Global Wage Report 2018/19
What lies behind gender pay gaps

Global wage report 2018/19. What lies behind gender pay gaps

This report examines the evolution of real wages around the world, giving a unique picture of wage trends globally and by region. The 2018/19 edition analyses the gender pay gap. The report focuses on two main challenges: how to find the most useful means for measurement, and how to break down the gender pay gap in ways that best inform policy-makers and social partners of the factors that underlie it.

Decent work in Portugal 2008–18: From crisis to recovery

The report highlights three distinctive features that helped Portugal through a tough adjustment process, and towards swift economic and labour market recovery. The Portuguese experience does not support the conventional notion that adjustment can be accelerated and international competitiveness rapidly regained simply by means of reducing labour costs and making the labour market more flexible.

Skills and the future of work: Strategies for inclusive growth in Asia and the Pacific

The skills that workers and enterprises require depend on the evolving nature of work and jobs. While the exact impact of technology and other megatrends continue to be debated, envisioning the future of work has spurred debate on what skills are needed in the future, how those skills should be acquired and how training providers need to adjust.

Asia-Pacific employ- ment and social outlook: Advancing decent work for sustainable development

The region's future prospects will require that economic growth go hand in hand with a further expansion of decent work. The commitment of countries to the 2030 Agenda offers an important opportunity to refocus attention on decent work as an accelerator of inclusive growth, but a significant amount of work remains to translate commitments to positive achievements towards SDG 8.
