

LIST OF NEW ACCESSIONS

ILO Manila Office Catalogue of New Publications, January 2014

International Labour
Organization

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT PROGRAMMES

Towards the right to work: a guidebook for designing innovative public employment programmes. Guidance note 1: analyzing unemployment and underemployment

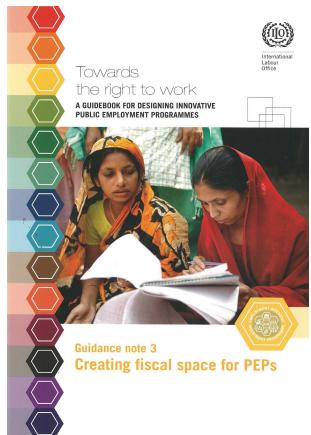

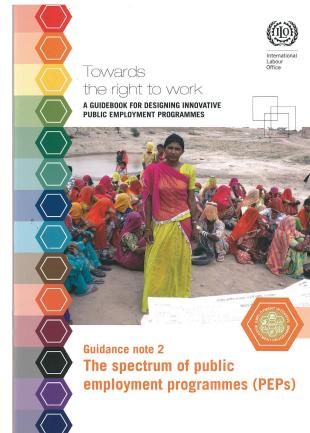

The objective of this note is to provide policy-makers and practitioners with tools to better assess and understand the nature and complexity of the working age population, and unemployment in their countries.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 2: the spectrum of public employment programmes (PEPs)

This note is to provide policy-makers and practitioners with an overview of various types of PPEs, covering the spectrum from public work programmes to employment guarantee schemes (EGSs) and their characteristics.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

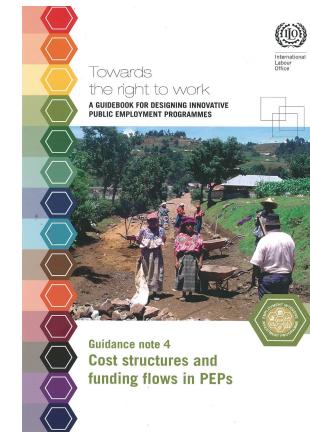

Guidance note 3: creating fiscal space for PEPs

This note is to better understand how the correct of 'fiscal space' is used, how it can be created, and how it impacts on the scope of PEPs.

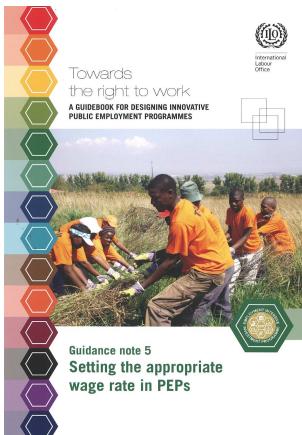

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 4: cost structures and funding flows in PEPs

This note is to clarify the issues on which a PEP depends, because before you can cost a programme, there are complex set of policy and design choices to be made.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 5: setting the appropriate wage rate in PEPs

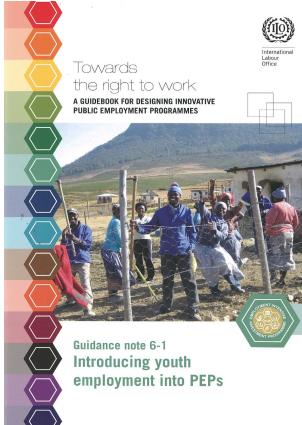

This note is to look at the different approaches and theories that can be used for setting wage rates and to help gain an understanding of the advantages and disadvantages of the various approaches and trade-offs involved in setting wages in PEPs.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 6-1: introducing youth employment into PEPs

This note is to assist policy-makers and practitioners to create decent jobs for young people, both through targeted approaches and by integrating youth employment dimensions into PEPs.

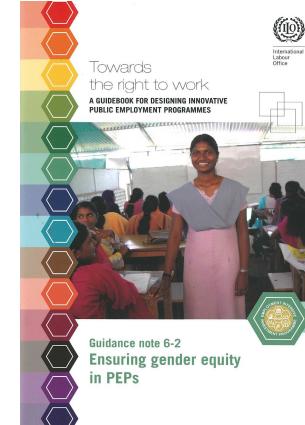

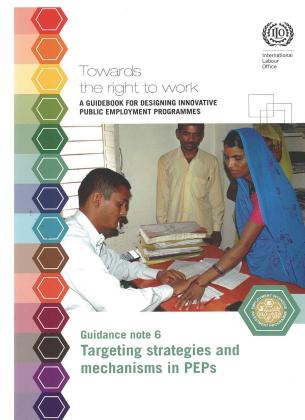

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 6: targeting strategies and mechanisms in PEPs

This note is to provide an overview of different targeting mechanisms and strategies commonly used in PEPs as well as expose them to some of the criticisms and challenges of these mechanisms.

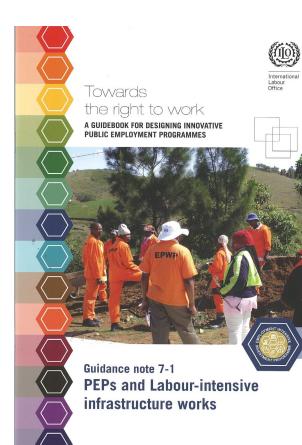

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 7-1: PEPs and labour- intensive infrastructure works

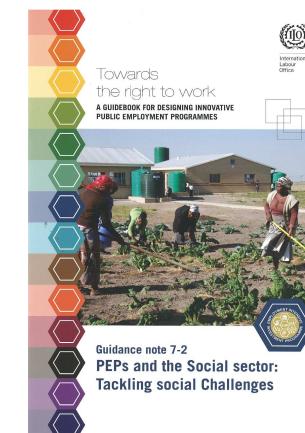

This note is to give policy-makers and practitioners an overview of the most common approaches and issues related to the implementation of PEP infrastructure and construction activities.

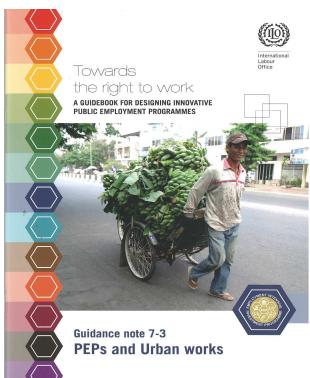

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 7-2: PEPs and the social sector: tackling social challenges

This module is to expose policy-makers and practitioners to the opportunities to include work in the social sector within the spectrum of work.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 7-3: PEPs and urban works

This note is to assist policy-makers and practitioners design and implement PEPs in urban areas, and address policy choices, complementarities and trade-offs between the goals of job creation, urban development and infrastructure development.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 8: social partners and social processes in PEPs

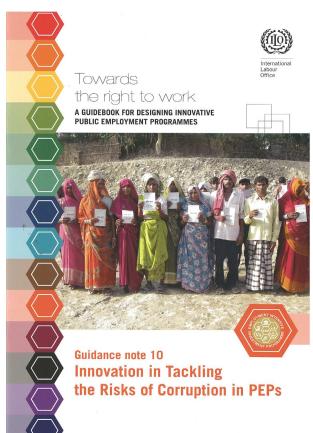

This note is to explore the political economy of PEPs and EGS; how social processes influence the policy scope for PEP/EGS; the different ways in which communities and beneficiaries can participate in the design and implementation of PEP/EGS; and the strengths and risks of such processes.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 10: innovation in tackling the risks of corruption in PEPs

This note is to look at the challenges PEPs face in tackling the risks of corruption and highlight innovative ways in which programmes are doing.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

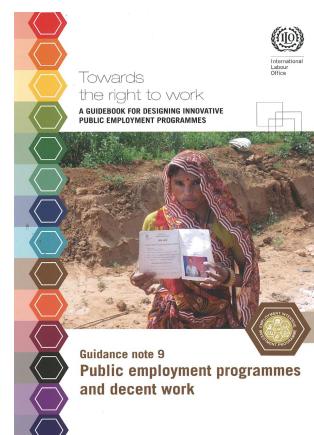

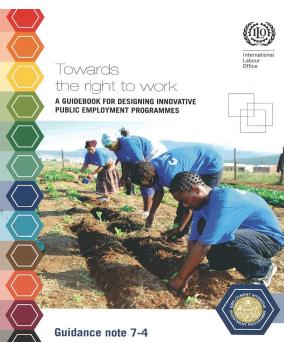

Guidance note 7-4: PEPs and green jobs through green works

This note is to expose policy-makers and practitioners to possible opportunities for PEPs to create green jobs which comprise work in activities that improve natural resources productivity and are linked to climate change adaptation, environmental conservation and rehabilitation.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 9: public employment programmes and decent work

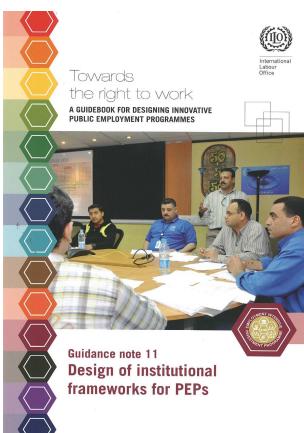

This note is to better understand decent work as promoted by the ILO, and how PEPs covering the spectrum of public work programmes (PWPs) and EGS can support but possibly also undermine decent work.

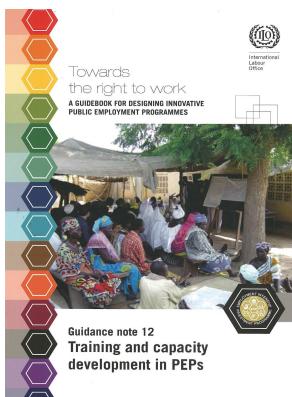

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 11: design of institutional frameworks for PEPs

The note is to outline the different functions associated with PEP so that participants are able to assess how these functions can best be fulfilled in their own context and institutional structures.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

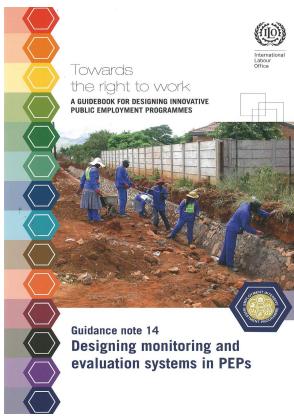

Guidance note 12: training and capacity development in PEPs

This note is to expose participants to the training activities most commonly incorporated into PEPs in particular the types of training provided to people with different responsibilities within PEPs.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

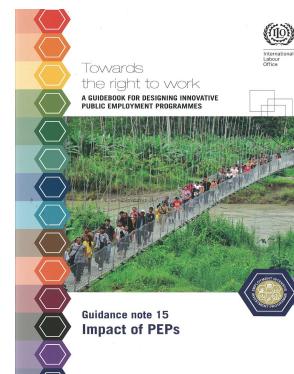

Guidance note 14: designing monitoring and evaluation systems in PEPs

This note is to enable participants to understand the inter-relationship between monitoring, programme evaluation and impact evaluation, as different steps within an overall monitoring and evaluation framework, and to highlight key considerations in the design of PEP.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 15: impact of PEPs

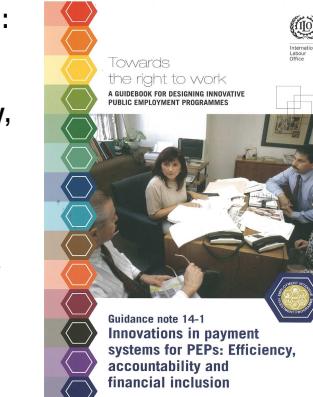

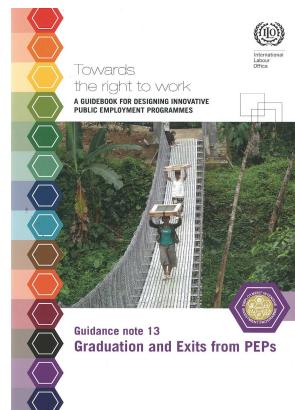

This note is to provide policy-makers and practitioners with an overview of the various key issues related to the potential impacts of PEP and to understand the nature and complexity of conducting a comprehensive impact assessment.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 13: graduation and exits from PEPs

This note is to give policy-makers and practitioners an overview of various approaches to exiting and graduating from PEP and to address some of the key issues that one needs to keep in mind in designing a programme with a proper strategy.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

Guidance note 14-1: innovations in payment systems for PEPs: efficiency, accountability and financial inclusion

The design of payments systems is not simply a "technical issue." There are also social and economic dimension that need to be considered. Without a clear focus on transparency and social accountability mechanisms to ensure that work done is appropriately paid for and that corruption and leakages are minimized, the new systems can also be exploited.

Publisher: ILO-Geneva

For further information, visit:
www.ilo.org/manila

Information on Labordoc is available at:
<http://www.ilo.org/public/english/support/lib/labordoc/index.htm>