Committee	Mark “X” in the appropriate box depending on whether your government registers as a regular member or as a deputy member
There are three committees which do not appear on this table: the Finance Committee of Government Representatives, since in accordance with article 7bis of the Standing Orders of the Conference each member of the ILO is automatically represented on this Committee, and the two committees of limited membership whose composition is decided by the Conference at its opening sitting: the Selection Committee (article 4) and the Credentials Committee (article 5).	The difference between regular and deputy members is that the latter cannot take part in a vote, unless a government regular member has requested the deputy to replace it. In this case, notice must be given in writing to the Secretariat of the committee (article 56.5 of the Standing Orders). Deputy members have all other rights (e.g. they may take the floor, move resolutions, amendments etc.). As committees meet simultaneously, governments may have difficulty in being represented permanently on all the committees of which they are members. Governments are therefore requested to apply for regular membership only of those committees for which they undertake to be represented throughout the committee’s work.
