

Technical Note

concerning

Draft Law on Law on Amendments to Certain Legislative Acts of Ukraine Concerning Strengthening the Protection of Employees' Rights.
Registered in the Parliament of Ukraine on 18.03.2021 under No. 5266.

Background and disclaimer

The comments therein have been prepared with a view to supporting the process of social dialogue on labour law reform in Ukraine. They represent technical expert opinions only and are provided without prejudice to any official comments that may be made by the Office on the final draft or by the ILO bodies responsible for supervising compliance of Ukrainian labour legislation with international labour standards. The present Technical Note does not constitute an endorsement by the International Labour Office of the opinions expressed therein.

ILO technical support in the drafting process of labour legislation seeks to increase the involvement of its primary beneficiaries – employers and workers – throughout the process of labour law reform. This reflects the core ILO principles of social dialogue and tripartism. It also expresses the letter and spirit of the ILO Tripartite Consultation (International Labour Standards) Convention, 1976 (No. 144), ratified by Ukraine. Paragraph 5(c) of the Tripartite Consultation (Activities of the International Labour Organisation) Recommendation, 1976 (No. 152) also emphasises the importance of consultations in relation to ‘the preparation and implementation of legislative or other measures to give effect to international labour Conventions and Recommendations’.

In addition, some of the comments below are made in light of non-ratified ILO standards, as well as Recommendations. These particular comments are provided on the understanding that, in the present context, such standards are referred to not as binding instruments, but as a useful point of reference. ILO standards are adopted by a qualified majority of delegates attending the International Labour Conference; hence their content represents internationally accepted good practice, recommended by the ILO.

The current technical support is being provided in the framework of the technical cooperation project “Rights at Work: Improving Ukraine’s Compliance with Key International Labour Standards” funded by the Canadian government and implemented by the ILO.

Summary conclusions and recommendations

1. We understand that the purpose of the draft is the alignment of various provisions concerning labour rights, which are currently included in several laws, such as the Labour Code, the Law on Collective Agreements, the Commercial Code.
2. It is recommended to consolidate provisions regulating the same subject matter in a single piece of legislation so as to avoid over-regulation and legislative duplication.
3. Introducing the possibility for a physical person, who hires labour to conclude a collective agreement appears as a positive legislative development.
4. There is a need to provide further legal clarification regarding the material and personal scope of a collective agreement, which may be concluded at the level of a structural unit of an enterprise and its correlation with the collective agreement concluded at the level of the concerned enterprise.
5. It is recommended to amend the concerned provisions so that to allow trade union(s) to represent the interests of all workers working for an employer, irrespective of their contractual arrangements. According to ILO Freedom of Association and the Right to Organize Convention, 1948 (No.87), all workers with no distinction whatsoever shall be able to constitute and /to adhere to trade unions in order to defend their economic, social and professional interests.

Specific technical comments are provided in the Table below.

In turn, it would also be appropriate for the developers to specify in the draft Law the specifics of concluding a collective agreement in such units, as well as its correlation with the collective agreement of the legal entity. 4. The proposed edition of the Article 12 of LC, dedicated to the employees side, contains a quite complicated legal structure.
