1. Introduction: general information about the context in which the official will work / background on the project:

The project is funded by the U.S. The Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM) and links to CPO TUR 159 (Policies and programmes implemented by constituents aimed at protecting migrant workers’ rights and promoting decent employment for the Syrian refugees and migrant workers -Outcome 9).

The project aims to enhance decent work opportunities for both refugees and host communities. The project is based on three integrated pillars, further reinforced by cross-cutting actions, to facilitate the early entry of Syrian refugees and Turkish workers from host communities into the labour market at the local level and to help them develop, strengthen and upgrade their skills and competences as required. Among the key components will be vocational training based on local labour market needs, vocational guidance and counselling services linked to public employment services to facilitate post-training job placements. In addition, the project will support both communities where relevant through entrepreneurship training and business services development, supporting active labour market policies and leveraging opportunities identified by regional development agencies, private sector actors and value chain analysis methodology.

The main objectives of the project are to:

- Increase the availability of a skilled, competent and productive labour supply to facilitate access to decent work for Syrian refugees and Turkish host communities.
- Support an enabling environment for business development and economic growth in identified sectors and geographic locations to address job creation and stimulate entrepreneurship opportunities for Syrian refugees and Turkish host communities.
