ILO at a Glance and its Work in Mozambique
Advancing social justice, promoting decent work
The International Labour Organization is a Specialized Agency of the United Nations (UN) mandated to formulate and improve policies, programs, working conditions and employment opportunities, defining international labour standards, as well as guidelines to Governments, Employers and Workers' Organizations.

The ILO is the UN agency for the world of work. We bring together governments, employers and workers to drive a human-centred approach to the future of work through employment creation, rights at work, social protection and social dialogue on work-related issues in alignment with the Decent Work Agenda (DWA). The ILO accomplishes its works through three main bodies, through which it is enabled to accomplish its mandate, namely:

- International Labour Conference (ILC)
- Governing Body (GB)
- International Labour Office

Mozambique is part of the ILO Country Office- Lusaka, which was established in 1968 under Regional Office for Africa. It has been working closely with tripartite partners, as well as involving governmental and non-governmental counterparts, UN agencies and development partners to promote social dialogue, social protection, economic empowerment and the generation of decent employment opportunities through the implementation of international labour standards in the countries covered by the CO-Lusaka, namely, Malawi, Mozambique and Zambia.

Key Planning Documents and Frameworks

The Strategic Plan is the ILO's medium-term planning document. It applies Results-Based Management (RBM) in identifying the results expected for the period, within a framework of outcomes, indicators and targets. This results framework drives ILO assistance to constituents and forms a coherent basis for cooperation with ILO partners and for the design of ILO development cooperation programmes.

The Decent Work Country Programmes (DWCP)

The P&B is often translated at country level through the DWCP. The DWCPs have been established as the main vehicle for delivery of the ILO's support to member States and the tripartite partners. Mozambique had a DWCP from 2011-2016 and it focused on the implementation of the National Employment Policy (NEP), which was developed through tripartite consultations. The four pillars of the DWA namely; through the first pillar Social Protection, the ILO was able to support the design of the National Strategy for Basic Social Security Strategy (ENSSB) 2016-2024 which sets the Government of Mozambique's vision towards reducing poverty and vulnerability through non-contributory Social Protection Programmes within the first item in its framework. Additionally, the second item within the ILO's social protection's framework, is the strategy for compulsory social security, which aims to enforce employees' and employers' contributory obligations and extend the coverage of contributory subsystem to self-employed workers. The National Strategy for Compulsory Social Security (ENSSO) 2019-2024 is yet to be approved.

Through the remnant pillars, including, employment creation/ enterprise development, fundamental principles/ rights at work and international labour standards/ social dialogue which are embedded in the National Employment Policy, a framework through which the ILO provides support to Mozambique.

Decent Work is at the heart of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), the ILO's activities are in line with the United Nations Development Assistance Framework (UNDAF) which are also aligned with the Government's Five-Year Programme (PQG). The PQG takes into account both national strategic planning instruments, regional and global development objectives, including the SDGs.

The Mozambique UNDAF 2017-2021 provides the UN's contribution to the Government of Mozambique's priority areas such as: consolidating national unity, peace and sovereignty, developing human and social capital, promoting employment, productivity and competitiveness, developing economic and social infrastructure, ensuring sustainable and transparent management of natural resources and the environment. The ILO is the convener of outcome 5 on social protection under UNDAF 2017-2021. The creation of a dedicated outcome on social protection was an important achievement for advancing the agenda of poverty eradication and social protection in Mozambique. Based on this, the UNDAF, structured in ten Outcomes, focuses on the following Result Areas: Prosperity, People, Peace and Planet.

Social Protection Programme

The ILO congratulates the Republic of Mozambique for the developments and milestones achieved towards the consolidation of a comprehensive social protection system in the country and the materialization of a nationally defined Social Protection Floor. The National Strategy for Basic Social Protection 2016-2024, endorsed by the Council of Ministers in February 2016, represents a major achievement and an example for the region, having a huge potential to materialize the right to social protection of millions of Mozambicans, who are currently uncovered by any social protection scheme. The ILO recognises the efforts made in the last decade by the Republic of Mozambique to extend coverage of social protection and to improve the quality of benefits, both on the non-contributory and contributory schemes. The observed increase regarding the domestic fiscal space dedicated to basic social protection programmes in Mozambique demonstrates the commitment of the Government of Mozambique towards social protection, a key policy area that contributes to poverty alleviation, reduces inequality, raises income, increases domestic consumption, enhances human capital and productivity, and supports the formalization of the informal economy, thus ensuring sustainable development.

Despite the progress made in the last decade, some challenges remain to achieve a satisfactory level of social protection coverage for the majority of the population. Basic social protection programmes cover barely 19 per cent of the population living below the poverty line in Mozambique. Ensuring full implementation of the National Strategy for Basic Social Protection 2016-2024 becomes fundamental to overcome that situation. Considering that around 75 per cent of the economically active population in Mozambique work in the informal sector, it is key to extend social protection coverage to economic units and workers of that sector of the economy. Ensuring that the Mozambican population can benefit from quality health care assistance when in need without incurring in catastrophic health expenditures is also key for guaranteeing the right to health and achieving sustainable development in the country.

The ILO has worked together with the Government of Mozambique for the last decade on social protection issues, and has contributed to the achievement of several milestones, providing technical and financial assistance to support national dialogue and key policy reforms. The organization has also been actively advocating for enhanced fiscal space dedicated to social protection, contributing to policy framework development in line with ILO conventions and supporting the modernization of the social protection system to increase efficiency in order to establish and further consolidate a Social Protection Floor in Mozambique. As main milestones achieved with ILO support regarding the social protection system in Mozambique during the last decade, it is worth to mention:

► The elaboration of the first (2010-2014) and second (2016-2024) National Basic Social Protection Strategy (ENSSB);
► The conceptualization, design and roll-out of the Management Information System (MIS) for non-contributory social protection programmes implemented by National Institute of Social Action (INAS);
► Support provided to the implementation of annual Social Protection Weeks since 2012;
► Support to the Actuarial Assessment of the social security contributory schemes for both National Institute of Social Security (INSS) and National Institute of Social Insurance (INPS);
► Technical support to the elaboration of the Health Social Insurance proposal, and;
► Support to the elaboration of the National Contributory Social Security Strategy (ENSSO 2019-2024).
► Advisory support to the elaboration of the national COVID-19 Social Protection Response Plan to address the socioeconomic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic on the most vulnerable;
► Technical support to the elaboration of the first and second national bulletins of statistics on social protection;
► The development of advocacy activities with key stakeholders, such as the Ministry of Finance, the International Monetary Fund, political parties, journalists and academia, for enhancing awareness and political support for increased fiscal space for social protection;
► Technical assistance to civil society organizations to strengthen their capacities to effectively engage in the national dialogue on social protection issues.

The ILO remains fully engaged and committed to work together with the Government of Mozambique to overcome current challenges and further strengthen the national social protection system to ensure every citizen is covered by social protection schemes, thus contributing to reduce poverty and inequality, and the achievement of the sustainable development goals.

► The South-south Cooperation for the Promotion of Decent Work in the Cotton Supply Chain in Mozambique

Under the South-South Cooperation, the Government of Brazil requested the ILO to implement this project to support developing countries whose economies depend on cotton production. This project is aimed at promoting decent work through the systematization, sharing and adaptation of relevant Brazilian experiences in areas such as poverty eradication, productive inclusion, prevention and elimination of child labour and forced labour, promotion of youth employment, combating discrimination, and promoting gender, race and ethnicity equality, and social dialogue. As indicated in the project document, several initiatives have been developed in Brazil to promote decent work in the cotton supply chain, in particular to:

a) Prevent and eliminate child and forced labour;
b) Promote productive inclusion focusing on capacity building and employment for youth and women.

The Project has supported the following interventions:

- The development of a study to identify gaps and challenges on promotion of decent work in the cotton supply chain in Mozambique;
- Support the capacity building of the Labour Inspectorate in child labour issues and the participation of the Mozambican delegation in the Brazilian Cotton Congress;
- Support capacity building of the labour inspectorate to monitor and supervise the implementation of the legislations on OSH;
- Technical support is being provided to the development of Rural Regulation in Mozambique in partnership with the Ministry of Agriculture, Ministry of Labour and Social Security;
- Support the implementation of the National Action Plan on Child Labour and it's List of Worst Forms of Child Labour;
- Support capacity building of the Cotton Producers Forum to increase it's capacity to advocate and negotiate the cotton minimum annual price under social dialogue pillar, representing the national cotton producers.

Scaling up the HIV and AIDS response in the Workplace

To respond to the continue increasing of HIV transmission and aiming to copy the pandemic among the world of work stakeholders, the Mozambican government is making efforts in the promotion of combined prevention programmes based on the targets and priorities set in the National Strategic Plan. The ILO, through the VCT@Work initiative in Mozambique is supporting national workplace stakeholders to create an enabling environment to ensure that more men and women workers know their status, contributing to prevention efforts and creating more demand for HIV-related services.

Thus, ILO is supporting the national stakeholders of the world of work in Mozambique to mobilize workers, young workers, informal sector workers and operators, their families and community members to undertake voluntary counselling and testing, providing them with an opportunity to access health services, but also to use social dialogue as a means to ensure a non-discriminatory workplace environment, and also contributing to global gaols of UNAIDS on 90-90-90.

The intervention is promoting the international labour standard on HIV and AIDS, the Recommendation concerning HIV and AIDS and the world of work, No. 200 (2010), which was adopted by the ILO's constituents in June 2010 and puts forth a set of principles and guidance to frame policy responses to HIV in general, and to HIV testing in particular, by:

- Promoting measures to ensure that workers have access to HIV related services, which include promotion of VCT and HIV Self testing. Workers have opportunity to know their own HIV status through voluntary counselling and testing and HIV ST;
- Advising on services in or through the workplace that include access to free or affordable voluntary counselling and testing, in collaboration with local communities;
- Requesting the ILO's constituents to adopt testing practices that are voluntary and free of any coercion and respecting international guidelines on confidentiality, counselling and consent;
- Emphasizing the need for testing programmes that do not endanger access to jobs, tenure,
Through targeted programmes focussed on ensuring that young women are reached by sexual reproductive health services, and with programmes addressing gender-based violence, the intervention contributes to the Women at Work Initiative. This is one of the seven initiatives launched by the ILO to celebrate its Centenary in 2019, and provides a platform to discuss progress and gaps in the achievement of women's empowerment and gender equality at work, as well as promotes drivers for transformational change.

Since the launch of the VCT@Work Initiative in Mozambique, 130,000 workers and workplace surrounding community members have been provided a HIV and other health services as testing. The new HIV self-testing approach has provided 10,500 kits to the same number of workers in 4 piloting sites from January to April 2021.

Regarding the public sector, the ILO has supported the elaboration of the National Strategy on AIDS for public sector aiming to provide support to public servants to have access to HIV related services, combating stigma and discrimination in the workplace and mitigating the impact of AIDS in infected and affected workers. Currently, 2021, ILO is supporting the development of 3 sectoral implementation plan on AIDS for the Ministry of Education, Ministry of Home Affairs and Ministry of Public Affairs.

► The Rural Roads Accessibility and Jobs (RAJ) Project

Under the implementation of the ILO with funding from the Japanese Embassy in Mozambique, the Rural Roads Accessibility and Jobs Project is being implemented in the Central region of Mozambique in partnership with the National Road Authority and the National Road training Centre.

Project objective

The aim of the project is to disseminate employment intensive and low-cost technologies for tertiary road building that can increase resilience, create jobs and speed up the recovery of infrastructures and livelihoods in areas affected by cyclone IDAI whilst promoting three local-resource-based techniques with huge potential for applicability in the Mozambican context: Low Volume Sealed Roads (LVSR), Cobblestone paving and Do-nou. The project will also introduce community-based maintenance techniques. These will provide capacity building opportunities for the local beneficiaries and empowerment of low skilled workers such as chiselers and pavers.

Milestones achieved within this outcome involve providing:

► Delivery of Do-nou training and temporary employment generation for 28 beneficiaries
► Reconstruction of 213 meters containing (with 150 meters drainage) of road adjoining the national road (N7)
► Construction of a 5-meter bridge employing Do-nou techniques
► Delivery of Low Volume Sealed Roads training in the Vanduzi Districts

► Trade for Decent Work Project Brief

One of the highlights of the ILO Lusaka Country Office All Staff Meeting, held on the 14th July 2021, was a presentation made on the Trade for Decent Work Project. The initiative is part of ILO’s support to the Mozambican Ministry of Labour and Social Security, and its constituents, in their continued endeavors to strengthening its capacity to fulfil its reporting obligations and act upon the recommendations and observations made by ILO Supervisory Bodies, namely the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions and Recommendations (CEACR).

The funding (approximately Euro 160,000 for Mozambique activities until 31st December 2021) is provided by the European Union as a support in the betterment of working conditions in his trading partner countries, where Mozambique is a key player. Trade between the EU and Mozambique estimated to be about €2 billion annually.

As an international project, it is also being implemented in 4 other African countries (Cabo Verde, Ivory Coast, Ghana and Madagascar) and 6 Asian countries (Bangladesh, Philippines, Mongolia, Myanmar, Pakistan and Vietnam).

The Project is demand driven, as it is a result of a joint consultation process, with the Constituents, that started back in 2019, after Mozambique's signature of the Maritime Labour Convention 2006, as per amendment. Ratification was registered with effect from 25th of May 2021, making Mozambique the 98th country to ratify it, and 22nd country in Africa to formalize its international commitment to the instrument.

Overall, the Trade for Decent Work Project is:

► Contributing to the United-Nations Sustainable Development Goal (SDG) 8, through improved labour relations and working conditions;

► The Project can be seen as an answer from Mozambican Government to the SADC’s calling upon its member countries to improve their compliance with ILO eight Fundamental Conventions.

The project has a specific emphasis on child labour, enriched by work to assist the complimentary actions after ratification process of the Maritime Labour Convention (MLC), and promoting the Tripartite Declaration on Multinational Enterprises and Social Policy (MNE Declaration). This will be achieved through capacity development (ILO International Training Center in Turin), policy advise, joint tripartite dialogues and consultancies.

The direct target groups (Stakeholders and beneficiaries) are: The Ministry of Labour and Social Security, Maritime Authority (currently under the Ministry of Transport and Communications), the Secretary of State for Youth and Employment, Employers’ and Workers’ Organizations respectively, other technical ministries, Parliamentarians, members of the Judiciary, University lecturers and civil society at large.

The project will also support tripartite constituents, in a joint activity with Cabo Verde, in engaging with multinational enterprises from the extractive sector on the promotion of decent work. Activities will involve, multinational enterprises, their home countries and other relevant stakeholders to strengthen dialogue on the challenges and opportunities linked to MNEs operations for the realization of decent work in the sector.
