SOLVE

SOLVE: integrating health promotion into workplace OSH policies. Trainer's guide

The SOLVE training package advocates that a comprehensive occupational safety and health (OSH) management system should ensure that risk management also includes the assessment and control of psychosocial factors to properly manage their impact in the same way as it is done with other hazards and risks; and that health promotion measures, such as nutrition and physical activity for health are incorporated into the organization's policy.

SOLVE: integrating health promotion into workplace OSH policies. Participant's workbook

The purpose of this training package is to contribute to the design of workplace policies and preventive measures on the basis of the global knowledge gained. This second edition of SOLVE training package builds upon the experience acquired through the implementation of SOLVE's training programme since 2002.

SOLVE: integrating health promotion into workplace OSH policies. Lesson plans

The potential of workplace health promotion to enhance working life is a vital component in improving workplace productivity and performance. Integrating health promotion into OSH policies benefits both workers

DECENT WORK

Tripartite validation workshop of the Philippines decent work country profile

The Philippines was one of the first countries to adopt the Decent Work Agenda after the ILO endorsed the framework in 1999. Some progress has been made in integrating decent work components into development planning, as well as in the design of national policies and socio-economic programmes. Strong commitment by the Philippine government, working through a tripartite process is a major advantage for the country as it pursues the ultimate goal of decent work for all.

Publishers: ILO-Manila and European Union agreed in Decent Work Country Programmes that are based on national priorities owned and led by the constituents (government and its social partners employers/business and workers).

Authors: Matthias Herr and Tapera Muzira

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

GREEN JOBS

Green jobs and green skills in a brown Philippine economy: background country study

The book shows how a green alignment of education and training activities can support the level and skills requirements of green/er industries, as reflected in the case studies of a copper smelter, a fast-food chain, a bioethanol plant, and an organic agriculture farm.

Author: Rene Ofreneo

Publishers: University of the Philippines and ILO-Manila
