Financial Education Training Materials

What are the Financial Education Training Materials?
A series of training materials designed to teach vulnerable groups – including women and men in poverty, families with working children, youth and migrant workers – financial knowledge and management skills

The series is composed of:
- Financial education: Trainer’s manual, Cambodia
- Budget Smart - Financial education for migrant workers and their families: Training manual and Smart guide, Cambodia and Indonesia
- Financial education for youth: Trainers’ manual and Trainee’s guide, Nepal
- Building financial capability for the vulnerable households: A manual for individual training / counselling session, Moldova

For whom?
- Direct beneficiaries: Trainers from partner-agencies; development organizations that reach out to women and men in poverty, youth, migrant workers (including prospective and returning migrants); governments, employers’ and workers’ organizations; microfinance institutions and banks; business development service providers; and recruitment agencies
- Ultimate beneficiaries: Low income women and men, youth, migrant workers and their families

For what purpose?
- Equip targeted groups with knowledge and management skills in finance to help them make informed financial decisions, both in their household or in their business
- Strengthen targeted groups’ behaviours that can lead to better budget planning, increased savings, more thoughtful spending and borrowing
- Achieve sustainable behaviour change: these training materials are based on a learner-centred approach and are specially designed to consider that the target groups need to equip themselves with knowledge, skills and change of attitudes to address, for instance, gender imbalances

How is it delivered?
- Training using a participatory approach, through techniques such as role plays, case studies, brainstorming, and small group discussions
- Training curricula can be delivered through individual sessions or in classroom training
- The Financial education: Trainer’s manual, for example, can be delivered in 3 days. Partner-agencies can adapt the training programme to the needs and availability of their target groups
