HIGH LEVEL SEMINAR
for INCLUSIVE CITIES

Le Meridien Hotel, Jakarta, 31 October 2017

BACKGROUND

UNESCO, ILO, WHO and in cooperation with APEKSI (Association of Indonesian City Government) have joined forces with the city authorities, the national government and the civil society to promote the rights of persons with disabilities in Indonesia. The UN partners are pursuing a multidimensional approach that involves exchange of best practices among the Network of Mayors for Inclusive Cities, supporting innovative policy solutions to the challenges of disability inclusion, and assisting the national government in the implementation of the newly adopted disability law. Today, these mutual efforts are beginning to bear fruit, as manifested in the following developments and achievements:

- The Network of Mayors for Inclusive Cities with eight members (Ambon, Banda Aceh, Banjarmasin, Denpasar, Metro, Mojokerto, Padang and Yogyakarta) and growing! A Secretariat hosted by APEKSI (Association of Indonesian City Governments) and the capacity-building trainings provided by the UN partners have further reinforced the Network for a higher impact on the lives of persons with disabilities.
- Assessment Tool for Disability Inclusion in the Cities – developed to help cities and their citizens measure progress made towards the fulfillment of international (UN Convention on Promoting the Rights of Persons with Disability) and domestic (2016 Law no. 8 on Disability) commitments.
- Participatory Data Collection and Mapping Tool and the Disability-Inclusive City Profile of Solo – produced in collaboration with Kota Kita Foundation, as a scalable model for a countrywide dissemination.
- Health Sector Roadmap on Inclusive Health System and Service for People with Disability 2017-2030, developed to assist Yogyakarta in addressing the data gaps for effective policy design and implementation
- Draft Presidential Regulation on National Committee for Disabilities, produced with the support from the Indonesian Association of Women with Disabilities (HWDI), in order to promote the establishment a multidisciplinary consultative body tasked with providing a regular guidance for the government on disability issues;

The High Level Seminar on Inclusive Cities in Le Meridien Hotel, Jakarta, on 31 October, will be an occasion to present, by the mayors themselves, the inclusive policies and initiatives that are enabling positive transformations in their cities. The Seminar will also generate an exchange between the national and city authorities about how to engage the cities in the realization of the national law on disability, and how to replicate good practices emerging from different cities throughout the country.

The civil society will also be present at the event, showcasing concrete initiatives designed to enable inclusive policy processes through citizen participation and advocacy, in particular to address the existing data gaps. The representatives of the private sector will use the opportunity to highlight their role in promoting equal employment opportunities for persons with disabilities, and the benefits the recent initiatives in this area has brought to their businesses.

To highlight the sustained commitment of the city governments to the promotion of the rights of persons with disabilities, the Seminar will feature that signing of the Charter of Network of Mayors for Inclusive Cities of Indonesia.
