Specific section (XII) on “Prevention, mitigation and preparedness”:

Calls on Member States to take measures to build resilience, and to prevent, mitigate and prepare for crises by:

- ▶ identifying risks and evaluating threats to human, physical, economic, environmental, institutional and social capital at local, national and regional levels;
- ▶ managing risks through contingency planning, early warning systems, risk reduction measures and emergency response preparedness;
- ▶ preventing and mitigating adverse effects, in particular by instituting business continuity management in both the public and private sectors.

Improve the assessment methodology through new estimation methods

- ▶ administrative data
- input-output tables / social accounting matrices
- rapid labour market surveys
- (and Social Protection also in the pipeline)

Simplify guidance for staff and national partners

- production of a series of cheat-sheets to provide easy to read and hands-on guidance
- shorter and revised version of original guidance note

Develop a training material

- modular training package to provide guidance on background and scope of PDNA + technical guidance on existing and new estimation methods
- video tutorials with ILO experts
- case study to apply tools in a real-life disaster scenario

all material to be provided in English, French and Spanish
