedom of Association drew the attention of the Committee of Experts to the legislative aspects of the following cases: Canada (Case No. 2467), Greece (Case No. 2502) Pakistan (Case No. 2399), Philippines (Case No. 2488), Poland (Case No. 2395), Romania (Case No. 2509), Sri Lanka (Case No. 2380), United Kingdom (Case No. 2473) and Zimbabwe (Cases Nos 1937, 2027 and 2365).

Technical assistance

- A. Standards-related technical assistance and technical cooperation by the International Labour Standards Department and subregional offices
- 1. Follow-up missions to the conclusions adopted by the Conference at its 95th Session (May–June 2006)

Bosnia and Herzegovina

39. The Conference Committee on the Application of Standards noted the Government's request for technical assistance and trusted that it would soon be in a position to note progress in relation to the matters raised under the Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87). The Office mission took place in October 2007 and the mission's report was examined by the Committee of Experts at its meeting in November–December 2007.

Croatia

40. A high-level direct contacts mission visited Croatia in April 2007, pursuant to the conclusions of the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards in June 2006 on the observation addressed to Croatia by the Committee of Experts on the Asbestos Convention, 1986 (No. 162). In accordance with its terms of reference, the mission collected information on the past and present exposure of workers to asbestos at the site of an asbestos–cement factory, and on the past and present pollution of the general environment by asbestos released from the site. It reviewed the national situation with regard to activities involving the exposure of workers to asbestos in the course of their work, including the situation concerning the production, marketing and use of asbestos, the introduction of new technologies for asbestos-free production and the actual and planned handling of asbestos waste. The Committee of Experts will examine the report of the mission at its next session.

Guatemala

41. Following the discussions at the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards in June 2006 on the observations addressed to the Government by the Committee of Experts on Conventions Nos 87 and 98, a technical assistance mission visited Guatemala in February 2007. The report of the mission will be examined by the Committee of Experts at its next session.

Islamic Republic of Iran

42. In October–November 2007, a technical assistance mission visited the Islamic Republic of Iran, with the dual objective of addressing issues under the Protection of Wages Convention, 1949 (No. 95), and the Discrimination (Employment and Occupation) Convention, 1958 (No. 111). The mission arose out of discussions at the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards in June 2006 regarding Convention No. 111 and in June 2007 regarding Convention No. 95. With respect to Convention No. 95, the mission was to obtain a better sense of the nature and extent of the problem of wage arrears, principally by collecting concrete figures on wage arrears and the number of affected workers as well as up to date information on measures taken by the Government in order to tackle the problem of delayed payment of wages. Regarding Convention No. 111, the mission was to assess the situation with respect to all the pending issues raised by the Committee of Experts regarding discrimination against women, and religious and ethnic minorities, as well as on relevant legislative matters. The report of the mission was submitted to the Committee of Experts at its November–December 2007 session.

2. Technical assistance in reporting and other standards-related obligations

43. The International Labour Standards Department contributes to the many activities carried out by the standards specialists of the subregional offices concerning compliance by member States with their reporting and other standards-related obligations.

Albania

44. Technical training on reporting obligations was provided to officials of the Migration Department of the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs of Albania and representatives of the social partners in June 2006 to build their capacity to prepare first reports and replies to the comments of the Committee of Experts, in particular on the Conventions concerning migration for employment. Participants prepared preliminary drafts of reports for the Migration for Employment Convention (Revised), 1949 (No. 97), and the Private Employment Agencies Convention, 1997 (No. 181). In March 2007, the Senior Specialist on Social Dialogue and Labour Law, in charge of international labour standards, from the Subregional Office in Budapest held a working meeting with officials of the Ministry of Labour. In light of the backlog in the submission of the reports due, emphasis was placed on the importance of improving the situation before the next meeting of the Committee of Experts and assistance was offered.

Armenia

45. A one-day tripartite seminar on standards-related procedures was organized, in Armenian, by the Subregional Office in Moscow in October 2006. It was followed by a three-day in-depth review of reporting obligations, which involved officials of the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs as well as representatives of employers and workers, to whom detailed explanations were provided on substantive and procedural requirements. Technical advice continued to be offered to the working group responsible for preparing reports at its April and July 2007 sessions, with special attention being paid to the application of the Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144), which recently entered into force. In this respect, a written communication giving a detailed description of the consultations required under the Convention was presented at a seminar on social partnership (April 2007) and made available to the participants in Armenia.

Brazil

46. The ILO Office in Brazil participates as an observer in the work of the Tripartite Commission on International Relations (CTRI), an advisory body of the Ministry of Labour and Employment that deals with issues relating to international labour law. This body is responsible for examining the international labour Conventions and Recommendations that are to be submitted, among other matters.

Comoros

47. In July 2007, in response to the request for technical assistance from the Comoros with regard to the submission of reports, the Subregional Office in Addis Ababa held a week-long tripartite workshop, in collaboration with the Antananarivo area office and with the support of the International Labour Standards Department. In addition to representatives of the Ministry of Labour, representatives of other ministries, such as the public service, justice, finance and education ministries attended the workshop, together with social partners. The workshop combined theory-based training on the fundamental international labour Conventions, including Conventions Nos 111, 138 and 182, on which initial reports were due, with practical group activities on the comments of the Committee of Experts. Since the workshop, the Comoros has submitted 16 reports.

Congo

48. A technical assistance mission to the Congolese Ministry of Labour was undertaken by the Subregional Office in Yaoundé in August 2007, during which various issues were addressed relating to compliance with constitutional obligations concerning international labour standards. During the mission, a working meeting was organized on the theme of international migration for employment, during which the relevant laws and regulations were examined with a view to preparing for a tripartite workshop on migration.

Croatia

49. At the request of the Government Office for Social Partnership, the Subregional Office in Budapest provided technical advice to the Government and to workers' organizations on the issue of representativity in light of the provisions of the Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87), and the Right to Organise and Collective Bargaining Convention, 1949 (No. 98).

Djibouti

50. In December 2007, the Subregional Office in Addis Ababa organized a four-day tripartite workshop with the aim of providing technical assistance to Djibouti to enable it to submit the reports that were pending – a significant number of reports had been submitted in May 2007. In addition to employers, members of the General Union of Djibouti Workers (UGTD) and the Djibouti Union of Workers (UDT) participated in the workshop, together with representatives of the ministries of employment and solidarity, justice, foreign affairs, the economy, finance and planning responsible for privatization, and youth, sport and recreation. The workshop combined training on the newly ratified Conventions – three fundamental Conventions (Conventions Nos 111, 138 and 182) and the Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144) – with group work on the preparation of reports for these and four other Conventions.

Dominica

51. A workshop on reporting obligations, organized jointly by NORMES and the Subregional Office in Port of Spain, was held in Dominica in February–March 2007. Government officials from seven member States (Antigua and Barbuda, Bahamas, Dominica, Grenada, Guyana, Saint Kitts and Nevis, and Saint Lucia), as well as one non-metropolitan territory (Aruba), were invited to participate. All the participating countries had been considered by the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations as cases of serious failure to comply with reporting obligations. The training focused primarily on the drafting of reports due, for which these countries had a substantial backlog. Following the workshop, a large number of reports due have been received and some countries have been taken off the list of serious cases of failure to comply with reporting obligations.

Egypt

52. The Subregional Office in Cairo and the Egyptian Ministry of Manpower and Migration held a round-table discussion on pay equity in July 2007. The round table, attended by representatives of the relevant ministries and social partners, addressed the comments made by the Committee of Experts under the Equal Remuneration Convention, 1951 (No. 100), and clarified the concept of “equal pay for work of equal value”. A plan of action and recommendations for the future were adopted.

Eritrea

53. A mission was undertaken in August 2007 at the request of the Eritrean Ministry of Labour and Human Welfare to raise general awareness of international labour standards and to examine the situation with regard to the labour law. During the workshop, an introduction was provided to the ILO’s mandate and its supervisory system, as well as presentations on the eight fundamental Conventions. Participants asked for a similar activity to be repeated for the priority Conventions. During the mission, prospects for the ratification of the Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention, 1999 (No. 182), and the ILO Constitutional Amendment of 1997 were also discussed.

The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia

54. The Subregional Office in Budapest, in cooperation with NORMES, provided technical assistance to strengthen the capacity of the Ministry of Labour to fulfil the country’s constitutional obligations in relation to reporting (the training of an official of the Ministry of Labour on reporting procedures and participation in the training course on international labour standards in May 2007). As a result, the country submitted two of the first reports that have been due since 1991. Further reports, including first reports, are expected to be submitted before the next session of the Committee of Experts and a tripartite seminar on international labour standards took place in Skopje in September 2007.

Equatorial Guinea

55. A technical assistance mission was undertaken by the Subregional Office in Yaoundé to Equatorial Guinea in September 2007, during which various issues were addressed relating to compliance with constitutional obligations concerning international labour standards. During the mission, a working meeting was organized on the theme of international migration for employment, during which the relevant laws and regulations were examined with a view to preparing for a tripartite workshop on migration.

Haiti

56. A workshop was organized in Haiti in July 2007 for government officials responsible for preparing the reports due under articles 19 and 22 of the ILO Constitution, or those who participate in this process. In view of the backlog of reports due, the training placed special emphasis on the pending comments of the Committee of Experts, the reporting schedule and how to use data and statistics produced by other ministries.

Kyrgyzstan

57. The Subregional Office in Moscow organized a one-day tripartite seminar in July 2007, followed by a two-day workshop, during which officials responsible for preparing reports received detailed explanations on the procedures and content of comments by the Committee of Experts.

Malawi

58. At the request of the Government during the last session of the Conference, a tripartite workshop on constitutional obligations, in particular reporting obligations, was organized by the Subregional Office in Harare, in cooperation with NORMES and the ILO Office in Lusaka. This is in line with the personalized follow-up to the conclusions of the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards concerning cases of non-compliance by certain countries with their reporting and other standards-related obligations, in order to provide these countries with targeted and effective assistance.

Nepal

59. A joint NORMES–DIALOGUE workshop was organized in collaboration with the Ministry of Labour and Transport Management in April 2007 focusing on the Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144), with a view to strengthening social dialogue in the wider context of industrial relations. Moreover, a two-day tripartite workshop was organized in August 2007 on international labour standards reporting obligations as well as on promoting the ratifications of Conventions Nos 87 and 105.

Paraguay

60. A seminar on forced labour and fundamental rights was organized in September 2007, with special emphasis on the comments of the Committee of Experts. The creation of a Tripartite Commission for the Promotion of Fundamental Rights and the Elimination of Forced Labour is planned. The Subregional Office in Santiago has also been providing technical assistance, under the IDB<sup>7</sup>–ILO project, to strengthen the capacity of the justice and labour administrations by creating an appropriate legal framework for the resolution of individual and collective labour disputes and improving the administrative registries for workers' and employers' organizations. This should help to enhance the quality of labour inspection.

Rwanda

61. The Subregional Office in Yaoundé provided the technical assistance requested to the official responsible for drafting reports in the Ministry of Labour. Various questions relating to reports on ratified (and unratified) Conventions, the reporting system, report forms, detailed and simplified reports, the role of employers' and workers' organizations, and the use of the various databases were addressed. During this technical assistance mission, the ratification prospects for various Conventions (the Employment Policy Convention, 1964 (No. 122), the Human Resources Development Convention, 1975 (No. 142), the Workers with Family Responsibilities Convention, 1981 (No. 156), and the Maternity Protection Convention, 2000 (No. 183)) were also addressed, along with the need for capacity building for 30 new labour inspectors, in particular in relation to occupational safety and health matters.

Sri Lanka

62. Technical assistance was provided in May 2007 on the issues raised by the Committee on Freedom of Association in Case No. 2519 relating to the application of Conventions Nos 87 and 98.

Tajikistan

63. A tripartite workshop combining advice on reporting procedures and a systematic review of the pending comments of the Committee of Experts was held in April 2007.

Turkmenistan

64. In April 2007, the Subregional Office in Moscow held a two-day seminar attended by representatives of various ministries, employers and trade unions, focusing on the fundamental Conventions and the information on their application that has to be included in the first reports of States that have ratified them. This was the first tripartite seminar on international labour standards organized in the country since it became a member of the ILO and the seminar was organized following the individualized approach adopted by the Office in relation to reporting requirements.

Uzbekistan

65. In Uzbekistan, a two-day capacity-building workshop on reporting brought together in November 2007 representatives of the Government and social partners for an in-depth analysis of the comments made by the Committee of Experts on the basis of the first reports received on the application of ratified Conventions.

3. Training activities

66. Regarding the part of the institutional capacity-building strategy that concerns standards, the International Labour Standards Department acts in close collaboration with the Turin Centre's training programme on standards. The training activities within this programme seek to strengthen constituents' capacity to play an active part in the standards system. They also aim to support the Office's strategy on: (a) better promotion and application of standards; (b) strengthening the supervisory system; (c) increasing the visibility of standards; and (d) help and technical cooperation concerning standards. The programme consolidated to a remarkable extent in 2007, when it ran 69 training activities. Evaluation by the participants in those activities confirmed both the value and the timeliness of the training provided.

67. Two projects on core standards continued. The first, on freedom of association, had been established to meet numerous requests for training by constituents. The second, on child labour and forced labour, sought to back up the Office's technical assistance with training. A third project, on discrimination, was set up in December 2007. It will provide training tools that can be used to follow up the global report that was issued in accordance with the Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work.

- (a) Interregional tripartite activities held in Turin. These are for different audiences and deal with the following subjects: standards and equal employment opportunities; standards and the social dimension of globalization; standards aimed at the elimination of child labour and forced labour; international labour standards and the rights of indigenous and tribal peoples; international labour standards and constitutional procedures (for Conference delegates); international labour standards for judges, jurists, legal educators and journalists. A course was held for French-speaking and Spanish-speaking countries on freedom of association and regional integration.
- (b) Regional, subregional and national activities. The main subjects, chosen in close coordination with the Turin Centre, the Office and the regions, were: writing the reports required by the Convention on child labour, for French-speaking African countries, the Caribbean and Turkey (tripartite seminar); the fight against child trafficking, for West African countries; standards for judges, jurists and legal educators in Africa, Maghreb countries, Latin America and the Caribbean (subregional); freedom of association in Latin America (civil service sector), in Africa (rural sector) and in Asia (Pacific islands, Philippines and Indonesia); the Maritime Convention, for the Portuguese-speaking countries of Africa (tripartite); the supervisory system, freedom of association and child labour, respectively, for workers (regional and national courses held in Mauritius, Philippines, Indonesia and Turin).

69. An interregional course for the Conference delegates, organized in conjunction with the International Labour Standards Department, was also held this year. The participants reckoned that the course met their professional needs: overall, the evaluation of both the technical side and the administrative side was very positive. The course's geographic and linguistic coverage was discussed and assessed in depth. With a view to increasing the number of participants in the course, it was decided to look into setting up a distance course for the target audience as well.

70. A training programme for journalists was held for the first time. It gave journalists and public relations professionals the knowledge and skills with which to draw upon standards and upon the work of the supervisory bodies, and to raise public awareness of internationally recognized social rights and of their relevance to social and labour issues. It proved a very positive experience and generated numerous articles on the application of standards at local level.

71. Lastly, the Turin Centre's training programme is running training in standards and corporate social responsibility. A module on the subject has been integrated into the interregional course on standards and globalization, and a specific course was held for tripartite constituents from Morocco and Tunisia. In addition, in 2007, training was launched for international financial institutions, notably with a seminar for the European Investment Bank.

(a) Training programmes for judges and lawyers

72. Between January and August 2007, nine training seminars for judges were held in eight of the countries covered by the Subregional Office in San José (Costa Rica, Cuba, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Mexico, Nicaragua and Panama). These seminars were aimed at strengthening knowledge of the international labour standards system and the work carried out by the supervisory bodies (in particular the Committee of Experts and the Committee on Freedom of Association) as tools for dispute settlement in labour matters at the domestic level. Emphasis was placed on the ILO's fundamental Conventions, all of which have been ratified by these countries. In Costa Rica, two seminars were held in different provinces to reach out to judges at the provincial level. Another seminar, also held in Costa Rica at the subregional level was attended by high-level judges of the supreme courts of Central American countries. In the context of this latter seminar, which benefited from the participation of two European law professors, the application of international labour standards was discussed.

73. In conjunction with the Great Lakes project on standards, and with the support of the Subregional Office in Yaoundé, in July 2007 the Turin Training Centre organized a workshop in Rwanda (Kigali) entitled "International labour law and national judicial practice", the aim of which was to provide legal professionals with the necessary tools to enable them to use international labour standards in national judicial practice. This workshop was for magistrates dealing with labour disputes, lawyers, teachers specializing in labour law, labour inspectors and assessors. It was organized around the following main themes:

- (b) international labour law instruments available to national judges and jurists;
- (c) the content and value of standards on freedom of association; and
- (d) the content of standards on non-discrimination in employment and occupation.

A similar workshop was held for magistrates in the Democratic Republic of the Congo in August 2007.

74. The Subregional Office in Santiago completed a series of courses for judges, organized in cooperation with the Judicial Academy. Nearly 100 magistrates participated in these courses which focused, among other subjects, on the ILO standard-setting process, the fundamental Conventions and the impact of international labour standards on national case law.

75. From 25 to 29 September 2007, a seminar on international labour standards for judges, lawyers and legal educators took place, in Port of Spain, sponsored and organized by the Subregional Office for the Caribbean (Port of Spain, Trinidad and Tobago) and the International Training Centre of the ILO (Turin, Italy). The seminar was attended by participants from eight different countries and included judges from national courts, industrial courts and tribunals as well as law professors and legal officers from ministries of labour. The aim of the seminar was to discuss ways of making full use of the resources of international labour law in their daily practice, contributing to better implementation of international labour standards at the national level. Participants had an opportunity to analyse the international labour standard system, the ways of incorporating international law into national case law, the ILO supervisory mechanisms that deal with the implementation of international labour standards and the relevance of international labour standards as regards freedom of association and collective bargaining as well as non-discrimination in employment and occupation, with an emphasis on termination of employment.

76. Subregional training for Central Africa on “Indigenous peoples: Rights and good practices”, was organized in Yaoundé in November 2006. The training was carried out in collaboration between the Project to Promote ILO Policy on Indigenous and Tribal Peoples (PRO 169), the Subregional Office for Central Africa and the Great Lakes region in Yaoundé and the ILO Training Centre in Turin.

77. Four training courses were organized by PRO 169 for indigenous fellows participating in the United Nations Fellowship Programme for Indigenous Peoples, administered by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights. These courses were for English-speaking, Spanish-speaking, French-speaking and Russian-speaking groups of indigenous fellows and were held at ILO headquarters in Geneva.

78. Additionally, a one-week training course was organized by PRO 169 and the Turin Centre, covering a wide range of aspects pertaining to indigenous peoples. The course attracted participants from all regions of the world, as well as an important group of high-level participants from Nepal, given the recent ratification by Nepal of the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169).

(c) Other training activities

79. A subregional training seminar for trade unionists in Burundi, the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Rwanda was organized by the ILO Bureau for Workers' Activities (ACTRAV)/Turin in June 2007. This workshop, in which the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Yaoundé participated, focused essentially on freedom of association and collective bargaining, with particular reference to the content of the relevant ILO instruments and supervisory procedures.

80. A tripartite training and working session on tripartite reporting, organized by the Subregional Office in New Delhi, took place in Afghanistan in April 2007.

81. Training seminars on the fundamental principles and rights at work were organized by the Programme to Support the Implementation of the Declaration (PAMODEC) in Cameroon (March and December 2007), Chad (October 2007), Gabon (November 2007), Mali (April 2007) and Senegal (May 2007). These tripartite activities, carried out with the support of standards specialists from the Subregional Offices in Dakar and Yaoundé, covered all the fundamental Conventions and the goal was to raise awareness among constituents and/or to build national networks of trainers on the fundamental principles and rights at work.

4. Promotional activities(a) Setting up of an effective communication strategy on international labour standards*

82. In March 2007, the Governing Body endorsed a plan of action which, amongst other things, should enhance access to the standards system and increase its visibility. With a view to streamlining the supply of reports by governments through an innovative use of information technology, this action plan will include a comprehensive proposal for the implementation of an online reporting system, which will necessitate an upgrading of two of the NORMES databases (ILOLEX and APPLIS). As for the NATLEX database, which is still the ILO database most frequently consulted by the public, a NATLEX country profile portal, giving access to all standards-related information relating to a particular member State, is now online on the Department's web site: http://www.ilo.org/dyn/natlex/country\_profiles.home. This portal mainly draws on the four databases administered by the Department to include accurate and regularly updated information by country on: the ratification of Conventions, including proposals for ratification of up to date Conventions and revised Conventions; the comments of all the supervisory bodies; basic national laws; legislative profiles and legal research links. In addition, the International Labour Standards Department's web site was updated to include a module exclusively dedicated to promoting the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006.

83. Throughout November 2007, the Office has continued to produce several tools for the dissemination of information on international labour standards to a wide audience. Between January and June 2007, the Department issued several CD-ROMs, such as: the 2007 version of its International Labour Standards Electronic Library (ILSE), which this year includes documents on the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006, including the Action Plan 2006–11; the 2007 version of the Application of International Labour Standards CD-ROM; and the 2007 Electronic Library on Freedom of Association and Collective Bargaining. Several recent publications have also been disseminated, including the new edition of the Digest of decisions and principles of the Freedom of Association Committee (fifth edition), a working paper on "Freedom of association and collective bargaining in export processing zones: Role of the ILO supervisory mechanisms”, a paper on “Gender equality and decent work: Selected ILO Conventions and Recommendations promoting gender equality” and an article on “Free trade agreements and labour rights: Recent developments”. Furthermore, following the organization of the international colloquium on the occasion of the 80th anniversary of the Committee of Experts in November 2006, the proceedings of the colloquium were published in a book entitled Protecting labour rights as human rights: Present and future of international supervision.

84. During the period in question, PRO 169, based in NORMES, continued to undertake a wide range of regional and country-specific activities to promote the application of the principles of Convention No. 169, as well as to integrate indigenous issues into other ILO activities to promote fundamental principles and rights at work. Under a project funded by the European Commission,<sup>8</sup> PRO 169 undertook the following activities: research on the protection of the rights of indigenous peoples in eight African countries; capacity building for dialogue in South Asia; and the documentation of 11 cases of good practice for the implementation of the principles of ILO Convention No. 169.

85. Other activities, primarily funded by the Danish International Development Agency, have been undertaken during this period at the international, regional and national levels. In Cambodia (with funds from the Danish Embassy in Phnom Penh), a national project is being implemented for capacity building and the development of national legislation and policies concerning indigenous and tribal peoples. Since January 2007, PRO 169 has held a national workshop on indigenous peoples and access to land (in collaboration with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights and the non-governmental organization (NGO) forum on Cambodia) and undertaken three national studies on the legal framework for land titling for indigenous communities and scaling up the titling process in Cambodia; and an analysis of the legal framework, and possible content, of a sub-decree on shifting cultivation as it relates to indigenous peoples. Work in Cambodia has been undertaken in collaboration with relevant ministries, donors, NGOs and other United Nations agencies. In Cameroon, in the context of a national project for capacity building and dialogue on indigenous issues, a needs analysis for capacity building of national partners has been undertaken as a basis for training tool development.

86. In Latin America, PRO 169, in close cooperation with the equality team and standards specialists in the region, has supported workshops in Argentina, Bolivia, Guatemala and Honduras to promote national dialogue on the implementation of Convention No. 169, along with more general promotional activities in the region.

87. With funds from the Danish mission in Geneva, a project for the integration of indigenous issues into national Poverty Reduction Strategy Paper (PRSP) processes in Cambodia, Cameroon and Nepal is under way. In this context, three national studies have been undertaken to examine concrete possibilities for the institutional and substantial integration of indigenous issues into the PRSP process. Technical advice has also been provided to relevant ministries, including the Ministry of Planning in Cameroon.

<sup>8</sup> This project includes the following components: collaboration with the African Commission on Human Rights and Peoples' Rights to undertake research on the legal protection of indigenous communities in Africa; promotion of the rights of indigenous and tribal peoples (Conventions Nos 107 and 169) as a means of conflict resolution, with special emphasis on the situation of Nepal; and documentation on best practices for the implementation of the key provisions of Convention No. 169.

88. Further work by PRO 169 has focused on examining the linkages between indigenous issues and fundamental principles and rights at work. The Handbook on combating child labour, produced in collaboration between PRO 169 and the International Programme on the Elimination of Child Labour (IPEC) in 2006, has recently been translated into French and Spanish. During the period in question, and in collaboration with the equality team in NORMES, PRO 169 has also drafted a Guide to ILO Convention No. 111 for indigenous peoples. As a complement to this work, case studies on traditional occupations of indigenous peoples have been undertaken in Bangladesh, Kenya and Nepal. In the same context, studies on the situation of indigenous women have been undertaken in Bangladesh and Nepal in collaboration with the ILO's Bureau for Gender Equality.

(c) Other promotional activities

89. A number of activities to promote the ratification of international labour Conventions were undertaken by the International Labour Standards Department. For instance, in August 2007, a technical mission took place in Indonesia and technical consultations were carried out in Singapore with a view to promoting the Seafarers' Identity Documents Convention (Revised), 2003 (No. 185).

90. As mentioned earlier on, several activities to promote the ratification of up to date Conventions were carried out by the standards specialists in the various subregional offices.

91. The Subregional Office in Budapest promoted the ratification of the Employment Service Convention, 1948 (No. 88), in Albania, the Employment Policy Convention, 1964 (No. 122), in Albania and Bulgaria, the Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144), in Croatia, and the Labour Administration Convention, 1978 (No. 150), in Romania.

92. The Subregional Office in Moscow promoted the Private Employment Agencies Convention, 1997 (No. 181), by participating in several workshops on this Convention in the Russian Federation. In Kazakhstan, a two-day seminar was held in November 2006 to promote the ratification of the Safety and Health in Construction Convention, 1988 (No. 167). Originally developed for Kazakhstan constituents, senior officials from Azerbaijan, Kyrgyzstan, Russian Federation, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan also participated in association with the initiative of the Kazakhstan Government.

93. In Azerbaijan, a round table was organized in October 2007 to consider with the constituents the prospects for ratification and application of the Workers with Family Responsibilities Convention, 1981 (No. 156).

94. The Subregional Office in New Delhi undertook several activities to promote the ratification of the Minimum Age Convention, 1973 (No. 138), and the Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment (Disabled Persons) Convention, 1983 (No. 159), in Afghanistan; the Minimum Age Convention, 1973 (No. 138), and the Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention, 1999 (No. 182), in India; the Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87), the Abolition of Forced Labour Convention, 1957 (No. 105), and the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169), in Nepal; in the Maldives, two tripartite information workshops were organized (on employment, standards and ILO constitutional obligations) to allow potential constituents to explore the benefits of ILO membership. Several promotional activities on international labour standards were carried out in Afghanistan, India, Japan and Pakistan aimed at institutions and administrations beyond ILO constituents (international financial institutions, United Nations agencies, parliaments, universities, etc.).

95. A high-level round table was organized by the Subregional Office in Budapest and NORMES in Podgorica in May 2007 on the issue of the acceptance by Montenegro of the obligations formerly entered into by the Republic of Serbia and Montenegro in respect of the ILO Conventions that it had ratified. Following this, the Government confirmed the acceptance of the 68 international labour Conventions previously applicable to its territory. Technical assistance is envisaged in 2007 and 2008 to help Montenegro fulfil its reporting obligations.

96. In August 2007, in the context of a workshop, the Subregional Office in San José provided technical advice to the Government of Nicaragua on a Bill on labour inspection, in the light of the requirements set out in the Labour Inspection Convention, 1947 (No. 81). It should be noted that the Government will consider the possibility of ratifying Convention No. 81 after the adoption of the Act on labour inspection.

97. The Subregional Office in Santiago provided continued technical support to the Tripartite Commission on Equality of Opportunity with a view to the ratification of the Workers with Family Responsibilities Convention, 1981 (No. 156), which was ratified by Paraguay subsequently.

Specific activities undertaken in collaboration with other international organizations concerning international labour standards

A. Collaboration in the field of standards

98. In the context of collaboration with other international organizations on questions concerning supervision of the application of international instruments relating to subjects of common interest, the United Nations, certain specialized agencies and other intergovernmental organizations with which the ILO has entered into special arrangements for this purpose, are asked whether they have information on how Conventions are being applied. The list of the Conventions concerned and the international organizations that were consulted is as follows:

- Indigenous and Tribal Populations Convention, 1957 (No. 107): United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), Inter-American Indian Institute of the Organization of American States, United Nations, Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) and World Health Organization (WHO);
- Radiation Protection Convention, 1960 (No. 115): International Atomic Energy Agency;
- Social Policy (Basic Aims and Standards) Convention, 1962 (No. 117): FAO, United Nations, Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights and UNESCO;
- Prevention of Accidents (Seafarers) Convention, 1970 (No. 134), and the Merchant Shipping (Minimum Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 147): International Maritime Organization (IMO);
- Rural Workers' Organisations Convention, 1975 (No. 141): FAO, United Nations and Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights;
- Human Resources Development Convention, 1975 (No. 142): UNESCO;
- Migrant Workers (Supplementary Provisions) Convention, 1975 (No. 143): United Nations, Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, UNESCO and WHO;
- Nursing Personnel Convention, 1977 (No. 149): WHO;
- Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169): FAO, Inter-American Indian Institute of the Organization of American States, United Nations, Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, UNESCO and WHO.

B. United Nations treaties concerning human rights

99. The ILO has continued to provide written reports and oral information to the bodies established to supervise the application of United Nations treaties concerning human rights, in accordance with existing arrangements with each of them. Activities have been undertaken in relation to the United Nations human rights treaty bodies responsible for supervising the application of the following instruments:

- the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights;
- the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights;
- the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women;
- the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination;
- the Convention on the Rights of the Child; and
- the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of Migrant Workers and Members of Their Families.

100. As a result of these efforts, the United Nations human rights treaty bodies continued to refer to information provided by the ILO and recommended measures that follow up the comments of the Committee of Experts and other ILO supervisory bodies. In some instances, the United Nations treaty bodies recommended the ratification of specific ILO Conventions.

101. The Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD) was adopted by the United Nations General Assembly, on 13 December 2006, and opened for signature on 30 March 2007. Twenty ratifications are required for its entry into force. As of 31 December 2007, the Convention had 121 signatories and 14 ratifications. The Office participated actively in the drafting process of this new human rights Convention. This instrument deals with matters relating to equal treatment, education, training, work and employment. The Convention provides for the establishment of a Committee on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities to monitor its implementation. Specialized agencies may participate in the work of the Committee in relation to areas falling within their competence.

102. The Office continued to follow the developments with regard to the elaboration of an optional protocol to the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights. It delivered a statement on this matter to the Human Rights Council on 12 December 2007.

C. Other matters relating to human rights

103. The ILO participated actively in the sixth session of the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues in May 2007. The ILO's contributions focused on discrimination in employment and occupation against indigenous and tribal peoples and promoting awareness of Convention No. 111 as an instrument to address these issues.

104. On 13 September 2007, the General Assembly adopted the Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. The instrument deals with a wide range of matters covered by the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169), and other international labour standards. The Declaration envisages that the specialized agencies promote respect for and full application of its provisions. In September 2007, the Office attended the annual meeting of the Inter-Agency support group on indigenous issues in Montreal, Canada.

D. European Social Charter

105. In accordance with Article 26 of the European Social Charter, the ILO participates in an advisory capacity in the sessions of the European Committee of Social Rights responsible for supervising the application of the Charter and the revised Charter.

Appendix 1. General information

I. Membership of the Organization

Brunei Darussalam and the Marshall Islands became Members of the ILO on 17 January and 3 July 2007, respectively, thus bringing the Organization's membership up to 181.

II. Information on ratifications, denunciations, declarations of application and notifications

Ratifications

Since 1 January 2007, 35 ratifications of international labour Conventions have been registered bringing the total number of ratifications to 7,536 as of 31 December 2007. In addition, two ratifications of Protocols have also been registered.

In addition, by a letter of 28 May 2007, the Government of Montenegro stated that it remained bound by the obligations deriving from the 68 Conventions applicable on its territory before the Republic of Montenegro became a Member of the International Labour Organization. These ratifications have been registered as of 3 June 2006, the effective date of the independence of Montenegro.

Denunciations

The Director-General registered, on 25 July 2007, the denunciation from Slovakia of the Fee-Charging Employment Agencies Convention, 1933 (No. 34).

The Director-General registered, on 6 December 2007, the denunciation from Estonia of the Underground Work (Women) Convention, 1935 (No. 45).

Denunciations resulting from the ratification of a more recent Convention in the same subject area

The ratifications Registered by the Director-General in 2007 implied the following 6 automatic denunciations.

Following the ratification of Convention No. 138 by the Czech Republic, Conventions Nos 5 and 10 were automatically denounced.

Following the ratification of Convention No. 138 by Estonia, Conventions Nos 5, 7, 10 and 15 were automatically denounced.

Notification

Country profiles *

The following country profiles provide information on the ratification and application of Conventions and on the submission of instruments adopted by the Conference to the competent authorities in a table format by country.

The ratifications section indicates which fundamental Conventions, priority Conventions, and other Conventions a country has ratified as of 31 December 2007. It does not list Conventions which have been denounced or which are not in force.

The section on reports requested indicates how many reports were requested from the country in 2007 and how many were received. Under articles 22 and 35 of the ILO Constitution, member States are required to submit reports at regular intervals on the application of Conventions which they have ratified or declared applicable to their territories. If a report requested was a first detailed report (which is required following the ratification of a Convention), the number of the Convention appears in parentheses.

The section on observations made by employers' and workers' organizations indicates for which Conventions comments were received by such organizations on reports submitted to them by governments. Article 23 of the Constitution requires each member State to communicate to the representative employers' and workers' organizations copies of the information and reports communicated under articles 19 and 22.

The section concerning comments of the Committee of Experts indicates what comments the Committee made during its session in 2007. It lists either "observations", which are published in the report of the Committee of Experts, or "direct requests", which are not published, but are communicated directly to the governments concerned. The list does not include comments made by the Committee in previous sessions for which action by governments is still requested.

The section on submissions indicates the sessions of the International Labour Conference of which adopted instruments have, or have not, been submitted by governments to the authority or authorities competent to consider further action, as required under article 19 of the Constitution. The number of the Conventions, Recommendations or Protocols are given in parentheses, preceded by the letter "C", "R", or "P" as the case may be, when only some of the texts adopted at any one session have been submitted. When the ratification of a Convention was registered, that Convention and the corresponding Recommendation are considered as submitted.

* Following the discussion on this part of the report of the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards (ILC, 96th Session, June 2007), the Office is examining the most appropriate way to bring the necessary changes in future editions by incorporating information from the country profiles of the NATLEX database: http://www.ilo.org/dyn/natlex/country\_profiles.home.
