WORKER DISPLACEMENT: CASE STUDIES

The impact of the Eurozone crisis on Irish social partnership: a political economy analysis

The study shows that the first casualty of the economic crisis in Ireland was social partnership and centralized wage bargaining.

Author: Aidan Regan
Publisher: ILO-Governance and Tripartism Department

CHILD LABOUR

Strengthening action to end forced labour. International Labour Conference, 103rd Session, 2014

The relationship between forced labour, slavery and human trafficking remains the subject of ongoing debate. The report focuses on “forced labour” as its central concept, in line with the ILO’s mandate.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Philippine information technology and business process management (IT-BPM) road map, 2012-2016

Despite the slow-moving global economy, information technology (IT) spending remains on an upward trend, having grown by 5.4 per cent in 2011.

Publishers: Information and Communications Technology Office (ICTO), Department of Science and Technology, Business Processing Association/Philippines (BPA/P) and Team Asia

FORMAL ECONOMY

Transitioning from the informal to the formal economy. International Labour Conference, 103rd Session, 2014

The report provides an overview of the phenomenon of the informal economy, its impact on the attainment of decent work for all workers and employers and the ILO’s approach to the transition to formality.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Publisher: ILO-Governance and Tripartism Department

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Publisher: ILO-Governance and Tripartism Department
Employment practices and working conditions in Thailand’s fishing sector

Over the past four decades, Thailand has established itself as one of the top fish producing nations in the world. In 1980s there was a rapid modernization and industrialization of the fleet. Recently, there has been a significant decline in the catch due to overfishing and increase in the costs of operating a fishing vessel because of higher fuel prices. As a result of these, the sector has seen dramatic changes in the workforce and working conditions.

Published: ILO Tripartite Action to Protect Migrants within and from the Greater Mekong Subregion (GMS TRIANGLE Project), Asian Research Centre for Migration and Institute of Asian Studies, Chulalongkorn University

Economic class and labour market inclusion: poor and middle class workers in developing Asia and the Pacific

The paper provides an overview of the situations facing informal, contract and outsourced workers, and how labour law regulates their terms and conditions of work. It analyses both legal and practical constraints in organizing such workers and the challenges to promoting effective social dialogue and collective bargaining.

Authors: Phu Huynh and Steven Kapsos

Published: Economic and Labour Market Analysis Department, Regional Office for Asia and the Pacific
OTHERS

Mindanao trust fund: reconstruction and development program, Annual report, 2012

An article on “Gendered labour supply response to Filipino spouses’ overseas migration and remittances” is featured.

Publisher: World Bank

Publisher: Scalabrini Migration Center

For further information, visit: www.ilo.org/manila

Information on Labordoc is available on: