¹ This list is based on the conclusions of the Cartier Working Party (1995–2002) and takes into account Conference and Governing Body decisions after that date. It should be recalled that, at the start of its work in 1995, the Cartier Working Party took as the point of reference for its review the classification established by the Ventejol Working Party. The Termination of Employment Convention, 1982 (No. 158) and its Recommendation (No. 166), were classified by the Ventejol Working Party as instruments to be promoted on a priority basis. In 2002, when the Cartier Working Party completed its work, these two instruments were the only ones in respect of which it did not reach any conclusions. Further consultations are still held on these instruments.
