Reader's note

The Information document on ratifications and standards-related activities (Report III (Part 2)) provides an overview of developments in international labour standards during 2009. It supplements the information contained in the report of the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations (Report III) (Part 1A). Part I provides general information on recent developments concerning international labour standards, constitutional and other procedures in relation to the supervision of standards, and technical assistance in the field of standards. Part II provides information on the ratification of individual Conventions and Protocols in table format. Part III contains “country profiles” which bring together information on the ratification and application of Conventions and on the submission of instruments adopted by the International Labour Conference to the competent authorities in a table format by country.

Part I. General information on international labour standards

Standards policy

A. Improvements to standards-related activities

1. Implications of the Social Justice Declaration on the standards strategy and update on the implementation of the interim plan of action

1. It will be recalled that in its regular discussions on improvements in the standards-related activities of the ILO, the Governing Body in its 298th Session (November 2005) ¹ adopted a standards strategy comprising four components: (1) developing, updating and promoting of ILO standards (standards policy); (2) strengthening the supervisory system; (3) enhancing the impact of the standards system through technical assistance and technical cooperation; and (4) achieving broader visibility of the standards system. An interim plan of action to implement this strategy was approved by the Governing Body at its 300th Session (November 2007). ²

2. In November 2008, the Governing Body began an examination of the possible implications of the ILO Declaration on Social Justice for a Fair Globalization (the “Social Justice Declaration”) adopted by the International Labour Conference in its 97th Session (June 2008). ³ It became clear that the potential implications of the Social Justice Declaration concern the four components of the standards strategy. The Governing Body adopted decisions on two immediate implications: promotion of the standards that are most significant from the viewpoint of governance (the four priority Conventions); and the linking of General Surveys with the recurrent discussions, ⁴ including the report forms submitted under article 19 of the Constitution of the ILO (article 19 report forms). It also began an examination of the question of the streamlining of reporting under articles 19 and 22 of the Constitution in response to the request to synchronize reporting, made in the resolution adopted at the same time as the Social Justice Declaration. ⁵

³ GB.303/LILS/4/1 and GB.303/12.

⁴ The recurrent discussions by the International Labour Conference aim at reviewing the trends relating to each strategic objective in order to strengthen the link between needs of Members and action taken by the Organization to respond to those needs (through standards-related action, technical cooperation and the technical and research capacity of the Office).

⁵ ILO: Resolution on strengthening the ILO’s capacity to assist its Members’ efforts to reach its objectives in the context of globalization, International Labour Conference, 97th Session, Geneva, 2008.

3. Following this discussion, the Governing Body invited the Office to: launch a promotional campaign for the ratification and effective implementation of the standards that are the most significant from the viewpoint of governance; prepare an evaluation of the grouping of Conventions by subject for reporting purposes that was introduced in 2003; and propose new options for a global approach to streamlining reports submitted under article 22, taking into account the decisions taken at the Governing Body's November 2008 and March 2009 sessions relating to the follow-up to the Social Justice Declaration. It also invited the Office to: report on the tripartite consultations concerning the Termination of Employment Convention (No. 158), and Recommendation (No. 166), 1982; take the necessary steps to hold consultations on standards policy before March 2009; and report in March 2009 on the steps taken for the implementation of the interim plan of action. Lastly, it invited the Office to submit a progress report in November 2009 on the review of the article 22 report forms.

4. In addition, after examining the issue of the dynamics of the supervisory system for a second time, the Governing Body requested the Office to complete the overview of the functioning of the supervisory system with a study on the interpretation of international labour Conventions.⁶

5. In March 2009, the Governing Body continued its discussion on the implications of the Social Justice Declaration.⁷ It invited the Office to prepare a report setting out a final plan of action for implementing the standards strategy, including: a specific plan of action for a promotional campaign for the ratification and effective implementation of the standards that are the most significant from the point of view of governance; the various elements of the standards policy concerning the supervisory system; and standards policy options in the light of tripartite consultations. It also asked the Office to organize a meeting of a tripartite working group of experts to examine the Termination of Employment Convention (No. 158), and the Termination of Employment Recommendation (No. 166), 1982.

6. The parts of the interim plan of action still to be developed before it can be finalized concern standards policy and the supervisory system, as the elements relating to technical cooperation and to information and communication were completed in November 2007. In November 2009, the Office submitted to the Governing Body, in accordance with its request: a plan of action to promote wide ratification and effective implementation of the standards that are most significant from the point of view of governance;⁸ an evaluation of the grouping of Conventions by subject for the purpose of submitting reports under article 22, along with new options for a global approach to streamlining the submission of reports; an evaluation of follow-up in cases of serious failure to comply with reporting obligations; and the result of a review of article 22 report forms for the fundamental Conventions.⁹

7. The Governing Body invited the Office: to facilitate the continuation of consultations on standards policy and to start consultations on the issue of the interpretation of international labour Conventions; to organize, in 2010, a meeting of a tripartite working group of experts to examine Convention No. 158 and Recommendation No. 166; to submit a plan of action for the promotion of the occupational safety and health instruments (Convention No. 155, its 2002 Protocol and/or Convention No. 187); to submit a plan of action for the ratification and effective implementation of all the fundamental Conventions; to take the necessary action to implement a grouping of Conventions by strategic objective for reporting purposes, with a three-year cycle for fundamental and governance Conventions and a five-year cycle for the technical Conventions, and to request the CEACR to review the criteria on the basis of which it will examine comments received from the social partners outside of that cycle; and to seek advice from the tripartite constituents on the need to revise the report forms concerning Convention No. 29 and Convention No. 105 and to report back to the Committee.

2. Instrument of Amendment to the ILO Constitution of 1997

8. The 1997 Instrument of Amendment to the ILO Constitution, the purpose of which is to enable the Conference to abrogate Conventions that have become obsolete, will enter into force once it has been ratified or accepted by two-thirds of the Members of the Organization (122/183). A campaign for ratification has been launched with a view to promoting the entry into force of this Instrument of Amendment, which has to date received 113 ratifications or acceptances. The last acceptance, that of Cameroon, was registered on 18 December 2009.¹⁰

B. New standard considered by the International Labour Conference at its 98th Session (June 2009)

9. At its 298th Session in March 2007, the Governing Body decided to place an item on HIV/AIDS and the world of work on the agenda of the 98th Session of the International Labour Conference for a double discussion leading to the adoption of an autonomous Recommendation. It was decided that it was necessary to adopt an international labour standard in the form of an autonomous Recommendation on this subject in order to increase the attention devoted to the subject at the national and international levels, to promote united action among the key actors on HIV/AIDS, and to increase the impact of the ILO code of practice on HIV/AIDS and the world of work adopted in 2001 and other action, as well as to review developments since 2001.

10. In June 2009, the Committee on HIV/AIDS adopted a comprehensive set of conclusions by consensus. The conclusions address the issues of scope, definitions and general principles, as well as the content of national policies and programmes on HIV/AIDS and the world of work. In addition, specific means of implementation and follow-up are identified. The conclusions make specific reference to the existing relevant international labour standards on discrimination, termination of employment, occupational safety and health, and child labour.

11. The Conference decided that an item entitled “HIV/AIDS and the world of work” should be included on the agenda of its 99th Session for a second discussion with a view to the adoption of a Recommendation. In accordance with the Standing Orders of the Conference, the Office has prepared a draft Recommendation which has been communicated to governments for comments.¹¹

¹⁰ See the list of countries that have ratified or accepted the Instrument of Amendment in Appendix II.

¹¹ See Report V(1), HIV/AIDS and the world of work, International Labour Conference, 99th Session, 2010.

C. Standards-related items placed on the agenda of the Conference (2010 and 2011)

12. In addition to the second discussion with a view to the adoption of the Recommendation on HIV/AIDS in the world of work, the agenda of the 99th Session of the Conference should also contain a first discussion on the issue of decent work for domestic workers. Furthermore, as part of the follow-up to the Social Justice Declaration, the Governing Body decided at its November 2008 session that the first recurrent discussion would be held in 2010 on the strategic objective of employment.¹²

13. The agenda of the 100th Session of Conference should include a second discussion on the item “Decent work for domestic workers” with a view to standard setting. In addition, in March 2009, the Governing Body also decided to include on the agenda of the 100th Session of the Conference a recurrent discussion item on “The strategic objective of social protection (social security)”.¹³ The Governing Body deferred the selection of the third technical item to complete the agenda until March 2010.

Constitutional and other procedures

A. Measures taken under article 33 of the ILO Constitution: The question of the observance by Myanmar of the Forced Labour Convention, 1930 (No. 29)

14. Following a complaint filed pursuant to article 26 of the Constitution, alleging the non-observance by Myanmar of the Forced Labour Convention, 1930 (No. 29), the Governing Body decided to establish a Commission of Inquiry. The Commission concluded, in its report published in 1998, that the obligation under Article 1, paragraph 1, of the Convention to suppress the use of forced or compulsory labour was being violated in Myanmar both in national legislation and in practice in a widespread and systematic manner, and it made a series of recommendations.

15. As the Government failed to take the necessary steps to implement the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry, the ILC adopted at its 87th Session (June 1999) a resolution on the widespread use of forced labour, according to which Myanmar should cease to benefit from any technical cooperation or assistance from the ILO, except for the purpose of direct assistance to implement immediately the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry. The following year, the ILC adopted a new resolution, under article 33 of the Constitution, inviting the Organization's constituents to review their relations with Myanmar and take appropriate measures to ensure that Myanmar cannot take advantage of such relations to perpetuate or extend the system of forced or compulsory labour referred to by the Commission of Inquiry.

16. Several technical missions visited Myanmar in 2000 and 2001 and an Understanding on an objective assessment by the ILO was signed in May 2001 between the Organization and the Government of Myanmar. Under this Understanding, the Government agreed to receive a high-level team appointed to assess, with full independence and freedom of movement, the realities of the forced labour situation. The Government also accepted the appointment of an ILO Liaison Officer in Myanmar, whose role covers all activities relevant to ensuring the prompt and effective elimination of forced labour. The post of Liaison Officer has been in existence since October 2002.

17. In May 2003, the Government and the ILO agreed on a joint plan of action on the elimination of forced labour practices in Myanmar, which could not be implemented in view of events that occurred at the national level. In November 2004, the Governing Body requested that a very high-level team be sent to the country to evaluate the attitude of the authorities in Myanmar and their willingness to continue to cooperate with the ILO.

18. In February 2005, the very high-level mission considered that the conditions were not conducive to the effective discharge of its mandate and it submitted to the authorities, before leaving the country, an aide-memoire outlining the measures that should be taken to improve the situation. In October 2005, consultations were held between a representative of the Director-General and the Liaison Officer, on the one hand, and the Minister of Labour, on the other. On this occasion, the authorities indicated that Myanmar did not wish to engage in any debate on the measures recommended by the very high-level mission or on the joint plan of action in so far as the only acceptable mechanism for dealing with complaints of forced labour was the actual presence of the ILO in the country. At the 294th Session of the Governing Body

(November 2005), many members expressed their deep concern about the deteriorating situation in Myanmar and a number of them indicated that, under the circumstances, the only possible solution for the Organization was to entrust to the Conference itself the task of reviewing the measures adopted, under article 33 of the Constitution, in the Conference's resolution of 2000.

19. Accordingly, the Governing Body placed the following item on the agenda of the 95th Session of the ILC (May–June 2006): “Review of possible further action by the ILO in accordance with its Constitution in order: (i) to effectively secure Myanmar's compliance with the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry, and (ii) to ensure that no action is taken against complainants or their representatives”. At that session, the Conference examined the various options that it might consider adopting to ensure compliance with the Convention, including the possibility of the ILO seeking an advisory opinion from the International Court of Justice. At its 297th Session (November 2006), the Governing Body expressed great frustration that the Myanmar authorities had not been able to agree on a mechanism to deal with complaints of forced labour.

20. On 26 February 2007, the ILO and the Government of Myanmar signed a Supplementary Understanding to establish a complaints mechanism, aimed at giving victims of forced labour the opportunity to channel their complaints through the services of the Liaison Officer to the competent authorities with a view to seeking redress. Both the Governing Body and the ILC, at its 96th Session (May–June 2007), while welcoming the implementation of this mechanism, emphasized that it was vital to ensure that the mechanism function efficiently and that the Liaison Officer had the necessary staff resources to discharge adequately the responsibilities that the position entailed.

21. In November 2007, at its 300th Session, the Governing Body called on the Government of Myanmar to make at the highest level an unambiguous public statement that all forms of forced labour are prohibited throughout the country and that those using it would be duly punished. The Governing Body also called on the Government to ensure: that the mechanism provided by the Supplementary Understanding remains fully functional at the national level; that forced labour victims are able to access the complaints mechanism easily; and that there are no further detentions or acts of harassment against complainants, facilitators or others. The Governing Body reiterated all these requests in March and November 2008 (302nd and 303rd Sessions).

22. In February 2009, the trial period of the complaints mechanism under the Supplementary Understanding was extended for another year, until 25 February 2010. In March and November 2009 (304th and 306th Sessions), the Governing Body acknowledged a certain degree of cooperation from the Government to make the complaints mechanism function. However, it called upon the Government to strengthen the capacity of the ILO in the framework of the Supplementary Understanding so that complaints could be dealt with throughout the country. It also called for the immediate release of all persons currently detained being complainants, facilitators and other persons associated with the complaints mechanism. In June 2010, the ILC considered that the steps taken by the Government were totally inadequate, and again emphasized the need for the Government to work proactively towards the full implementation of the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry appointed by the Governing Body in March 1997. In its last observation, the Committee of Experts also urged the Government to give credence to its expressed commitment to eliminate the use of forced labour in Myanmar and take the long overdue steps that are required to implement the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry and achieve compliance with the Convention in law and in practice.

B. Representation submitted under article 24 of the ILO Constitution

23. Representations may be filed under article 24 of the Constitution by industrial associations of employers or workers, alleging that a member State that has ratified a Convention has failed to secure within its jurisdiction the effective observance of that Convention. Once declared receivable, representations are examined by a tripartite committee established by the Governing Body. Their findings are followed up by the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations. The table below indicates developments concerning representations in 2009.

Country	Conventions	Complainant organization	Status of the representation
Brazil	Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169)	Union of Engineers of the Federal District (SENGE/DF)	Report adopted by the Governing Body at its 304th Session (March 2009)
Japan	Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment (Disabled Persons) Convention, 1983 (No. 159); Private Employment Agencies Convention, 1997 (No. 181)	National Union of Welfare and Childcare Workers Japan Community Union Federation	Report adopted by the Governing Body at its 304th Session (March 2009) Pending: representation declared receivable by the Governing Body at its 306th Session (November 2009) and tripartite committee set up

Russian Federation	Recruitment and Placement of Seafarers Convention, 1996 (No. 179)	Federation of Maritime Transport Trade Unions (FPRMT)	Pending: representation declared receivable by the Governing Body at its 300th Session (November 2007) and tripartite committee set up

C. Complaints submitted under article 26 of the ILO Constitution

24. Complaints may be filed under article 26 of the Constitution alleging that a member State that has ratified a Convention is not securing its effective observance. Complaints may be filed by another member State that has ratified the same Convention. The Governing Body may initiate the procedure either of its own motion or upon receipt of a complaint from a delegate to the ILC. The Governing Body may appoint a Commission of Inquiry to consider the complaint. Findings of the Commission of Inquiry are followed up by the Committee of Experts or the Committee on Freedom of Association.

Complaint against Belarus

25. It will be recalled that at its 288th Session (November 2003), the Governing Body established a Commission of Inquiry to examine the implementation by Belarus of the Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise Convention, 1948 (No. 87), and the Right to Organise and Collective Bargaining Convention, 1949 (No. 98). The Governing Body noted the report of the Commission of Inquiry at its 291st Session (November 2004). The Governing Body entrusted the Committee on Freedom of Association with the responsibility of supervising and following up the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry, as well as the Committee of Experts in its periodic review of these Conventions.

26. At its November 2008 session, the Committee on Freedom of Association examined for the fourth time the measures taken by the Government of Belarus with a view to giving effect to the Commission of Inquiry's recommendations (352nd Report, November 2008) and while it noted some positive steps taken by the Government, it regretted that the situation in Belarus remained far from ensuring full respect for freedom of association and that several recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry had still not been implemented. In November 2008 and March 2009, the Governing Body had before it information documents on the issue of trade union rights in Belarus.

27. In June 2009, the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards observed with interest the Government's cooperation with the ILO. In particular, it took note of the seminar on anti-union discrimination held in Minsk in June 2008 and welcomed the fact that it had given rise to an open and frank discussion of the trade union situation in Belarus. The Conference Committee also welcomed the outcome of a tripartite seminar on the implementation of the Commission of Inquiry's recommendations organized jointly by the ILO and the Government of Belarus in January 2009 and, in particular, the plan of action to implement the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry. The Conference Committee considered that the measures undertaken by the Government and the will to address the outstanding recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry constituted certain progress which, if sustained and transformed into tangible advances towards freedom of association in practice, could become an important contribution towards the application of the Convention. The Conference Committee expressed its concern, however, that these steps might remain only a matter of process and not give rise to substantive improvements if none of the legislative amendments requested by the Commission of Inquiry were adopted. In light of the continued commitment to social dialogue expressed by the Government, the Conference Committee encouraged it to redouble its efforts to ensure full freedom of association in close cooperation with all the social partners and with the assistance of the ILO and requested the Government to furnish information to the Office on the progress made in this regard for examination by the Committee of Experts. The Government's report was examined by the Committee of Experts at its 2009 session.

Complaint against Zimbabwe

28. In June 2008, the Conference Committee requested the Government of Zimbabwe to come before it to discuss the application of Convention No. 87. As was the case the year before, the Government refused to participate in the discussion in the Conference Committee. The strong conclusions of the Conference Committee included a call for the use of article 26 of the Constitution and a call upon the Governing Body to establish a Commission of Inquiry. Two article 26 complaints were submitted by a number of Workers' delegates and a number of Employers' delegates.

29. At its 303rd Session (November 2008), the Governing Body established a Commission of Inquiry to examine the implementation by Zimbabwe of Conventions Nos 87 and 98. In accordance with established practice, the various supervisory bodies suspended examination of the matters which were referred to the Commission of Inquiry. The Commission of Inquiry completed its work and adopted its report on 18 December 2009. This report will be submitted to the Governing Body at its 307th Session (March 2010).

D. Special procedure concerning freedom of association

30. At its last meetings (March, June and November 2009), the Committee on Freedom of Association had before it more than 178 cases concerning some 47 countries from all parts of the world, for which it presented interim or final conclusions, or for which the examination was adjourned pending the arrival of information from governments (353rd, 354th and 355th Reports). Many of these cases have been before the Committee on Freedom of Association on more than one occasion. Moreover, more than 81 new cases have been submitted to it since the last meeting of the Committee of Experts. The Committee on Freedom of Association has drawn the attention of the Committee of Experts to the legislative aspects of the following cases: Belgium (Case No. 2529), Brazil (Cases Nos 2635, 2636 and 2646), Chile (Case No. 2649), Colombia (Case No. 2662), El Salvador (Case No. 2655), Indonesia (Case No. 2585), Japan (Cases Nos 2177 and 2183), Malaysia (Case No. 2301), Pakistan (Cases Nos 2096, 2229, 2399 and 2520) and Poland (Cases Nos 2395 and 2474).

Technical assistance

Standards-related technical assistance and technical cooperation by the International Labour Standards Department and subregional offices

1. Follow-up missions to the conclusions adopted by the Conference at its previous sessions

Colombia

31. At its meeting in June 2009, the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards examined the application of Convention No. 87 by Colombia. On that occasion, the Committee recalled the need to ensure that all investigations into acts of violence against trade union leaders and members were carried out rapidly and efficiently and urged the Government to put an end to the current situation of violence and impunity through the continued implementation and innovation of effective measures and policies. The Committee expressed the firm hope that the Government would adopt the necessary measures to bring legislation and practice into conformity with Convention No. 87 and invited the Government to continue receiving ILO assistance with respect to all pending matters. As a follow-up to examination of the case by the Conference Committee, the Government invited the Director of the International Labour Standards Department to visit the country in order to observe progress in implementing the Conference Committee's conclusions and developments in the implementation of the 2006 Tripartite Agreement on Freedom of Association and Democracy.

32. Within its mandate, and pursuant to the conclusions of the Conference Committee, a mission visited the country in October 2009 with the aim of receiving, as a priority, information on: (1) measures taken to combat both violence affecting the trade union movement and impunity; (2) the legislative questions referred to by the Committee of Experts; and (3) the functioning of the Special Committee for the Handling of Conflicts referred to the ILO (CETCOIT). Before the mission left the country, the Ministry of Social Protection delivered a written communication to the mission, in which it provided the following information in relation to the matters that had been examined: (a) with regard to Case No. 1787 before the Committee on Freedom of Association, the Government states that: "It is vitally important to shed light on acts of violence against trade union officials and unionized workers. In this regard, the Government undertakes to allocate the financial resources necessary to strengthen the Trade Union Members Sub-unit of the Human Rights Unit of the Office of the Attorney-General of the Nation and of the Specialist Judges of the Higher Council of the Judiciary, in order to enable investigations into the acts of violence alleged in Case No. 1787 to be completed." In the same communication, it also states that "the Government, with ILO assistance, will enter into dialogue with workers' organizations on the criteria needed to collate information on acts of violence against the trade union movement, for transmission to the investigating authorities in support of their investigations"; (b) on the issue of protection for trade unionists, the Government's communication states: "With regard to preventive measures aimed at averting new acts of violence against trade union leaders and workers, the Government undertakes to maintain the protection programme and to continue allocating resources to finance it, and states that, irrespective of which body is charged with undertaking protection measures, responsibility for the programme will always rest with the State"; (c) with regard to the legislative questions highlighted by the Committee of Experts, the Government states “that it is prepared to participate, within the framework of the Standing Negotiation Committee on Labour and Wage Policies, in tripartite analysis of the legislative discrepancies pending before the ILO’s supervisory bodies”; and (d) with regard to the functioning of the CETCOIT, the communication states that: (i) the CETCOIT represents a special and particularly valuable forum for building trust between the social partners; (ii) the Government supports the strengthening of the process and, to that end, will allocate the necessary resources to enable a university to follow the process for one year, which will help facilitate the resolution of cases before the CETCOIT; and (iii) the possibility of a preliminary contacts mission, as provided for in the rules of procedure of the Committee on Freedom of Association, will be examined, as the Government is committed to implementing any mechanism that could improve labour relations in the country. The Committee of Experts examined the report of the mission at its last meeting (2009).

Egypt

33. During the discussion of the application of Convention No. 87, by Egypt, in June 2008 the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards urged the Government to take tangible steps in the very near future to ensure that all workers could be ensured the full enjoyment of their fundamental right to freely organize and, in particular, to guarantee the independence of trade union organizations and the elimination of all forms of interference in workers’ organizations. In that context, the Conference Committee invited the Government to accept an ILO technical assistance mission. A mission visited Egypt from 21 to 23 April 2009. At the end of the visit, the Government and the social partners signed a Memorandum of Understanding under which the Government undertook to organize a seminar in July 2009 with broad participation of the social partners and other organizations concerned on freedom of association and collective bargaining with a view to discussing, among other matters, the comments of the Committee of Experts regarding the application of Conventions Nos 87 and 98. The Government informed the Office that it wished to postpone the event. New dates are being discussed with the Government.

Guatemala

34. A high-level mission, consisting of the Employer and Worker spokespersons of the Conference Committee visited Guatemala in February 2009, as requested by the Conference Committee following the discussions in June 2008 on the application of Conventions Nos 87 and 98 in June 2008. The Conference Committee again discussed the application of Convention No. 87 by Guatemala during its meeting in June 2009 and noted, inter alia, from the conclusions of the high-level mission that, while additional resources had been placed in the investigatory mechanisms for combating impunity, further measures and resources were clearly necessary. The Conference Committee again called for further technical assistance and cooperation for the Government with the aim of agreeing with the social partners upon a road map to ensure the improved application of the Convention. A technical assistance mission went to Guatemala in November 2009. The Committee of Experts examined the full report of the high-level mission as well as the report of the technical assistance mission at its 2009 session.

Uganda

35. A technical assistance mission visited Uganda in July 2009 pursuant to the conclusions of the Conference Committee in June 2008 regarding the comments of the Committee of Experts concerning the application of the Labour Inspection Convention, 1947 (No. 81), on the one hand, and the request made by the tripartite delegation of Uganda to the Conference in June 2009, regarding the application of Conventions

Nos 138 and 182 on child labour, on the other. The mission was received by the Minister of Labour and senior officials of the Ministry of Labour, and held several meetings with representatives of other state organs at various levels, as well as with representatives of employers and workers. Visits were also carried out to the offices of the labour inspectorate in Kampala and Jinja, as well as to two major food processing and production enterprises run by foreign investors. The mission's report was submitted to the Committee of Experts at its 2009 session.

2. Technical assistance in reporting and other standards-related obligations

36. It would be appropriate to recall that since June 2005 the Conference Committee and the Committee of Experts have strengthened, with the assistance of the Office, the follow-up concerning serious failure by member States to comply with their reporting obligations and other standards-related obligations. Hence, the International Labour Standards Department, in close collaboration with the subregional offices, has organized technical assistance activities in light of what had been observed by the two Committees at their respective sessions.¹⁴ The activities that took place during the course of 2009 to ensure that member States comply with their obligations in this field, including those carried out in the framework of this follow-up, are listed below.

Africa

37. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Dakar conducted a series of workshops on standards-related constitutional obligations in the countries covered by the Office, in particular Burkina Faso (November), Cape Verde (November), Gambia (January) and Togo (November). Furthermore, a workshop focusing more specifically on the issues of the right to strike, essential services and minimum service was organized in Mali on the basis of the comments of the Committee of Experts in this regard.

38. A Sub-Regional Tripartite Workshop on Constitutional Obligations with particular focus on reporting obligations was carried out in Pretoria from 30 September to 2 October. This activity was carried out at the request of the Pretoria Office in view of the fact that such an exercise had not been undertaken in the countries covered by this Office for some time. The objective of the workshop was to train ILO tripartite constituents from Botswana, Lesotho, Namibia, South Africa and Swaziland, particularly from the Government side, on reporting obligations to ensure quality and systematic reporting. All article 22 reports that were due for the 2009 session of the Committee of Experts were subsequently sent in by all the countries participating in this activity, with the exception of one.

Arab States

39. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Beirut conducted a series of tripartite workshops on the preparation of reports and responses to the comments of the Committee of Experts. The following countries were involved in these workshops: Iraq, Jordan, Syrian Arab Republic and Yemen. The standards specialist also provided technical assistance to the new official in charge of producing reports at the Lebanese Ministry of Labour. This assistance consisted of intensive training on international labour standards and Lebanon's constitutional obligations arising from them.

¹⁴ The Committee of Experts reviews this follow-up in its General Report, with emphasis on the main difficulties encountered by countries (see paras 15–22 of the General Report of the Committee of Experts).

Americas

40. The standards specialist of the ILO Office in Brasilia has continued to provide technical support to the Ministry of Labour of Brazil in respect of the submission of Conventions and Recommendations to the competent authorities, in accordance with the Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144).

41. The Subregional Office in Lima has continued to support the Ministry of Labour of the Plurinational State of Bolivia in its efforts to strengthen its reporting capacities. Thus, in March, the standards specialist carried out an awareness-raising activity with the new Minister of Labour on the importance of the preparation and communication of reports, as well as a training seminar for the various departments of the Ministry on the preparation of reports. He also provided support on an individual basis to the two civil servants directly responsible for drafting reports. The aim was to highlight the importance for labour ministries of the preparation of reports as a tool of good governance which facilitates a review of activities and allows conclusions to be drawn regarding priorities for future actions. Following these activities, the Plurinational State of Bolivia sent the report due under article 19 of the Constitution (which it had not done for several years), as well as almost all the reports on the application of ratified Conventions. It should be noted that these initiatives benefited from the support of the Support Programme for Decent Work in the Plurinational State of Bolivia.

42. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Lima has continued to provide technical support to the Ministry of Labour of Peru and the National Council for Labour and Employment Promotion (CNTPE, a tripartite social dialogue body) in respect of the submission of Conventions and Recommendations to the competent authorities in accordance with Convention No. 144. In that context, a tripartite seminar was held in August on Convention No. 188 and Recommendation No. 199 on work in the fishing sector, so as to provide the social partners with the technical knowledge necessary in order to come to a decision regarding those instruments.

43. Also in Peru, as the result of an initiative launched by the ACTRAV specialist, with the technical support of the standards specialist of the Subregional Office, a working group on international labour standards (bringing together legal experts from the four Peruvian trade union confederations) was set up at the beginning of 2009. Its aim is to facilitate the participation of trade union confederations in the supervisory mechanisms. In this context, the Peruvian trade union confederations prepared comments on the application of Conventions Nos 81, 105 and 151, pursuant to article 23, paragraph 2, of the ILO Constitution, as well as responses to the article 19 questionnaire on the employment standards.

44. In August, in the framework of the individualized follow-up, the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Santiago de Chile held a seminar on reporting and other standards-related obligations in Paraguay, which had been mentioned in the report of the Conference Committee in 2009 as one of the countries with persistent difficulties in complying with reporting obligations. The training placed special emphasis on the pending comments of the Committee of Experts and the reporting schedule for article 22 and article 19 reports. Technical advice was provided on how to mobilize information and statistics that exist in other ministries so as to provide full information and reply to the comments of the supervisory bodies. All 21 reports which are due this year under articles 22 and 19 have been prepared and drafted. A follow-up mission took place in August in order to provide guidance on the difficulties encountered by government officials in the drafting of the reports and to help finalize them. As a result, 16 of the 21 reports due and one first report were sent to the Office by the end of August.

45. In May, a subregional workshop on international labour standards and constitutional obligations was held in Panama for Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama targeting the government officials effectively responsible for preparing reports and those who provide substantive information for them. The object of the workshop was to help the countries fulfil their constitutional obligations of reporting and replying to the comments of the supervisory bodies.

46. A subregional workshop on reporting on international labour standards was held in August in Saint Lucia, for member countries of the Organization of the Eastern Caribbean States (OECS) with 17 participants from the following six countries: Antigua and Barbuda, Dominica, Grenada, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Saint Lucia and Saint Vincent and the Grenadines. Some of these countries had been mentioned repeatedly in the report of the Conference Committee for failure to fulfil their reporting obligations. The workshop focused on the regular reporting obligations for Conventions Nos 100 and 111 on equality of opportunity and treatment. Detailed explanations were provided on the content of these instruments, the reporting obligations and cycles, and how to find information on the reports due and on international labour standards through the ILO web site. An overview of ILO action in the area of occupational safety and health (OSH) was also provided, including a review of the discussions related to the General Survey on OSH, during the 98th Session of the ILC in June 2009. It included an interactive discussion of the challenges related to inspection and enforcement. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office for the Caribbean undertook two follow-up missions to Grenada and Saint Kitts and Nevis to provide further guidance and support with the difficulties encountered in the preparation of the reports due. As a result, 66 of the 75 reports due by OECS countries were received before the Committee's meeting, including ten first reports.

47. The standards specialist in Port-of-Spain also carried out an individualized follow-up of the reports received from each of the 13 Caribbean countries and eight non-metropolitan territories, which led to a significant increase in the number of reports received for the 2009 session of the Committee of Experts.

3. Training activities

(a) Activities developed in collaboration with the International Training Centre in Turin

48. Collaboration with the International Training Centre in Turin was strengthened with a view to developing a training programme combining technical expertise and active training methods in the field of international labour standards. Thus, in 2009, the Turin Centre pursued its training activities with the aim of supporting constituents in implementing standards. The Turin Centre's programme on standards operates in full coordination with the International Labour Standards Department and its activities contribute to implementing the four components of the standards strategy.

49. A total of 34 training activities in the area of standards have been carried out. Twenty of those activities were held at the interregional level and dealt with the principal current issues for which training needs have emerged at the international level. These interregional courses, mainly tripartite in nature, are offered in a number of languages and cover standards procedures, as well as specific topics such as equality at work, the social dimension of globalization, the use of international labour standards in national legal systems, freedom of association and the social dimension of regional integration, the rights of indigenous and tribal workers, and the fight against child labour and forced labour. The work of the bodies supervising the application of standards is one of the priority factors taken into consideration in selecting participants for these interregional courses. Fourteen training activities have been developed at the regional and subregional levels at the request of constituents or ILO field offices.

50. Training for judges, lawyers and legal educators on the use of international labour standards in national legal systems is carried out through regular interregional and regional seminars. Thus, in October 2009, a course for Latin America was held in Quito (Ecuador), in collaboration with the ILO Subregional Office in Lima and Ecuador's school for the judiciary. This course brought together judges and lawyers from eight countries in the region, including judges from the Supreme Courts of the Plurinational State of Bolivia and Peru. In addition, courses have been organized for Central Asia, in collaboration with the ILO Subregional Office in Moscow, and for China, with the ILO Office in Beijing. A new cooperative agreement on the matter has been signed between the Turin Centre, the Standards Department and the Supreme Court of Colombia, adding to agreements currently in force with legal institutions of Brazil and Argentina. Lastly, it should be noted that a new course focusing on forced labour is now being organized in collaboration with the United Nations Interregional Crime and Justice Research Institute (UNICRI). In this field, the Centre has published a new training manual entitled International labour law and domestic law: Training manual for judges, lawyers and legal educators.

51. Within the component of the standards strategy that aims to improve the visibility of standards, activities for media professionals have been developed and the annual interregional course has been supplemented by regional courses for the Arab countries and Latin America, together with a national course for the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

52. A training programme for trainers on the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006 (MLC), has been launched in conjunction with the Standards Department, and three interregional courses have taken place, with the participation of around 60 trainers and inspectors who will be carrying out flag State inspections and port State control. These courses have been held using in-depth, integrated training materials developed jointly by the Centre, the Standards Department and significant international maritime institutions. Trainers who successfully participate in the course are certified by the Centre and the Office as MLC, 2006, trainers.

53. The Turin Centre's expertise in the area of discrimination is gaining growing recognition and, in addition to the interregional courses held each year, requests for training and collaboration are received from constituents and from national and international institutions. Courses devoted to the rights of indigenous peoples have also been developed (see below).

54. The training programme on freedom of association has continued its activities with a course on freedom of association and regional integration for the American and African regions, and has several other courses planned at the interregional, regional and subregional levels. In addition, as in previous years, the CD-ROM containing a compilation of documents on freedom of association has been updated.

55. In addition, the Turin Centre's standards programme has continued its cross-cutting activities to integrate standards into activities organized by the Centre's other technical programmes. Thus, in 2009, a module on international labour standards was introduced into the orientation course held for new staff members of the Office.

(b) Training on issues related to indigenous peoples

56. Between June and December 2009, the Programme to Promote ILO Convention No. 169 (PRO169), based in the Standards Department, carried out four training programmes at ILO headquarters for indigenous fellows in Spanish, English, French and Russian, in collaboration with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR). The training programmes were open to ILO staff and partners' organizations. In October 2009, an international training course on indigenous peoples' rights and development was organized with the ILO International Training Centre (ITC) in Turin, convening participants from governments, workers', employers' and indigenous organizations. In collaboration with the ITC, a training course for UN Country Teams (UNCTs) staff was also organized in June.

57. At the regional level, two major seminars in Asia (Kathmandu) and Africa (Nairobi) were carried out in April and June, respectively, with the participation of governments, indigenous organizations, national human rights commissions, UN agencies, donors and civil society. In addition, a regional seminar on the situation of indigenous peoples in Africa was held in Gambia in May 2009, in connection with the session of the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights (ACHPR). Also, training modules covering a wide range of issues relevant to the protection of indigenous peoples, including child labour, forced labour and the role of social partners in the ILO supervisory mechanisms, were elaborated for application in Central Africa. On the basis of these modules, a regional training seminar was held in Cameroon in December, convening government officials, social partners, indigenous organizations, UN agencies and donors from all Central African countries.

58. At the national level, capacity-building activities in various countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America are ongoing. In particular, an awareness-raising workshop was organized in the Central African Republic in April, in collaboration with the High Commissioner for Human Rights, to the benefit of members of the national Parliament. Various training materials have been elaborated and disseminated among government institutions and civil society organizations, including workers' and employers' organizations, in Nepal, Bangladesh and India. Training of government institutions, civil society and indigenous partners is ongoing in Cambodia and Cameroon.

59. The ILO's web site on indigenous and tribal peoples has been restructured, updated and expanded to provide access, in three languages, to relevant country and thematic information, training materials and publications (www.ilo.org/indigenous). Moreover, the specific training web site on indigenous issues is continuously being updated to provide government officials, social partners and indigenous organizations with relevant materials, including presentations, background information, publications and video material (www.pro169.org).

(c) Other training activities

Africa

60. Training seminars on the fundamental principles and rights at work were organized by the Programme to Support the Implementation of the 1998 Declaration (PAMODEC) in Cameroon and Congo for the benefit of labour magistrates and inspectors, with the support of the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Yaoundé (August). Further training activities are due to take place in the Central African Republic (media professionals), in Congo (teachers of the National Administration and Magistracy School, trade union officers) as well as in Gabon and Chad (judges and lawyers). The Turin Centre also organized a training workshop for media professionals in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, in collaboration with ILO Offices in Yaoundé and Kinshasa.

61. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Dakar conducted the following training activities:

- Training seminars for trainers from national schools of administration and justice and from university law departments, on international labour standards, with a particular focus on the standards system and the content of the eight fundamental Conventions, in Benin, Burkina Faso, Côte d'Ivoire, Niger, Senegal and Togo.
- Awareness-raising workshops for judges and lawyers on the international labour standards system and the fundamental labour standards in Côte d'Ivoire, Guinea and Senegal.
- A subregional awareness-raising workshop (Benin, Burkina Faso and Togo) for judges and lawyers on discrimination based on the HIV status of workers and job candidates.
- National workshops in Benin and Togo on discrimination based on the HIV status of workers or job candidates.
- A course on the ILO and international labour standards at the subregional school for the advanced training of lawyers from French-speaking Africa (école sous-régionale de perfectionnement des avocats d'Afrique francophone) in Benin (Porto Novo). This year, ILO standards on discrimination have been studied in greater depth.

62. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Addis Ababa conducted or participated in the following training activities:

- Training on freedom of association principles for trade union leaders from Djibouti, in the framework of a workshop conducted by the International Trade Union Confederation–Africa in Addis Ababa.
- Several workshops on international labour standards, and particularly on freedom of association, collective bargaining as well as on non-discrimination at the workplace were conducted in Ethiopia in the framework of two projects funded by the Netherlands in the sectors of cotton and floriculture respectively. Training on the two core child labour Conventions also took place within a project to combat child labour, likewise funded by the Netherlands.
- Training on international labour standards for judges with a particular emphasis on workers with HIV/AIDS and with disabilities took place in the region in a joint endeavour by Social Dialogue, HIV/AIDS, Employment/Skills and the Subregional Office.

Americas

63. Through its standards specialist, the Subregional Office in Lima carried out training activities in the following countries:

- the Plurinational State of Bolivia: two training seminars on international labour standards were provided in the framework of the ILO's decent work support programme. The first was aimed at professors of labour law in an attempt to ensure that international labour standards and the work of the ILO supervisory bodies are included in teaching programmes on Bolivian labour law. The second was aimed at labour magistrates and judges, with a view to examining the possible use by the judiciary of international labour standards in the context of the new Bolivian Constitution. Furthermore, an activity on the forced labour Conventions is due to be organized by the end of the year for agrarian tribunals since, under the national legislation, forced labour practices constitute grounds for the expropriation of agricultural land.

- Colombia: seminars (held in the framework of the cooperation project on social dialogue, fundamental rights at work and labour inspection) were held on the use of international labour standards, aimed at magistrates, judges and officials from the Public Prosecutor's Office, with more than 130 participants. An initial outcome of the seminars is the inclusion by the Lara Bonilla Judicial School of international labour standards as a specific part of the entry examination sat by prospective judges or magistrates. The Office of the Attorney-General undertook to ensure the follow-up to the implementation of the decisions of the Committee on Freedom of Association.
- Peru: meetings were held with the legal advisers to the constitutional court in order to present the ILO standards system, emphasizing the work of the supervisory bodies and its relevance for domestic courts. Through these meetings, several issues were identified that should be the subject of more far-reaching activities over the coming months, in particular Conventions Nos 1, 87, 102, 111 and Recommendation No. 198.
- Peru: with the support of the Office of the Ombudsperson and the National Institute for the Development of Andean, Amazonian and Afro-Peruvian Peoples (INDEPA), activities for the dissemination of the comments of the Committee of Experts regarding the application of the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169), by Peru were carried out between March and June. These activities brought together numerous officials from various ministries dealing with issues covered by the Convention and representatives of the enterprises belonging to the National Mining Society of Peru.

64. The standards specialist in Port-of-Spain conducted two tripartite training workshops in Bermuda (non-metropolitan territory of the United Kingdom) in March on international labour standards, fundamental principles and rights at work and labour legislation for senior representatives and officers in government as well as for officials of employers' and workers' organizations' and for shop stewards, trade union officials with divisional responsibilities and mid-level managers and supervisors with whom they interact in the workplace.

65. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in San José participated in the following activities:

- Subregional seminar on information on labour rights: the seminar was intended for journalists in the countries covered by the Subregional Office and focused on fundamental rights at work.
- At the request of and in collaboration with law faculties in Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama, training seminars were organized as part of courses to obtain a diploma in industrial relations. The subjects covered by the seminars were freedom of association and collective bargaining, discrimination (including equal remuneration), working time and the protection of wages.
- Training seminar for labour inspectors in Honduras on labour rights and discrimination issues, focusing on discrimination based on HIV/AIDS.

- Workshop on the cross-cutting subject of gender: this workshop in Honduras was intended for government officials in the programme for working women of the Ministry of Labour and Social Security and focused on the fundamental labour rights of women as set out in Conventions Nos 100, 111, 156 and 183.
- In Haiti, a seminar on the use of international standards in domestic law was organized for magistrates, judges, lawyers and police officers. During the seminar, presentations were given on the supervisory bodies and international labour standards, in particular the child labour Conventions Nos 138 and 182.
- Two workshops on strategic planning were held for staff of the Ministry of Labour and Social Provision of El Salvador and the Ministry of Labour of Nicaragua. The objective of these workshops was to provide tools for formulating better economic and social policies, particularly through standards activities and decent work.
- Within the framework of the application by El Salvador of Conventions Nos 87, 98 and 151, a study visit to Argentina was organized to look at good practices in freedom of association and collective bargaining in the public sector.
- A training on international standards, especially the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188), was held in Panama.

66. In the framework of regular training for judges, the Subregional Office in Santiago, in collaboration with the Judicial Academy of Chile, held a training seminar in August for newly appointed judges in the metropolitan area of Santiago. The seminar focused on freedom of association and collective bargaining. A second seminar will be held for judges outside the Chilean capital. Also in Chile, the Subregional Office held a series of awareness-raising workshops on the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169), which came into force in Chile on 15 September 2009. Civil servants, judges, representatives of various indigenous populations and academics participated in these workshops.

Arab States

67. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Beirut organized the following training activities: a tripartite training workshop on reporting for the Gulf countries; a training workshop on the fundamental Conventions on equal opportunities and treatment (Conventions Nos 100 and 111) for the Gulf countries; and a training course on international labour standards for journalists, in October.

Asia

68. A number of tripartite training activities on international labour standards were organized by the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in New Delhi in particular in Bangladesh (December), the Republic of the Maldives (July) and Sri Lanka with special emphasis on freedom of association and discrimination (July).

4. Promotional activities

(a) Action plan to achieve rapid and widespread ratification and effective implementation of the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006

69. The aim of the five-year plan of action adopted by the Governing Body in March 2007 is to achieve by 2011 the required number of ratifications for the Maritime Labour Convention (MLC, 2006), to enter into force. The plan of action includes international, regional and national promotional activities and requires cooperation with sectoral experts and regional offices.

70. With respect to ratifications, the targets set by the plan of action are very likely to be met and even exceeded. Two conditions must be met for the entry into force of the MLC, 2006: ratification by at least 30 member States which must have a total share of at least 33 per cent of the world gross tonnage. With the ratifications of the Convention by Panama, on 6 February 2009, and by Norway (the first European member State to do so), on 10 February 2009, one of the two conditions for entry into force has been fully met as, with the five ratifications obtained to date,¹⁵ over 40 per cent of the world gross tonnage of ships is now covered by the Convention. Moreover, the information available shows that a number of countries in various regions have now completed the national processes that will allow ratification in the near future.

71. In the context of its activities to promote the MLC, 2006, the Office has, since the last session of the Committee of Experts:

- participated in a tripartite regional seminar hosted by the Government of Germany for the European Union and other European countries (December 2008);
- participated in an international conference for the maritime sector organized by the Government of Panama (February 2009);
- taken part in the IMO/ILO Ad Hoc Expert Working Group on Liability and Compensation regarding Claims for Death, Personal Injury and Abandonment of Seafarers (March);
- organized a series of tripartite seminars to prepare the countries concerned to meet the requirements of the Convention: in Cameroon, for the countries of the Central African Economic and Monetary Community (CEMAC) (April); in Senegal (July); in Ghana, for the English-speaking countries of the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) (October); and in India (September–October);
- organized, with the Government of Barbados, a Hemispheric Conference on Rapid and Widespread Ratification and Effective Implementation of the MLC, 2006 (September), which was attended by 75 participants from 22 countries and territories (16 countries and territories from the Caribbean, five countries from Latin America, and Canada) and five institutions;
- published the Guidelines for flag State inspections under the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006 and the Guidelines for port State control officers carrying out inspections under the Convention;
- finalized materials developed in cooperation with the Turin Centre and interested constituents for a programme for the training of trainers. This two-week programme is aimed at developing national capacity to train inspectors who will be responsible for carrying out flag State inspections and port State control under the MLC, 2006 (see below);
- in the Caribbean, gap analyses of national legislation in regard of the MLC, 2006, were carried out either by the standards specialist or by consultants contracted by the ILO for the following countries: Antigua and Barbuda, Belize, Dominica, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines.

¹⁵ The MLC has been ratified by the Bahamas, Liberia, the Marshall Islands, Norway and Panama.

(b) Promotion of the ratification of the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188)

72. At its 96th Session (June 2007), the International Labour Conference adopted a resolution concerning promotion of the ratification of the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188). This resolution sets out, in particular, the provision of technical assistance to member States for capacity building for constituents, drafting of national legislation giving effect to the requirements of the Convention, organizing national and regional seminars and workshops on the Convention, and promoting the ratification and implementation of the Convention in the context of ILO Decent Work Country Programmes.

73. Convention No. 188 will enter into force 12 months after the ratifications of ten member States, including those of eight coastal States, have been registered with the Director-General. If no ratification of this Convention has been registered to date, real prospects exist in this regard. At the European level, the Employment, Social Policy, Health and Consumer Affairs Council, which met in Brussels on 30 November and 1 December 2009, reached agreement on a political decision authorizing EU Member States to ratify the Convention. This agreement paves the way for the ratification of the Convention by the 27 Member States of the European Union.

74. During 2009, the Standards Department participated in the following activities for the promotion of the ratification of Convention No. 188:

- As part of the Tripartite Subregional Workshop on the MLC, 2006, within the Economic and Monetary Community of Central Africa (CEMAC), held at Douala, Cameroon, in April, one day was devoted specifically to the promotion of Convention No. 188. This activity brought together tripartite participants from Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, Equatorial Guinea and Gabon. Comparative analyses of the legislation of Cameroon and CEMAC and the requirements of the MLC, 2006, and Convention No. 188 were initiated to identify any gaps that might present difficulties in implementing these instruments.
- In the framework of the Project for Rational and Sustainable Development of the Fishing Sector (INT/07/16M/SPA) funded by the Government of Spain, a training course on certain aspects of Convention No. 188 and on relevant best practices in Spain was organized at Bamio, Spain, in May for participants from Guinea-Bissau, Mauritania, Morocco and Senegal.
- A national seminar for awareness raising on the MLC and on Convention No. 188 was held at Dakar, Senegal, in July.
- A tripartite seminar on the promotion of ratification of Convention No. 188 for the Americas region was held at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in August. It brought together tripartite participants from the following countries: Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Honduras, Mexico, Panama, Peru and Uruguay.
- With the support of the Project for a Rational and Sustainable Development of the Fishing Sector, the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Lima conducted a tripartite seminar in Peru to promote Convention No. 188 (August). The seminar provided an opportunity to compare national legislation with the contents of the Convention and to highlight those aspects of the Convention which could contribute as a matter of priority to a decent work policy in the fishing sector. At the end of the seminar, the Minister of Labour requested that a tripartite round table be organized for the fishing sector to allow continued discussions on the Convention.

- At the subregional seminar on the MLC, held at Accra, Ghana, in October, one day was also devoted to the promotion of ratification of Convention No. 188. This activity brought together tripartite representatives from the following English-speaking countries of the ECOWAS: Gambia, Ghana, Liberia, Nigeria and Sierra Leone.

(c) Promotion of the ratification of the Promotional Framework for Occupational Safety and Health Convention, 2006 (No. 187)

75. Over the past year, the efforts to promote the ratification of Convention No. 187 have yielded concrete results. Convention No. 187 has now been ratified by 12 member States¹⁶ and it entered into force on 20 February 2009. The future ratification prospects for this instrument appear to be promising. Based on information received in the context of article 19 and article 22 reporting the ratification process is in the final stages in seven countries¹⁷ and is being considered favourably in another eight countries.¹⁸

76. In keeping with the strategic framework of the Programme and Budget for 2008–09 and 2010–11,¹⁹ Convention No. 187 and Recommendation No. 197 are central for the work of the ILO and SafeWork in strengthening the institutional capacity to improve the occupational safety and health situation globally. Building on the systematic approach in these instruments the ILO and its field offices apply a strategy in four steps: (1) preparation of a national OSH profile; (2) review of the national OSH situation and systems; (3) formulation and launching of a national OSH programme; and (4) review and reformulation of national OSH programmes.

77. This systematic approach is being promoted at all relevant international levels, including in the context of the follow-up to the Seoul Declaration on Safety and Health at Work adopted at the Safety and Health Summit, 29 June 2008, held in connection with the World Congress on Safety and Health 2008 in the Republic of Korea and which calls for the ratification of Convention No. 187 as a priority. Convention No. 187 was also promoted in the context of the 19th Asian Conference on Occupational Health in Singapore in 2008, the Regional Arab Conference on OSH in Bahrain in November 2008, the Fourth China International Forum on Work Safety in Beijing in November 2008, the International Conference “Building a bridge between international and national strategies on health and safety at work” in Dresden, Germany, in January 2009, during the Canary Island Conference on the Seoul Declaration in March 2009, at the Occupational Safety and Health Conference in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, in April 2009, at the Gulf Regional Conference on OSH in Kuwait in May 2009 and at the EU Senior Labour Inspectors Meeting in Prague (Czech Republic), in May 2009. The promotion of a national OSH systems and programmes approach has been supported by a technical cooperation project for Asia and Central Asia funded by the Governments of Japan and the Republic of Korea. The World Day for Safety and Health at Work on 28 April 2009 also promoted this approach through its report and activities organized under the theme of “Health and life at work: A basic human right”.

¹⁷ Austria, Belgium, Burkina Faso, Republic of Moldova, Mongolia, Philippines and Singapore.

¹⁸ Brazil, Cameroon, Lithuania, Malawi, Peru, Seychelles, Togo and Zambia.

¹⁹ See paragraph 202 of the Programme and Budget for 2008–09.

78. It should also be noted that following the discussion in June 2009 of the General Survey on the OSH instruments, the Conference Committee concluded that the promotion of the ratification and effective implementation of the Occupational Safety and Health Convention, 1981 (No. 155), and its 2002 Protocol, should be carried out together with the promotion of Convention No. 187.²⁰ The Committee also recommended that the Office would adopt a plan of action for the promotion of the ratification and the effective implementation of Convention No. 155, its 2002 Protocol and/or Convention No. 187. Following a discussion of this proposal as part of the ILO's plan of action for the implementation of the standards strategy,²¹ the Governing Body decided at its 306th Session (November 2009), that, following tripartite consultations, a plan of action would be submitted to it at its 307th Session (March 2010).²²

79. PRO169 has continued to undertake a wide range of activities at different levels to promote the application of the principles of Convention No. 169, as well as to integrate indigenous issues into other ILO activities to promote fundamental principles and rights at work. During the period in question, the programme provided technical contributions to the UN Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues, the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and the Inter-Agency Support Group on Indigenous issues, among others. It also provided inputs to the development of ILO Decent Work Country Programmes. Indigenous peoples' issues have been included in the Decent Work Country Programmes of various countries where the programme is working, including, Bolivia, Cambodia, Cameroon and Nepal.

80. At the regional level, a ground-breaking study on the situation of indigenous peoples in Africa was finalized, resulting in 24 country studies and a comprehensive overview report, which was adopted by the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights at its 45th Session in May 2009. A database containing background information, legislation, judicial decisions and other relevant materials underlying the study was also created. In parallel, two other major publications were finalized, namely Indigenous and tribal peoples' rights in practice – A guide to ILO Convention No. 169 and the casebook Application of Convention No. 169 by domestic and international courts in Latin America, with a view to further deepening the understanding and implementation of indigenous peoples' rights. These publications are being widely disseminated in several languages and used for awareness-raising and capacity-building activities throughout the world.

81. A regional programme for Latin America has recently been launched with the objective of assisting governments and relevant actors to take the necessary measures in response to the Committee of Experts' comments, building the capacity of public officials, social partners and indigenous organizations to implement the Convention, and further promoting the ratification of the Convention in the region.

82. A wide range of activities were also implemented at the national level with a view to promoting the rights and improving the socio-economic situation of indigenous peoples, particularly in Bangladesh, Cambodia, Cameroon, Indonesia, Kenya, Namibia and Nepal. In Cameroon, a special focus has been placed on including indigenous peoples' rights in national policies, such as the national poverty reduction strategy, and on training, capacity-building and dialogue activities involving government officials and key social actors. In Cambodia, efforts have continued to promote the implementation of relevant legislation on indigenous communities' land rights and the elaboration of local development plans. In Nepal, a large-scale national programme is in place to assist the implementation of Convention No. 169.

83. Finally, PRO169 has continued to focus on the linkages between indigenous issues and fundamental principles and rights at work. Collaboration with ILO–GENDER is ongoing to document the discrimination faced by indigenous women in employment and occupation. Also, the programme is collaborating with the ILO Programme to Eliminate Child Labour (IPEC) to further develop strategies to combat child labour among indigenous peoples.

(e) Setting up of an effective communication strategy on international labour standards

84. The first phase of NORMES database unification project and the subsequent development of an online reporting system, whose primary objective, it should be recalled, is to facilitate and streamline the reporting burden on governments, was launched in August 2009. This first phase, which was completed at the end of December 2009, focused on the unification of NORMES four databases (APPLIS, ILOLEX, LIBSYND and NATLEX)²³ and the design of a unified data model, which will be called NORMSLEX. This new data model will be both robust, since all the data will be coded and can be linked as needed, and flexible, since new codes or information can be added without having to change the data model. The second phase should include the specifications for this unified application and the migration of data contained in three of NORMES current databases, while the third phase will focus on the development of a comprehensive online reporting system. After several test versions of this new application throughout the course of 2010, the whole project with final releases should be completed during the first semester of 2011.

85. In addition, the NATLEX database on national labour, social security and related human rights legislation now contains over 80,000 laws and regulations. On average, there are around 300 new entries per month. This continued updating of the database ensures that NATLEX remains a most valuable tool and one greatly appreciated by its many users throughout the world. In July 2009, a peak was reached when nearly 3 million external users consulted NATLEX during that month, which still makes it the ILO's most frequently consulted database. It should also be noted that in the context of the new generation of General Survey carried out in the light of the follow-up to the Social Justice Declaration, the 2010 report form for the next General Survey on social security was made available online on the NORMES web site and member States have the possibility to download and fill the form and send it electronically to the Office.

²³ APPLIS is the database managing reporting obligations and the registry of incoming reports. It was designed to generate report requests, handle report reception, and manage workload in the Standards Department. ILOLEX, which includes a set of three full text databases of standards-related ILO documents in three languages, was designed to search for terms and expressions inside documents. LIBSYND is the database which keeps track of the discussions of the Committee on Freedom of Association and was designed to handle case-related information and documents. NATLEX is the database on national labour, social security and related human rights legislation.

86. Since January 2009, the Office has continued to produce several tools for the dissemination of information on international labour standards to a wide audience. The Standards Department issued several CD-ROMs, such as: the 2009 version of its International Labour Standards Electronic Library (ILSE), which includes documents on the Maritime Labour Convention, 2006, as well as the latest General Survey on occupational safety and health; the 2009 version of the application of international labour standards CD-ROM, which contains the comments of the Committee of Experts by country; and the 2009 electronic library on freedom of association and collective bargaining. The Department has also revised and updated its key publication Rules of the game: A brief introduction to international labour standards, to integrate the latest standards-related developments, such as the adoption of new instruments (for instance the MLC, Conventions Nos 187 and 188 and the 2008 Social Justice Declaration). This revised edition was released during the 2009 Conference. In terms of new publications, the Department has prepared a digest of principles and comments of the ILO's supervisory bodies related to the informal economy. This digest, which is based on the wealth of the comments formulated by the supervisory bodies on the application of ILO instruments in the informal economy, should be seen as a first step to try to overcome the obstacles already identified to the application of relevant international labour standards to workers in that sector. It is intended to serve as a tool to put forward proposals which may assist the tripartite constituents in developing laws, policies and institutions at the national level to tackle the problems faced by workers in the informal economy. Finally, the annual Information document on ratifications and standards-related activities, which is published in March, has been improved this year through an expansion of the country profiles contained in Part III of the document, which provide information by country on the ratification and application of Conventions. It should be recalled that more detailed and comprehensive information by country is always available and constantly updated through the NATLEX country profiles database, which can be found on the NORMES web site at the following address: www.ilo.org/dyn/natlex/country_profiles.home?p_lang=en.

87. Several activities to promote the ratification of up to date Conventions were carried out by the standards specialists in the various subregional offices, in 2009.

Africa

88. Brochures designed to support the ratification process and/or the application of the Conventions on employment policy and promotion and on the development of vocational training were produced in a number of African countries as part of the Employment Promotion and Poverty Reduction Project (APERP), in collaboration with the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Yaoundé and the International Labour Standards Department. Teaching guides on workers' rights have also been produced at the initiative of the standards specialist and the specialist in the high-intensity workforce investments programme at the Yaoundé Office.

89. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Yaoundé organized a tripartite seminar in Rwanda in support of the ratification of the Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144).

90. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Dakar organized a number of promotional activities in the following countries:

- Côte d'Ivoire: an awareness-raising workshop for actors in the transport sector on the right to strike (March);

- Guinea: a course on the ILO and the international labour standards for public service resources managers, as well as an awareness-raising workshop for journalists and media professionals on the ILO and the standards (June);
- Senegal: an awareness-raising workshop for trade union representatives on the ILO, its standards system and the eight fundamental Conventions (July). Working with NORMES and SECTOR, the Subregional Office also carried out a national tripartite seminar on the MLC, 2006, and the Work in Fishing Convention, 2007 (No. 188), under a technical cooperation project funded by Spain.

91. In the United Republic of Tanzania, in the framework of a Geneva-led mission to assist the Government to formulate a national policy on migration, the standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Addis Ababa carried out a session to introduce the two ILO migrant workers' Conventions Nos 97 and 143 respectively, in order to overcome obstacles to their ratification in the future.

92. In March, the Ministry of Manpower and Migration of Egypt and the Subregional Office in Cairo organized a seminar on the promotion of the Employment Policy Convention, 1964 (No. 122), with a view to its ratification. In this regard, the constituents were informed about ILO tools available for the implementation of an employment policy and sensitized on the linkages of Convention No. 122 with other Conventions in the field of employment (Conventions Nos 88, 142 and 181). In May, a workshop on Conventions Nos 97 and 143 relating to migrant workers took place with a view to promoting their ratification and increasing awareness on the issues related to labour migration.

Americas

93. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in San José conducted the following promotional activities:

- The provision of technical advice to the Commission on Ethnic Matters of the Parliament of Nicaragua regarding the content and scope of the Indigenous and Tribal Peoples Convention, 1989 (No. 169), and the implications of its ratification. The ratification of Convention No. 169 is a priority for the Government, which indicated in its last periodic report (2008) under the International Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Racial Discrimination that it would review the possibility of ratifying Convention No. 169 and conduct the necessary consultations.
- The organization of consultations on the ratification of the Vocational Rehabilitation and Employment (Disabled Persons) Convention, 1983 (No. 159), at the request of the Government of Honduras, with the participation of various departments concerned of the Ministry of Labour and Social Insurance, the Ministry of Education, the Ministry of Government and Justice, the Commissioner for Human Rights and representatives of the various institutions working with persons with disabilities. As a result of these consultations, policies have been adopted in support of the ratification of Convention No. 159, in view of the general agreement that it would be an appropriate tool to generate employment and advance the Decent Work Agenda in the country.
- The holding of a second tripartite seminar on part-time work and the implications of the ratification of the Part-Time Work Convention, 1994 (No. 175), at the request of the Government of Guatemala. The Government considers the ratification of the Convention vital for the generation of employment, especially in times of crisis, while the social partners hold very different and strong views as to the possible benefits of its ratification. The ILO therefore played the dual role in this seminar of providing information on the content and scope of Convention No. 175 and revitalizing meaningful social dialogue in Guatemala.

- The initiation of a consultation process in Costa Rica with a view to ratifying the Workers with Family Responsibilities Convention, 1981 (No. 156), as a tool for improving the integration of women in the labour market.

94. Through its standards specialist, the Subregional Office in Lima has participated in two training seminars, co-organized by various United Nations agencies, on the joint promotion of the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and Convention No. 169, which were held in Nicaragua in June and Trinidad and Tobago in December. These two seminars provided an opportunity to highlight the linkages between the United Nations Declaration and Convention No. 169, which are mutually reinforcing instruments

95. The standards specialist from the Subregional Office in Port-of-Spain, together with the HIV/AIDS specialist, participated in a workshop being convened by the Occupational Safety and Health Department of the Ministry of Labour of Jamaica, in April 2009, to develop draft regulations for HIV/AIDS as part of the slate of regulations to be promulgated with the occupational safety and health legislation and in pursuance of providing supportive and enforceable regulations for the HIV/AIDS workplace policy.

Arab States

96. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in Beirut conducted activities promoting the ratification of the Conventions on occupational safety and health in Jordan, Lebanon, Syrian Arab Republic and Yemen, Convention No. 144 in Bahrain, Lebanon and Oman, Convention No. 87 in Bahrain, Jordan, Lebanon and Oman, and Convention No. 98 in Bahrain and Oman.

Asia

97. The standards specialist of the Subregional Office in New Delhi conducted a series of promotional activities in the countries covered by the Office, in particular in Afghanistan: distance technical support for the ratification of new Conventions and the Instrument of Amendment of the ILO Constitution, 1997; in India: promotional work on the ratification of the Minimum Age Convention, 1973 (No. 138); promotion of international labour standards with academic institutions in Calcutta (August) and carried out an activity with the members of the High Courts and District Courts of Justice in New Delhi on how to use international labour standards in national judgements (October); in Indonesia: promotion of Convention No. 169 in view of its ratification.

98. In April, a regional tripartite workshop on improving safety and health in mining for selected Asian countries was organized by SECTOR in collaboration with the respective external offices and NORMES. The participants included tripartite delegations from China, Indonesia, Malaysia and Mongolia, employers' and workers' representatives from Viet Nam and workers' representatives from India and the Philippines. The workshop focused on the Safety and Health in Mines Convention, 1995 (No. 176), as the central instrument to achieving decent work in an industry which has occupational safety and health as its main challenge. It was designed to ensure that Convention No. 176 is seen in the context provided not only by Conventions Nos 155 and 187, but also by the Occupational Health Services Convention, 1985 (No. 161). The composition of the workshop was decided based on the importance of the mining industry for the economy, the national safety and health situation and the regulatory background.

Europe and Central Asia

99. In November, a High-level Tripartite Seminar on Wage Policy in Central Asia and Caucasus was held at Nicosia, Cyprus. Every two years, the Government of Cyprus and the ILO jointly organize a conference on a topical subject. This year, the theme was wage policy in the context of the global economic crisis and, more specifically, issues concerning minimum wages, wage arrears and the protection of wage claims in case of the employer's insolvency. This conference was attended by participants from seven Central Asian and Caucasus countries (Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan) as well as tripartite representatives from Cyprus and experts from the Russian Federation. Presentations were made by officials of the Standards Department, the Conditions of Work and Employment Programme and of the ILO Subregional Office at Moscow. This activity was an occasion to promote the ratification and implementation of relevant ILO Conventions, in particular the Protection of Wages Convention, 1949 (No. 95), the Minimum Wage Fixing Convention, 1970 (No. 131), and the Protection of Workers' Claims (Employer's Insolvency) Convention, 1992 (No. 173).

Specific activities undertaken in collaboration with other international organizations concerning international labour standards

A. United Nations treaties concerning human rights

100. International labour standards and the provisions of the United Nations human rights treaties related to them are complementary and mutually reinforcing. Close cooperation between the ILO and the United Nations in relation to its human rights treaties is therefore an important strategy to enhance the influence of ILO standards and to ensure consistency and coherence within the United Nations system with regard to human rights at work.

Cooperation with the United Nations treaty bodies

101. The Office has pursued the activities undertaken with the UN human rights bodies responsible for supervising the application of the following instruments:

- the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights;
- the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights;
- the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women;
- the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination;
- the Convention on the Rights of the Child;
- the International Convention on the Protection of the Rights of Migrant Workers and Members of their Families;
- the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities.

102. The Office regularly submits reports to the different treaty bodies containing standards-related information regarding the countries examined by them. These ILO reports include information on the ratification of ILO Conventions relevant to the provisions of the respective United Nations human rights treaties, summaries of the findings and recommendations of the ILO supervisory bodies and information on ILO technical assistance, as appropriate. In addition, Office representatives participate in the sessions of the treaty bodies and provide oral advice and information on specific countries or particular subjects. The Office also contributes to the general observations by these supervisory bodies concerning issues that come within the ILO's remit.

New United Nations instruments

103. The Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights was adopted by the General Assembly on 10 December 2008. The Protocol establishes a procedure for the examination by the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights of communications submitted by or on behalf of individuals or groups of individuals claiming to be victims of a violation of the rights set forth in the Covenant. The new instrument also provides for inter-State communications and an inquiry procedure. A signing ceremony took place on 24 September 2009 at the United Nations headquarters in New York. The Protocol will enter into force following the registration of the tenth ratification.

104. When examining communications under the Optional Protocol, the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights is authorized to consult relevant documentation emanating from other United Nations bodies, specialized agencies, funds, programmes and mechanisms (article 8(3)). This provides an opportunity for the ILO to submit relevant information emerging from the supervision of ILO instruments. The Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights is currently preparing a revision of its Rules of Procedures to adapt them to its new functions under the Optional Protocol.

B. European Social Charter

105. In accordance with the procedure established by Article 26 of the European Social Charter, a representative of the International Labour Standards Department participated in a consultative capacity in the deliberations of the 234th, 237th and 239th Sessions of the European Committee of Social Rights responsible for supervising the application of the Charter and the revised Charter (respectively in February, July and October 2009).

C. Other matters relating to human rights

106. The Office has continued to promote international labour standards in the context of the United Nations Human Rights Council. With respect to the Universal Periodic Review, the Office regularly draws the attention of the United Nations secretariat to the available reports of the ILO supervisory bodies. The documentation prepared by the United Nations secretariat as a basis for the Universal Periodic Review includes information on the ratification of fundamental ILO Conventions by the country under review, as well as references to comments of the Committee of Experts. The Office also contributes to the work of the other mechanisms and mandates set up by the Council, including the Expert Mechanism on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, and the work of Special Rapporteurs.

107. Within the United Nations Development Group (UNDG), the Office has continued its efforts to ensure that international labour standards are taken into account in the context of the human rights based approach to development. In this regard, the 2009 revision of the Guidelines for United Nations Country Teams on preparing a Common Country Assessment and United Nations Development Assistance Framework recognized the role of relevant instruments of the specialized agencies. In addition, specific reference was made to ILO instruments and the supervisory mechanisms. The ILO and the Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) recently agreed to prepare a short publication on the complementarity of United Nations and ILO instruments.

Appendix 1. General information

I. Information on ILO membership

The Republic of Maldives became a Member of the ILO on 15 May 2009, thus bringing the Organization's membership to 183.

II. Information on ratifications, denunciations and declarations of application

Ratifications

In the course of 2009, 49 ratifications of international labour Conventions and one ratification of a Protocol were registered, bringing the total number of ratifications of Conventions as on 31 December 2009 to 7,652.

Denunciations resulting from the ratification of a more recent Convention in the same subject area

Following the ratification of Convention No. 138 by Guinea-Bissau, Convention No. 7 was automatically denounced.

Following the ratification of Convention No. 138 by Haiti, Convention No. 5 was automatically denounced.

Following the ratification of Convention No. 183 by the Netherlands, Convention No. 103 was automatically denounced

Denunciations

The Director-General registered, on 4 November 2009, the denunciation by the Netherlands of the declaration concerning the application of the Accommodation of Crews (Fishermen) Convention, 1966 (No. 126), to Aruba.

The Director-General registered, on 7 October 2009, the denunciation by Portugal of the Indigenous and Tribal Populations Convention, 1957 (No. 107).

Declarations of application

The Director-General registered, on 28 January 2009, the declaration by Denmark concerning the non-application of the Promotional Framework for Occupational Safety and Health Convention, 2006 (No. 187), to Faeroe Islands and Greenland.

The Director-General registered, on 5 May 2009, the declaration by the United Kingdom concerning the application without modifications of the Worst Forms of Child Labour Convention, 1999 (No. 182), to St Helena.

List of ratifications by Convention ^{*} and Protocol

^{*} Conventions which were withdrawn by the International Labour Conference in June 2000 and Conventions which will never enter into force because of the adoption and entry into force of revising Conventions are not included in the list. The total number of ratifications for each Convention includes all ratifications registered since the adoption of the Convention concerned, regardless of any subsequent denunciation.

Hours of Work (Industry) Convention, 1919 (No. 1)

Country profiles

The following country profiles provide information on the ratification and application of Conventions and on the submission of instruments adopted by the Conference to the competent authorities in a table format by country. *

The ratifications section indicates which fundamental Conventions, priority Conventions, and other Conventions a country has ratified as of 31 December 2009. It does not list Conventions which have been denounced or which are not in force.

The section on reports requested indicates how many reports were requested from the country in 2009 and how many were received. Under articles 22 and 35 of the ILO Constitution, member States are required to submit reports at regular intervals on the application of Conventions which they have ratified or declared applicable to their non-metropolitan territories. If a report requested was a first detailed report (which is required in the case of a newly ratified Convention), the number of the Convention appears in parentheses.

The section on observations made by employers' and workers' organizations indicates for which Conventions comments were received by such organizations on reports submitted to them by governments. Article 23 of the Constitution requires each member State to communicate to the representative employers' and workers' organizations copies of the information and reports communicated under articles 19 and 22.

The section concerning comments of the Committee of Experts indicates which comments the Committee made during its session in 2009. It lists either "observations", which are published in the report of the Committee of Experts, or "direct requests", which are communicated directly to the governments concerned and accessible at a later stage through the APPLIS database on the application of international labour standards. A new section has been included as of this year on cases discussed before the Conference Committee on the Application of Standards since 1985, as well as on cases active before the Committee on Freedom of Association. The list does not include comments made by the Committee in previous sessions for which action by governments is still requested.

The section on submissions indicates the sessions of the International Labour Conference of which adopted instruments have, or have not, been submitted by governments to the authority or authorities competent to consider further action, as required under article 19 of the Constitution. In 1947, at its 103rd Session, the Governing Body of the ILO decided that, as from the coming into force of the constitutional amendment of 1946, the mandate of the CEACR would be extended to matters related to the constitutional obligation of submission to competent authorities under article 19 of the ILO Constitution. The CEACR started monitoring compliance with this constitutional provision as of 1948, with the instruments adopted by the International Labour Conference at its 31st Session. The number of the Conventions, Recommendations or Protocols is given in parentheses, preceded by the letter “C”, “R”, or “P” as the case may be, when only some of the texts adopted at any one session have been submitted. When the ratification of a Convention was registered, that Convention and the corresponding Recommendation are considered as submitted.
