Social protection responses to the COVID-19 crisis around the world

6 April 2020

This note summarizes the results of the Social Protection Monitor that tracks announcements of social protection measures responding to the possible impacts of the COVID-19 crisis.

We will update this note as new data and information become available in this rapidly evolving situation.

Disclaimer: Owing to the exceptional circumstances generated by this global health pandemic, there has been intense activity in terms of the breadth of national responses and therefore not all information contained in this document could be fully confirmed with reference to official legislation or legal bulletins, nor all measures reflected.

Consult our website for regular updates from the world of work response to the COVID-19 crisis.

The ILO Social Protection Monitor <sup>1</sup>

Between 1 February and 3 April 2020 <sup>2</sup>, 82 countries and territories announced at least 194 social protection measures in response to the COVID-19 crisis. The overall response rate in the world is 38.3% (of out 214 countries and territories). <sup>3</sup>

The Americas is the region with the highest number of responses when measured as a share of the region's countries; 46.7% of the region's countries have introduced measures, followed by Europe and Central Asia (43%), Africa (37%), Asia and the Pacific (31.1%) and Arab States (16.7%).

China announced its first set of social protection responses on 12 February and the number of countries and territories that announced responses quickly jumped from 12 in February, to 174 in March, and to 194 as of 3 April.

<sup>1</sup> ILO's Social Protection Monitor is based on a systematic analysis of media/news published online. The Monitor tracks announcements of social protection measures, defined as any policy decision that affects the functioning of a social protection system, from minor parametric adjustments to major developments and reforms, as well as social subsidies. While the Monitor provides the most comprehensive list of announced social protection measures and a snapshot of current global trends, it does not replace the thorough analysis provided by the ILO's Social Security Inquiry and the World Social Protection Report.

<sup>3</sup> This brief provides a systematic classification of social protection-related policy responses to the emerging COVID-19 pandemic. It is part of a series of ILO briefs on social protection in crisis response which can be found on the ILO's Social Protection Platform COVID-19 Crisis page, including: ILO, Social Protection Responses to the Covid-19 Crisis: Country Responses and Policy Considerations, forthcoming; and ILO, Social Protection Responses to the Covid-19 Crisis: Country Responses in Asia and the Pacific, 2020.

Most measures provide social spending adjustments (32%) by allocating additional funding or the introduction of new programmes or benefits (25%). The remaining measures involve changing the configuration of existing programmes (24%), improvements in administration (6%) or the introduction of subsidies (6%) or tax reforms (4%).

In the context of the COVID-19 crisis, the measures announced cover all functions of social protection. Around one fifth (19.6%) of the responses in the period are related to health, closely followed by measures relating to unemployment protection (14.9%), special social assistance/transfers (13.9%) and labour market adjustments (13.4%). Measures addressing several social protection functions have been also widely adopted (10.3%), as well as family and children benefits (7.2%), adjustments to pensions (6.7%). These are followed by sickness benefits (4.6%), food allocation (4.6%), housing and basic services subsidies (3.6%) and maternity or parental benefits (1%)

Overall, a total of 62 measures aim to either increase benefit levels extend the coverage to new beneficiaries, while 19 measures increased credit or the budgetary allocation in favour of a specific social protection intervention. Other measures included the introduction of new programmes or benefits (19), deferring, reducing or waiving social contributions (10), relaxing the eligibility criteria for receiving benefits (10), the introduction of specific benefits for poor or vulnerable population groups (9) or measures facilitating improved access to services or the management of a scheme (9). A small share of measures has been focusing on introducing or increasing subsidy on benefits (6) and providing tax relief to workers and/or businesses (2).
