

► The role of cooperatives in the elimination of child labour in agriculture

Guy Tchami – ILO Cooperatives Unit

October 2021

Defining cooperatives : cooperation!

Defining cooperatives : towards a more institutional definition!

A cooperative is “an autonomous association of persons united voluntarily to meet their common economic, social and cultural needs and aspirations through a jointly owned and democratically controlled enterprise””

Cooperative principles

1. Voluntary and open membership
2. Democratic member control
3. Member economic participation
4. Autonomy and independence
5. Education, training and information
6. Cooperation among cooperatives
7. Concern for community

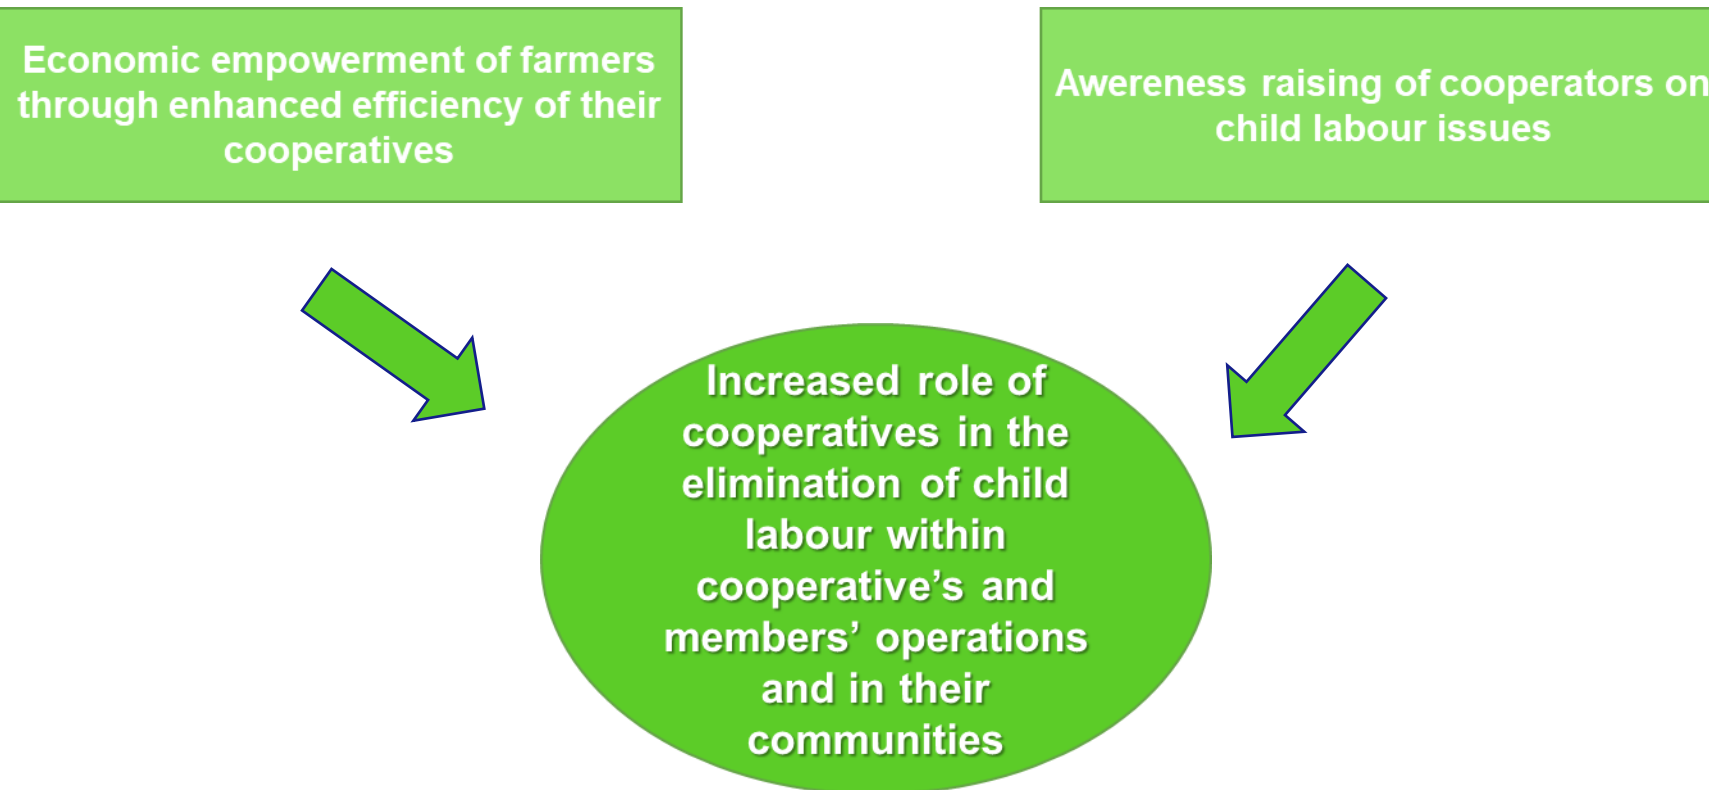

ICA Cooperative Identity (1995)
ILO Recommendation 193 (2002)

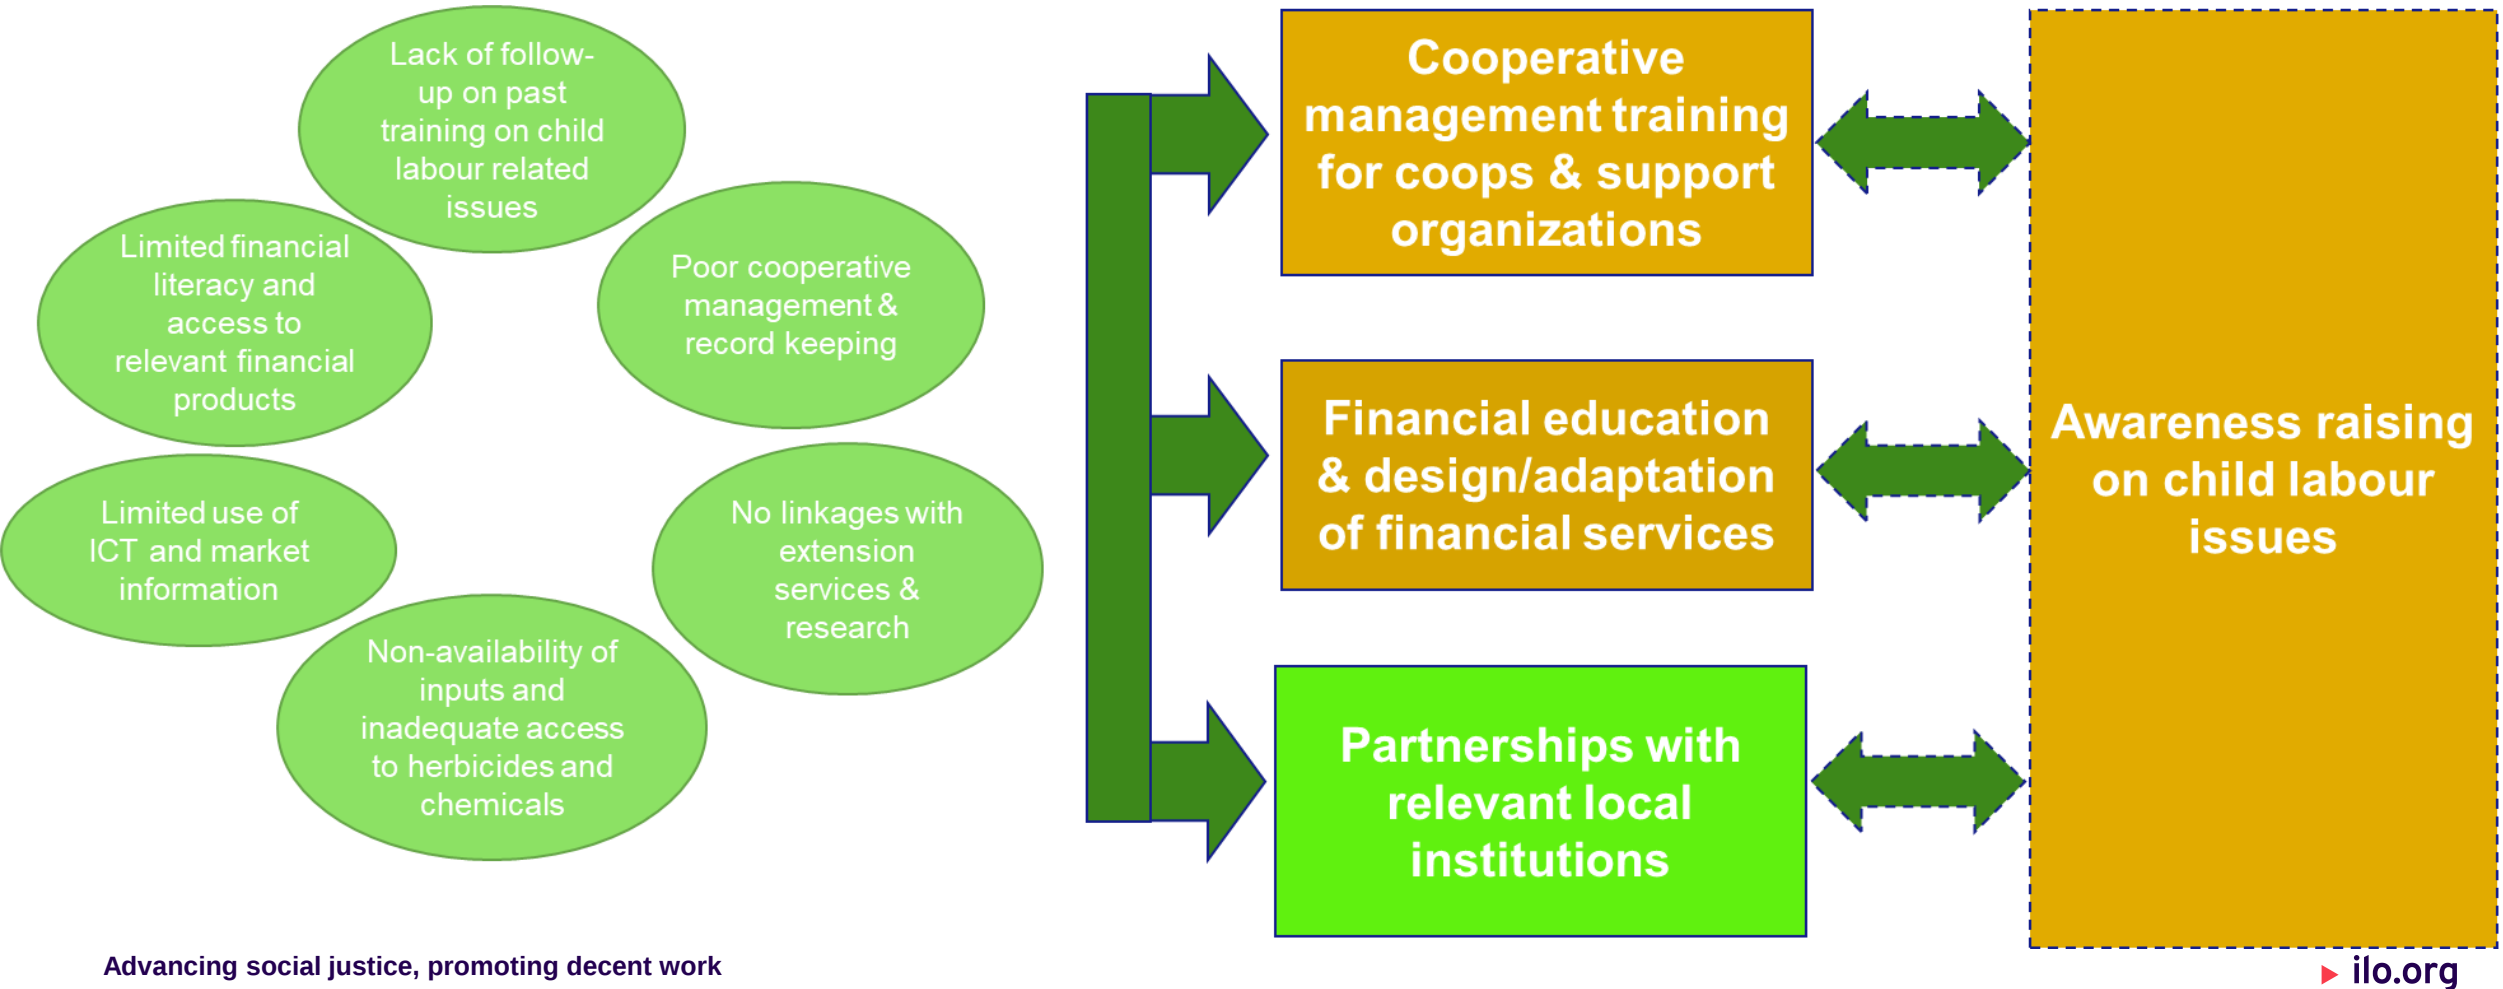

Cooperatives and child labour

- The agricultural sector accounts for 71 per cent of all those in child labour (i.e. 108 million children) representing the sector with the largest share of child labour
- Cooperatives play a significant role in agriculture around the world; Ethiopia: over 4,000 agricultural cooperatives (membership of 4.5 million), Kenya: over 7,000 agricultural cooperatives (over 2 million farmers); EU: agricultural cooperatives control 40% of agri-food sectors
- As values-based organizations, cooperatives, are well-placed to advance and advocate for fundamental principles and rights at work such as the effective abolition of child labour

ILO's approach in Africa in a nutshell (con't)

► ILO's approach: No sustainability without critical involvement local stakeholders!!

- Training of trainers model (capacity building)
- Better market access of cooperatives through collaboration and synergies with relevant local players
