1. Background and Justification

Timor-Leste as one of the youngest nations of the world has been actively engaged in combating Child Labour and fostering primary universal education not only in the capital city, Dili, but also in the rural areas. The V Government Programme is committed to focusing its attention on implementing activities and measures to eradicate practices that violate the rights of children, such as early marriages, child labour, and other types of exploitation, including domestic violence, sexual abuse.

The Government itself, through SEPFOPE, and its related entities, particularly Labour Inspection (IGT) has the primary responsibility to ensure that children are not engaged in illegal labour and that young workers of legal working age are duly protected and working in safe conditions. Ministry of Social Solidarity has responsibility to develop social policies and programmes to support families and vulnerable groups; and the Ministry of Education focus in attention on implementing the Education Framework law, which grants free and universal primary education to all boys and girls in Timor-Leste.

Beyond international conventions already ratified and the national legislation in place protecting child's rights, through ILO /IPEC Timor-Leste's Programme to Eliminate the Worst Forms of Child Labour, the country has made significant progress in the establishment of National Commissions against Child Labour (CNTI). CNTI aims to implement and monitor the ILO Convention No. 182 concerning the Elimination of the Worst Forms of Child Labour, and is also engaged in formally endorse the Hazardous List of Work to be prohibited for children, as well as to promote the development of an Action Plan to combat and irradiate child labour
