Consultant to facilitate cross-border capacity-building sessions on OFW reintegration between Quezon City Migrant Resource Center and reintegration service providers in pilot corridors

I. Rationale

The International Labour Organization supports the Quezon City Government in operationalizing a Migrant Resource Center (MRC). The National Capital Region (NCR) has always been among the top 5 regions of origin of OFWs. Quezon City is the biggest city in the NCR in terms of population. It also has one of the more developed migration governance efforts in the NCR. Institutionalizing an effective and gender-responsive MRC in Quezon City will not only benefit a significant number of OFWs and their families; it will also serve as a national showcase of how LGUs can run such MRC.

At the local level, Migrant Resource Centers (MRCs) and OFW help desks are responsible in providing services to OFWs and their families throughout the migration cycle. A Migrant Resource Center (MRC) is a one-stop service center that offers various programmes and services for migrants and their families in the whole migration cycle -- pre-departure, transit, on-site services, re-entry, return, and reintegration. Services vary depending on the context – considering needs of OFWs and their families and resources in the communities – and typically encompass access to information (policy and programmes advisories, overseas job requirements, etc.); provision of direct services, including psychosocial and economic-related interventions; referrals to relevant agencies/service providers; providing grievance or redress mechanisms; maintaining a migrant database/registry, and support to OFW family groups, among others.

The Philippines also has robust policies and practices on labour migration governance considering that there are comprehensive recruitment regulatory mechanisms, state grievance redress mechanisms for OFWs, and several programmes and services on reintegration for OFWs and their families, to mention some. However, while these remarkable practices safeguard the interest of migrant workers, there are remaining challenges throughout the migration cycle, especially in terms of reintegration which is considered the weakest phase.

The mass and unplanned return of millions of OF/OFWs due to the pandemic has also put a spotlight on the gaps and weaknesses in the reintegration programme, preparedness and strategy of the country. Agencies providing reintegration programmes are faced with enormous pressure to assist OFWS find jobs or livelihood in the Philippines; majority of OFW returnees expressed their intention to go abroad again to work once pandemic restrictions are lifted, saying there is lack of opportunities, capital, or support to sustain their reintegration.

Migrant workers in ASEAN member states have diverse needs of returning migrants requires gender-responsive and comprehensive services focusing on economic, social, and psychosocial needs-- programmes that address those seeking assistance with unemployment, lack of savings, business development, job-matching, or issues with psychosocial trauma or difficulty reintegrating into their communities\(^1\).

The willingness and preparedness of OFW to return is an important factor in facilitating effective reintegration. QC initiated collaboration with corridors for mentoring sessions with OFW abroad to help facilitate reintegration preparedness, including reintegration options and access to services, especially those provided at the local level. QC MRC intends to sustain this initiative and scale it up to link OFWs in destination countries with local migration organizations and networks with focus on reintegration. Circling back in the locality, there should also be a parallel effort in raising the awareness of OFWs returnees, OFW groups and communities on labour migration. This is because many returnees would need guidance as to the options for reintegration and, if migration or re-migration is the intention, they should be given proper information concerning recruitment.

QC MRC has established linkages or networks in certain migration corridors/countries of destination (COD), but it would be of greater advantage if this could be scaled up to reach more OFWs in countries where they are most concentrated and if materials would be developed to ensure consistency and quality of sessions. This practice of having cross-border linkages can be strengthened by supporting QC in establishing partnership between government agencies in CODs (e.g., POLO, DFA) and the service providers in Quezon City, including MRC, OFW groups and CSOs.

A consultant will be engaged to help the MRC establish collaboration with the Migrant Worker Offices (MWO; formerly called POLOs) of the DMW, and/or DFA. Priority output between this collaboration is to co-organize the conduct of cross-border exchange/orientation online for OFW groups in QC and the OFW groups, supporting CSOs, trade unions and/or service providers in pilot corridors about OFW reintegration, organizing, networking, joint advocacy (on rights protection, ending-VAW, anti-trafficking/illegal recruitment, etc). Target corridors are Southeast Asia, East Asia and the GCC countries (e.g., MYS, SG, HK/Macau, Taiwan, SK, UAE, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, etc.).

II. Objective

The overall objective of assignment is the capacity enhancement of reintegration service providers among CSOs, OFCs, migrant cooperatives, migrant groups in QC and in the selected CODs on improving/delivering reintegration services, building OFW cooperatives and livelihoods, mentoring returnees/families on reintegration pathways and services. This will help strengthen cross-border linkages and collaboration between QC MRC and reintegration services providers in pilot corridors to facilitate reintegration preparedness of OFWs.

Specifically, the Consultant will work with the Quezon City MRC and the ILO to:
