

MARCH 6-8, 2014

DOHA EVIDENCE SYMPOSIUM

“WHAT WORKS” TO IMPROVE YOUTH LABOUR PRODUCTIVITY?

Ground-breaking evidence on how to make labour market programs successful for youth will be presented by the International Labour Organization, the World Bank, Innovations for Poverty Action, Yale, Georgetown, and others.

Findings from New Research on Youth Employment

Findings and recommendations from recently completed impact evaluations and other rigorous research on youth employment, entrepreneurship and productivity will be presented.

The Importance of Impact Evaluation

An overview will be given of impact evaluation and its importance for policymaking and program design, as well as basic training on impact evaluation methods and techniques.

Partnerships Between Research, Practice and Policy

The conference will catalyse new partnerships amongst donors, implementers, and researchers with the goal of advancing our knowledge of what works in promoting employment and entrepreneurship.

HOSTED BY:

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY
School of Foreign Service in Qatar

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH:

ABDUL LATIF JAMEEL
Poverty Action Lab

TRANSLATING RESEARCH INTO ACTION

Keynote speech: Dean Karlan, Founder of Innovations for Poverty Action