Ratified international conventions and national legislation relating to child labour

ILO Conventions No. 138 and No. 182

The ILO has two core Conventions relating to child labour: Convention No. 138 on minimum age, adopted in 1973, and Convention No. 182 on the worst forms of child labour, adopted in 1999.

The status of ratification of these two Conventions is as follows:

Convention	Ratification date	Notes
ILO Convention No. 138 – Minimum age	15 June 2000	Minimum Age: 14
ILO Convention No. 182 – Worst forms	15 June 2000	None

Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations regarding Conventions No. 138 and No. 182

The Committee of Experts is mandated to provide an impartial and technical evaluation of the state of application of the ratified Conventions. The Committee of Experts makes two kinds of comments: observations and direct requests.

Observations contain comments on fundamental questions raised by the application of a particular convention by a state. These observations are published in the Committee's annual report.

Direct requests relate to more technical questions or requests for further information.

See below the individual observations and/or direct requests for Conventions No. 138 and No. 182.

Convention No. 138
Individual observations	None
Direct requests	2004 2005 2006 2008 2010

Convention No. 182

Direct requests	2006 2008 2010

United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child

The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC), adopted in 1989, contains a range of international rights for children. Article 32 of the Convention addresses child labour.

In addition to the CRC, the United Nations General Assembly adopted two Optional Protocols in 2000. One concerning the involvement of children in armed conflict, and the second Optional Protocol on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography.

Convention	Date	Notes	Reservations/Declarations
Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC)	1 May 1991	Yes	None
Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the involvement of children in armed conflict	2 March 2007	Accession	None
Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography	15 December 2004	Accession	None

Committee on the Rights of the Child: Concluding observations on the CRC

The Committee on the Rights of the Child is mandated to monitor and report on the implementation of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child by ratifying governments. The Committee also monitors implementation of the Optional Protocols. The Committee then provides concluding observations.

The Committee's concluding observations for the CRC and the Optional Protocols for this country, if ratified, can be accessed from the United Nation's Treaty Body Database.
