

Checklist
Section 09

Relevant ILS	Question	YES	NO	Observations
R194	Is there a regulation on recording and notification?
P155, Arts 2, 3	Is recording required for:
	(a) occupational accidents;
	(b) commuting accidents;
	(c) dangerous occurrences; and
Code of practice on recording and notification of occupational accidents and diseases (ILO, 996)	(d) occupational diseases?
	In relation to recording, do regulations include:
	(a) the content and format of records;
	(b) the period of time within which records are to be established;
	(c) the period of time for which records are to be retained;
	(d) a requirement that records are to be obtained and maintained in a way that respects the confidentiality of personal and medical data;
P155, Arts 2, 4, 5	(e) identification of a competent person at the level of the enterprise to prepare and keep records; and
	(f) cooperation in recording procedures where two or more employers engage in activities simultaneously at one worksite?
	Is notification required for:
	(a) occupational accidents;
Code of practice on recording and notification of occupational accidents and diseases (ILO, 1996)	(b) commuting accidents;
	(c) dangerous occurrences; and
	(d) occupational diseases?
	In relation to notification, do regulations include:
Code of practice on recording and notification of occupational accidents and diseases (ILO, 1996)	(a) authorities to which the notification should be sent;
	(b) content of the notification;
	(c) timing of the notification; and
	(d) form of the notification?
Code of practice on recording and notification of occupational accidents and diseases (ILO, 1996)	Do recording and notification requirements extend to self-employed workers?

Relevant ILS	Question	YES	NO	Observations
P155, Art. 1	Does OSH leg. contain definitions of:
	(a) occupational accidents;
	(b) commuting accidents;
	(c) dangerous occurrences; and
	(d) occupational diseases?

ILS	Does the OSH legislation in your country require:	YES	NO	Observations
C121, Art. 8 R194	A list of occupational diseases?
R194, Para. 4	Regular review of the list of occupational diseases?
R194, Para. 2	Compensation of occupational diseases, including:
	(a) those which are recognized in a list of occupational diseases; or
	(b) those which, without being on the list of occupational diseases, present a causality relationship between the working conditions and the health outcome?

ILS	Statistics	YES	NO	Observations
	Question
P155, Arts 6, 7, C081	Does OSH law require the competent authorities to do national statistics on occupational accidents and diseases?
Code of practice on recording and notification of occupational accidents and diseases (ILO, 1996)	In relation to accidents, are national statistics required to cover the number of victims, divided into:
	(i) accidents resulting in death;
	(ii) non-fatal injuries resulting in incapacity for work for at least three consecutive days, excluding the day of the accident; and
	(iii) total days lost, including the first three days, for non-fatal injuries?
Code of practice on recording and notification of occupational accidents and diseases (ILO, 1996)	Are statistics disaggregated by sex, age and migrant status?			