JOB CRISIS

World of work report, 2009: the global jobs crisis and beyond

The recent rebound in world output and stock markets should not mask the fact that the crisis which erupted in October 2008 is not over. Unless adequate measures are adopted, unemployment will continue to grow, many workers and small entrepreneurs will suffer a permanent cut in their incomes, and inequalities will widen further. And little has been done so far to address the root causes of the crisis.

LABOUR INSPECTION

Labour inspection in Europe: undeclared work, migration, trafficking

The report highlights some of the different labour inspection measures taken in law and practice by EU countries and is based in part on a questionnaire filled out by participants prior to the event. After the meeting, a series of guidelines were prepared and endorsed by the experts based on the discussions.

LABOUR EXPLOITATION

Concealed chains: labour exploitation and Chinese migrants in Europe

This groundbreaking book exposes the hidden world of Chinese irregular migrants in three European countries: France, Italy and the United Kingdom.

Chinese workers migrating to Europe pay huge sums of money to intermediaries, often leaving them trapped in debt before they even begin their journey. Exposed to various risks during their migratory process, they can arrive in the destination country vulnerable to extreme exploitation and sometimes even forced labour.

Indigenous and tribal peoples: building on biological and cultural diversity for food and livelihood security

This publication has been prepared by FAO to acknowledge the importance of working with indigenous peoples and to raise more awareness about their needs and claims. It discusses the main issues which affect indigenous peoples and outlines some of FAO's efforts to respond to their development concerns as expressed through both human and environmental dimensions. Although it puts much emphasis on the difficult conditions in which many indigenous peoples live, it also draws attention to the resourcefulness and ingenuity which characterize indigenous individuals and communities.

The millennium development goals report, 2009

This report is based on a master set of data that has been compiled by an inter-agency and expert group on MDG indicators led by the Department of Economic and Social Affairs of the United Nations Secretariat, in response to the wishes of the General Assembly for periodic assessment of progress towards the MDGs. The group comprises representatives of the international organizations whose activities include the preparation of one or more of the series of statistical indicators that were identified as appropriate for monitoring progress towards the MDGs.
