“We acknowledge the important contribution the Vision Zero Fund makes to improving OSH in global supply chains. We express our renewed commitment to support the Fund’s work and welcome a greater focus on climate change and OSH in global supply chains, including through the implementation of a new pilot project within the Vision Zero Fund.”

G7 Employment Ministerial Meeting
Communiqué, Wolfsburg, 24 May 2022

A wide-angle photograph of a rural agricultural scene. In the foreground, a woman wearing a wide-brimmed straw hat, a red and blue plaid shirt, and a long orange patterned skirt is sowing seeds from a large white sack onto the tilled brown soil. Behind her, another person in a plaid shirt and striped pants is also working. In the background, several other farmers are visible across the field, some standing and others working. The horizon is marked by a line of green trees and distant mountains under a clear blue sky. The text "What are we doing?" is overlaid in white on the left side of the image.

What are we doing?
