Do you know that…

• Recommendation No. 200 is the first international labour standard for the protection of human rights at work for persons living with and/or affected by HIV.

• The Political Declaration on HIV/AIDS (2011) adopted by the United Nations General Assembly Special Session (UNGASS) refers to ILO conventions and recommendation, including R200 and recognizes the important role of the world of work in the global response.

• R200 provides that real or perceived HIV status should not be a ground for discrimination preventing the recruitment, continued employment, the pursuit of equal opportunities, nor should it be a ground for termination of employment.

• R200 also provides that workers, including migrant workers, jobseekers and job applicants, should not be required to undertake an HIV test or disclose their HIV status.
