Overview

ABSTRACT

The Labour Force Survey (LFS) is a statistical study of the households selected by the appropriate method. The objective of the survey is providing information on not only well-known employment and unemployment as well as providing comprehensive information on other standard indicators characterizing the country labour market. The survey was carried out by the aim to derive the more real picture of main quantitative and qualitative characteristics of Armenian labour market. Having complemented the current questionnaire by special group questions, the following was observed within the survey frame:

1. informal sector employment;
2. informal (hidden) employment;
3. households' employment outside the informal sector;
4. Informal employment outside the informal sector.

NB: This version of the study includes ILO standardized variables. The ILO Department of STATISTICS has developed a comprehensive framework for processing labour force survey microdatasets. Up to 34 standardized derived variables are generated from existing labour force survey microdatasets to allow for the production of internationally comparable labour market indicators.

Sampling

Sampling Procedure

A two stage stratified sample by regions (marzes) has been designed to conduct the survey. The method of systematic probability sampling was used to frame the sample. Yerevan and all marzes with rural and urban settlements were covered by sample population with proportion of all HH available in these strata. Based on the administrative and territorial division of RA at the first stage of sampling, the preliminary sampling units, i.e. enumeration areas were selected. 2001 Armenian Population Census results were used to calculate the mentioned proportions. At the second stage of sampling the primary sampling units, that are HHs to be surveyed, were randomly selected. As a result, during the year have been surveyed 7 680 HHs (monthly 640 HHs), of which 5 160 urban and 2 520 rural areas. At the same time a reserve sample was selected by the same steps, because it was anticipated that in most cases the questionnaire may not be completed due to household's refusal to participate in the survey, absence from the republic or other reasons. As a result, the HHs not participated in the survey were replaced from the reserve sample. The selection of households (HH) has been done monthly by the rotation principle.

Deviations from Sample Design

Relatively less popular phenomena objectively have less chance to be included in the sample because of its limited size. Therefore data at a high level of disaggregation (e.g. the simultaneous crossing of several variables) may have limited or insufficient representativeness. Similarly, the quarterly survey data (annual sample per quarter) are representataive only by large grouping of indicators because of the small sample size. The sampling method doesn't give full opportunity to provide adequate coverage for all the types of economic activity or occupation, since the sample is not stratified according to these variables. The indicators describing the popoulation's economic activity status are based on a respondents' answers, personal (subjective) assessment of standardized questionnaire. In some cases the answers are received not directly from the respondent, but are based on the answers of other adult from HH (proxy answers). As a result, the received data in some cases can differ from reality.

Response Rate

The distribution of non-respond reasons was the following:

- 77.7% - up to 1 year absence;
- 14.8% - refusal;
- 7.5% - other.

Questionnaires

Overview

The design of the questionnaire, used concepts, set of indicators and calculation methodology, sampling method basically comply with the definitions and concepts recommended by the ILO and Eurostat, while taking into account the peculiarities of their application in Armenia to the extent possible, at the same time, by providing the comparability with the international similar indicators.

Data Collection Notes

- Observation period is all the weeks of all the months of the year.
- Reference period is the last one week preceding the survey, from Monday to Sunday including).

The design of the questionnaire, used concepts, set of indicators and calculation methodology, sampling method basically comply with the definitions and concepts recommended by the ILO and Eurostat, while taking into account the peculiarities of their application in Armenia to the extent possible, at the same time, by providing the comparability with the international similar indicators.

Supervision

For the best implementation of field and post-field survey work, special training courses were organized for the working group.

Data Processing

Other Processing

*Labour Force Survey Microdata Pre-processing:

The process of deriving ILO standardized variables has been applied to the National Labour Force Surveys downloaded from the Microdata Repository. If the microdata set provides all the information required, it can be created up to 34 key variables. To know that these variables have been processed and that they are now in a standardized format that is comparable across microdata, they are called "ilo_XXX". Each key variable has a different name (XXX). All these variables are added at the end of the original microdataset (version 1: 3-dgt ISO_Survey_Year_v01_M_v01_A_ILOVAR_ILO).

Recode note: International classifications based on ISCED, ISIC and ISCO are using, (at certain levels of disaggregation) letters instead of numbers. These letters have been replaced by numbers to keep numerical characters as values. Nevertheless, labels and categories' boundaries are following international standard classifications.

*Important notes on the dataset

Age (ilo_age and ilo_age by groups)

Three observations with age=-1 were replaced by age=0 based on the date of birth (they were not born at the moment of the interview but were at the end of the reference period).

Education (ilo_edu_isced97)

Based on the mapping developed by UNESCO, the educational level "Vocational" and "Secondary specialized" are both included into category 6 (post-secondary non-tertiary education).

Education attendance (ilo_edu_attendance)

There's no question related to current educational attendance asked for the entire population and therefore this variable is not computed.

Working-age population (ilo_wap)

This variable follows the national definition of the working-age population: people aged between 15 and 75 years old, excluding those absent from the household more than 3 months (except those on compulsory military service). Given that from the question related to the reason of the absence from home, the category "army" is not clearly identifiable, the variable kept as ilo_wap equals the existent one "labour resources - working-age population".

Labour force status (ilo_lfs)

The computed category of unemployed people follows the ILO definition of unemployment (without work, available and seeking). It differs from the national estimate because they include people that were not seeking for a job or did not try to launch their own business, but will be able to start working in two weeks if there is an appropriate job offer

Multiple job holders (ilo_mjh)

This variable is computed using the literal question from the questionnaire "in addition to your main job/activity did you have any other job/activity"; the final number of observations in this category differs from those in the category on the original file (variable emsj=1), where one can find two more observations classified as second-job holders (yet, no information is found for them on the second-job section).

Institutional sector of economic activities (ilo_job1_ins_sector)

Non-governmental organizations/religious organizations/representative office of an international organization are classified und private sector (for both primary and secondary job).

Working-time arrangement (ilo_job1_job_time)

This variable is based on a self-assessment question.

Informal economy: unit of production (ilo_job1_ife_prod)

The variable "social security" is computed as follows:

The three questions used here are asked only to employees. Those with medical insurance provided by the employer are classified under "yes" for social security; those without medical insurance provided by the employer are classified under "no" for social security. After, those without medical insurance or that did not answered to that question, are checked for paid leave and paid sick leave; if they answered yes to both questions on paid leave and paid sick leave, they are classified under "yes" for social security; those without both of them are classified under "no" for social security. The rest observations that do not satisfy these conditions are classified under "do not know/don't want to answer".

The calculation of informal/formal sector follows the most recent version of the global navigational path. Information on bookkeeping is not available and therefore this filter is not taken into account. Information on premises or the size of the enterprise are not available and therefore the conditions can be followed up to the social security contribution node.

Informal economy: nature of job (ilo_job1_ife_nature)

This variable follow the most recent version of the global navigational path on nature of job. It uses the computed variable for social security.

Monthly labour related income (ilo_joball_lri)

The total amount of wage/income is computed as follows: for those who did not refuse to answer the exact amount in cash and in kind received, both variables were summed up. For those who refused to answer the exact amount of wage/income and answered to the question of the approximate amount by intervals, the mid-point of the chosen interval is taken. The final variable "monthly labour related income" combines the computed total amount of wage/income and the period it was reported for (one day, one week, two weeks, one month, six months and one year). Those without any specification on the period were deleted.

Time-related underemployment (ilo_joball_tru)

This variable is computed using two criteria: the person would like to work additional hours and worked less than a threshold (threshold defined following the TRAVAIL database = 40 hours actually worked per week).

Cases of non-fatal occupational injuries (ilo_joball_oi_case)

No information available to compute this variable.

Days lost due to cases of occupational injury (ilo_joball_oi_day)

No information available to compute this variable.

Duration of unemployment (ilo_dur)

The variable at the detailed level: the created category "(2) 1 month to less than 3 months" includes category "(1) Less than 1 month"; the created category "(4) 6 months to less than 12 months" includes "(3) 3 months to less than 6 months".

The variable at the aggregated level: the created category "(2) 6 months to less than 12 months" includes category "(1) Less than 6 months".

General social protection (ilo_gsp_unschemes)

No information available to compute this variable.

Reason for not seeking job (ilo_olf_reason)

Created category "(3) Does not need/want to work" is not available amongst the original categories.

Youth not in education, employment or training (ilo_neet)

Given that the question on education attendance is not asked for the whole population, the question "why did not you have any job/activity during the last week" is used and NEET are all categories but those who answered "pupil/students" to this question, between 15 and 24 years old and outside employment.

Overview

Type: Discrete	Valid cases: 3333
Format: numeric	Invalid: 1485
Width: 24	Minimum: 1

Range: 1-3

Description

We follow the "Resolution concerning "Resolution concerning statistics of work, employment and labour underutilization" adopted by the 19th International Conference of Labour Statisticians (October 2013).

Persons may be classified in a short reference period (seven days/one week), according to their labour force status as being:

(a) In employment: Persons in employment are defined as all those of working age who, during a short reference period, were engaged in any activity to produce goods or provide services for pay or profit. They comprise: (a) employed persons "at work", i.e. who worked in a job for at least one hour; (b) employed persons "not at work" due to temporary absence from a job, or to working-time arrangements (such as shift work, flexitime and compensatory leave for overtime).

(b) In unemployment: Persons in unemployment are defined as all those of working age who were not in employment, carried out activities to seek employment during a specified recent period and were currently available to take up employment given a job opportunity, where: (a) "not in employment" is assessed with respect to the short reference period for the measurement of employment; (b) to "seek employment" refers to any activity when carried out, during a specified recent period comprising the last four weeks or one month, for the purpose of finding a job or setting up a business or agricultural undertaking. This includes also part-time, informal, temporary, seasonal or casual employment, within the national territory or abroad; (c) the point when the enterprise starts to exist should be used to distinguish between search activities aimed at setting up a business and the work activity itself, as evidenced by the enterprise's registration to operate or by when financial resources become available, the necessary infrastructure or materials are in place or the first client or order is received, depending on the context; (d) "currently available" serves as a test of readiness to start a job in the present, assessed with respect to a short reference period comprising that used to measure employment. Depending on national circumstances, the reference period may be extended to include a short subsequent period not exceeding two weeks in total, so as to ensure adequate coverage of unemployment situations among different population groups.

(c) Outside the labour force. Priority is given to employment over the other two categories, and to unemployment over outside the labour force. The three categories of labour force status are, thus, mutually exclusive and exhaustive. The sum of persons in employment and in unemployment equals the labour force. Persons outside the labour force are those of working age who were neither in employment nor in unemployment in the short reference period.

Description

Status in employment (ICSE 93) (ilo_job1_ste_icse93)

File: ARM_2014_LFS_Q4_v01_M_v01_A_ILOVAR_SPSS

We map the status in employment with the International Classification of Status in Employment (ICSE) 93. If this is not possible we are using only the aggregated categories (second best option).

The ICSE-93 consists of the following groups:

1. Employees; among whom countries may need and be able to distinguish "employees with stable contracts" (including "regular employees"). Employees are all those workers who hold the type of job defined as "paid employment jobs". Employees with stable contracts are those "employees" who have had, and continue to have, an explicit (written or oral) or implicit contract of employment, or a succession of such contracts, with the same employer on a continuous basis. "On a continuous basis" implies a period of employment which is longer than a specified minimum determined according to national circumstances. (If interruptions are allowed in this minimum period, their maximum duration should also be determined according to national circumstances.) Regular employees are those "employees with stable contracts" for whom the employing organization is responsible for payment of relevant taxes and social security contributions and/or where the contractual relationship is subject to national labour legislation.
2. Employers are those workers who, working on their own account or with one or a few partners, hold the type of job defined as a "self-employment job", and, in this capacity, on a continuous basis (including the reference period) have engaged one or more persons to work for them in their business as "employee(s)". The meaning of "engage on a continuous basis" is to be determined by national circumstances, in a way which is consistent with the definition of "employees with stable contracts". (The partners may or may not be members of the same family or household.)
3. Own-account workers are those workers who, working on their own account or with one or more partners, hold the type of job defined as "a self-employment job", and have not engaged on a continuous basis any "employees" to work for them during the reference period. It should be noted that during the reference period the members of this group may have engaged "employees", provided that this is on a non-continuous basis. (The partners may or may not be members of the same family or household.)
4. Members of producers' cooperatives are workers who hold a "self-employment" job in a cooperative producing goods and services, in which each member takes part on an equal footing with other members in determining the organization of production, sales and/or other work of the establishment, the investments and the distribution of the proceeds of the establishment amongst their members. (It should be noted that "employees" of producers' cooperatives are not to be classified to this group.)
5. Contributing family workers are those workers who hold a "self-employment" job in a market-oriented establishment operated by a related person living in the same household, who cannot be regarded as a partner, because their degree of commitment to the operation of the establishment, in terms of working time or other factors to be determined by national circumstances, is not at a level comparable to that of the head of the establishment. (Where it is customary for young persons, in particular, to work without pay in an economic enterprise operated by a related person who does not live in the same household, the requirement of "living in the same household" may be eliminated.)
6. Workers not classifiable by status include those for whom insufficient relevant information is available, and/or who cannot be included in any of the preceding categories.

However, some microdatasets don't provide this level of details and then it should be mapped only at the first digit (second best option). If a country is still classifying based on ISIC Revision 3.1, it should be mapped at second digit or first digit if it's not possible (third and fourth best options). Finally, if it can't be mapped neither with ISIC Rev 4 nor Rev 3.1, then the variable should be created with just the aggregated level of classification (fifth best option).

Informal / Formal Economy (Unit of production) (ilo_job1_ife_prod)

File: ARM_2014_LFS_Q4_v01_M_v01_A_ILOVAR_SPSS

We map persons in informal or formal sector based on the 15th ICLS, the 17th ICLS and the Manual on measuring informality published in 2013. We define whether the person works in Formal Sector (all workers in incorporated enterprises), Informal Sector (all workers in unincorporated enterprises that produce at least partly for the market and are not registered; It excludes households that produce exclusively for own final use; subsistence agriculture, construction of own dwellings, manufacture of own wearing apparel, own furniture, water and fuel collection for own use, etc.) or in a Household (all workers in unincorporated enterprises that produce goods and services exclusively for own-final use. It includes paid domestic employees, subsistence agriculture, construction of own dwellings, manufacture of own wearing apparel, own furniture, water and fuel collection for own use, etc. Persons classified in ISIC 97 (Revision 4) and ISCO 63 (ISCO-08) are included here). The key questions from a labour force survey used here are: institutional sector; destination of production; bookkeeping; registration of the unit; location of workplace; size and social security coverage.

Description

We map persons in informal or formal sector based on the 15th ICLS, the 17th ICLS and the Manual on measuring informality published in 2013. We define whether the person's main job is formal or informal. If the person is an employee, this is defined based on the attachment to a national labour legislation or the entitlement to certain employment benefits (paid vacation, paid sick leave and contribution to pension funds). If the person is self-employed, it depends on the unit of production as defined in "ilo_job1_ife_prod". Finally, all the contributing family workers are holding informal jobs.

Description

We follow the "Resolution concerning the measurement of working time Adopted by the Eighteenth International Conference of Labour Statisticians (November-December 2008)".

Weekly hours actually worked in main job include direct hours or the time spent carrying out the tasks and duties of a job; related hours, or the time spent maintaining, facilitating or enhancing productive activities; down time, or time when a person in a job cannot work due to machinery or process breakdown, accident, lack of supplies or power or Internet access; resting time, or time spent in short periods of rest, relief or refreshment, including tea, coffee or prayer breaks, generally practised by custom or contract according to established norms and/or national circumstances. It excludes, for paid employment (even when paid by the employer), time not worked during activities such as annual leave, public holidays, sick leave, parental leave or maternity/ paternity leave, other leave for personal or family reasons or civic duty; commuting time between work and home when no productive activity for the job is performed; for paid employment, even when paid by the employer; time spent in certain educational activities; for paid employment, even when authorized, paid or provided by the employer; longer breaks distinguished from short resting time when no productive activity is performed (such as meal breaks or natural repose during long trips).

Weekly hours usually worked in main job is the typical value of hours actually worked in a job for a short reference period such as one week, over a long observation period of a month, quarter, season or year that comprises the short reference measurement period used. Hours usually worked applies to all jobs. The short reference period for measuring hours usually worked should be the same as the reference period used to measure employment or household service and volunteer work.

Description

We follow the "Resolution concerning the measurement of employment-related income adopted by the Sixteenth International Conference of Labour Statisticians (October 1998)". The earnings of employees relate to the gross remuneration in cash and in kind paid to employees, as a rule at regular intervals, for time worked or work done together with remuneration for time not worked, such as annual vacation, other type of paid leave or holidays. Earnings exclude employers' contributions in respect to their employees paid to social security and pension schemes and also the benefits received by employees under these schemes. Earnings also exclude severance and termination pay. Statistics of earnings relate to the gross remuneration of employees, i.e. the total before any deductions are made by the employer.

Description

We follow the "Resolution concerning the measurement of employment-related income adopted by the Sixteenth International Conference of Labour Statisticians (October 1998)". Income related to self-employment is defined as the income which is received, over a given reference period, by individuals, for themselves or in respect of their family members, as a result of their current or former involvement in self-employment jobs. Statistics of employment-related income should relate to the gross remuneration of self-employed workers. This concept includes: the profit (or the share of profit) which is generated by the self-employment activity; where relevant, the remuneration received by owner-managers of corporations and quasi-corporations; and the amount of employment-related social security benefits received by self-employed persons through schemes recognizing the status in employment as a specific condition for membership. The value of gross output may be defined as the value of all goods and services produced for the market as well as for own final use. It excludes income derived from other sources such as property, social assistance, transfers, etc., not related to employment.

Description

We follow the "Resolution concerning statistics of work, employment and labour underutilization adopted by the Nineteenth International Conference of Labour Statisticians (October 2013)". Persons in time-related underemployment comprise all persons in employment, who satisfy the following three criteria during the reference period: want to work additional hours and currently available to work additional hours i.e., are ready, within a specified subsequent period, to work additional hours, given opportunities for additional work and worked less than a threshold relating to working time i.e., persons whose hours usually worked in all jobs during the reference period were below a threshold. The hour threshold has to be chosen according to national circumstances. In the absence of nationally defined threshold, the most widely used practice of 35 hours per week is applied.

Description

We follow the "Resolution concerning statistics of work, employment and labour underutilization adopted by the Nineteenth International Conference of Labour Statisticians (October 2013)". The degrees of labour market attachment are classified as follow: seeking, not available (Unavailable jobseekers); not seeking, available (Available potential jobseekers); not seeking, not available, willing (Willing non-jobseekers); not seeking, not available, not willing and not elsewhere classified. Potential labour force is defined as all persons of working age who, during the short reference period, were neither in employment nor in unemployment and: carried out activities to "seek employment", were not "currently available" but would become available within a short subsequent period established in light of national circumstances (i.e. unavailable jobseekers); or did not carry out activities to "seek employment", but wanted employment and were "currently available" (i.e. available potential job seekers).
